GE Tries To Upset Contract
Opposes Britain Building Turbine

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The General Electric Co. is seeking formally to overthrow the recent awarding of a steam turbine contract to a British firm by the Tennessee Valley Authority.

GE asked the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization (OCDM) Tuesday to block TVA's $12,095,000 contract with C. A. Parsons & Co. Ltd. of Newcastle, Eng. This was nearly 5½ million dollars less than GE's offer.

Meanwhile, Massachusetts, Texas and Switzerland became involved in the controversy over foreign firms underbidding American companies.

Rep. Thomas J. Lane (D-Mass) criticized the Texas rural electrical cooperative's award of a generator construction contract to a Swiss firm.

Concerned About Industry

He told the House the practice "could lead to a chain reaction that would disorganize our industrial economy," and called on Congress to tighten laws governing the expenditure of government funds overseas.

GE petitioned OCDM to "determine the detrimental effects on the national security" of turbine-generator imports.

W. S. Ginn, vice president and general manager of GE's turbine division, urged the OCDM to advise all federal agencies to refrain from purchasing power generating equipment from foreign manufacturers.

Points to Maintenance

"The import of this single unit will not have any appreciable effect upon the restoration of domestic production capacity in an emergency," GE said.

"If extensive imports are permitted, thereby reducing the overall demand, no domestic manufacturer could afford to maintain such facilities. . . Then, in the (Continued on Page 8, Col. 5)

More Flood Control Study Is Asked on Rosendale Project

Consensus of feeling at a public hearing Tuesday evening on a proposed flood control plan for the village of Rosendale was that it should be given further study and a representative of the Corps of Army Engineers invited to explain the project more fully.

Some 150 residents packed the village firehouse to hear an explanation of the proposed plan by local officials.

Might Cost Million

It is believed that cost of the plan, which would entail relocation of 10 houses, and construction of a levee and flood wall, might approach $1,000,000. The federal government would pick up the check for an estimated $841,000. The remainder (purchase of property, easements, rights of way) would be underwritten by New York State.

Mrs. Catherine O'Leary, mayor of the village, and Supervisor George Mollenhauer of the town of Rosendale, presided.

Herbert Kimker, president of the Flood Control Committee, read a description of the proposed plan, with Mollenhauer following the description by use of a chart.

Ask Alternate Plan

Some of those attending the meeting asked if an alternate plan might be possible, which would obviate the necessity of relocating homes.

Mollenhauer said he would write to the Corps of Engineers asking if a representative might be sent to speak at a public meeting.

Mayor O'Leary said today that residents would be advised of further developments.

Items in Program

Plans call for the construction of a levee and flood wall 4,000 feet on the left bank from the upstream bridge to a point about 600 feet below the Route 32 bridge and flood wall and levee on the right bank extending from 1,350 feet below the bridge, stop-log structures, ponding areas and interior drainage work, relocation of Main and James Streets, raising of Route 32 bridge and filling of the low area below the bridge are included in the plan.

Raps Reds' Illogical Attitude
Claims View Dims Promise for Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the Soviet Union's attitude regarding Berlin is so illogical it offers little promise for establishment of a just peace.

With much emphasis, Eisenhower told a news conference the United States will not give one single inch in its determination to preserve the rights and responsibilities of the Western Allies with respect to Berlin.

No Prior Notice

The President expressed his views in commenting on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's cold attitude toward the proposal by the Western powers for a foreign ministers conference on Germany.

A reporter asked Eisenhower for his views on what the newsman termed the Soviet Premier's informal rejection of the Western proposal. The reporter noted it came without prior notice to British Prime Minister Macmillan at the very time Macmillan was in Moscow for discussion of such matters.

Eisenhower called Khrushchev's attitude obviously and palpably intransigent, or unyielding.

The President went on to say the Kremlin leader's position has been well known all along, but that he now seems to be emphasizing it.

No Hopeful Sign

As for Khrushchev's blast at the West's proposal for a conference on the Berlin problem, Eisenhower described it as a development which certainly cannot be called a hopeful one.

Then he went on to say that the Soviet Premier's attitude is so illogical that it doesn't promise much for establishment of a just peace.

The President dealt with these other topics:

DULLES — If cancer-stricken John Foster Dulles ever should decide on his own that he is physically unable to continue as secretary of state, then it wouldn't be possible for even the President to keep him in the job.

A time for decision as to whether Dulles will be able to carry on will come when the radiation therapy he now is undergoing is concluded. The President made no estimate as to when that will be.

LOPEZ MATEOS — Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos has accepted Eisenhower's invitation to visit the United States in the spring. Eisenhower was Lopez Mateos' guest for two days of informal talks last week at Acapulco, Mexico.

Showdown Due Next Week

Rocky's Budget Faces Slash of $25 Million

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Republican legislative leaders pressed ahead with budget-cutting plans today following a private assurance that Rockefeller would not fight a reasonable reduction.

Speaker Oswald D. Heck was due back from a Boston Hospital to prepare for next week's showdown with a restive, economy-minded bloc of Republicans in the Assembly.

Conference Work Ahead

Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney and acting Speaker Joseph F. Carlino said the budget problem would be thrashed out in GOP conferences next Monday or Tuesday.

A cut of at least 25 million dollars appeared to be in prospect.

At a private luncheon Tuesday, Mahoney and Carlino told Rockefeller they would have to trim his $2,041,000,000 budget to ease his proposed 150-million-dollar boost in income taxes.

They told him it was the only way they could get the record tax and spending program through the Legislature. Even so, they said, some Republicans would demand wholesale reductions.

Democrats are solidly opposed to the Rockefeller plan.

The Republican governor told the leaders he still regarded his program as the best one. But he acknowledged the Legislature's right to curtail it.

Won't Dispute Issue

It was learned Rockefeller also said that, while he disapproved of any cuts, he would not dispute the issue if the bulk of his program were preserved.

Carlino, Mahoney and Rockefeller agreed to meet later this week to discuss likely reductions. Carlino said they would not insist on any cut Rockefeller might regard as totally repugnant.

Mahoney later told reporters the fiscal committees were still reviewing the budget and were expected to make their final recommendations sometime during the weekend.

May Ease Tax Picture

He conceded some changes in the tax plan were under discussion. But he would not say what changes.

It is known, however, that GOP leaders have been considering two ways of easing the income tax boost. One plan would double the $10 credit Rockefeller has proposed for married couples who file joint returns. The other would raise the uniform personal exemption from $600 to $800.

Mahoney and Carlino said they now intended to bring the budget to a floor vote the second week in March, instead of the first week. Mahoney explained there would not be enough time next week—after the conferences—to revise and re-print the massive budget bill.

Some Ask 80 Million Cut

Despite the delay, the Senate leader still expressed confidence that the 1959 session could be completed before the Easter holidays.

Mahoney and Carlino both predicted the GOP majorities would rally to the budget recommended by the fiscal committees.

Some Republicans have demanded reductions of 80 million or more, however.

Heck planned to leave Deaconess Hospital in Boston and move into hotel headquarters in Albany. He has been absent since Feb. 9, when he entered the hospital for foot surgery.

It was understood that Heck's chief task would be to convince balking Republican assemblymen that they should settle for a moderate cut in the budget.

Eight GOP assemblymen have revolted openly against the Rockefeller budget. Others, peppered by angry letters from their constituents, have been grumbling privately.

Republican leaders will have to muster 76 of their 92 votes in the Assembly to pass any budget.

6 New Chevrolet Trucks to Start Service Thursday

Six new trucks of dump-type bodies bought for the public works department are due to go in service Thursday morning, Mayor Edwin F. Radel said today.

The mayor, members of the Board of Public Works and Charles J. Cole, public works superintendent, received the keys at the public works garage this afternoon from J. H. Byrne of the J. H. Byrne Chevrolet Corp.

The trucks are 1959 model Workmaster V-8 Chevrolets, with five-cubic-yard body capacity. The latter are made by the Anthony Body Co., and are distributed locally by Tomlinson's Body & Welding Shop, Hurley Avenue.

Bought on a low bid of $31,818.42 received several months ago, the trucks have 230 horsepower motors with 348 cubic-inch piston displacement, and have a gross vehicle weight of 22,000 pounds. They are equipped by Hydro-Vac braking systems by Bendix.

The trucks will replace units which have been in service 11 or more years. They will do general department work, including the plowing of snow, and units for that have been installed on three of them.

Up to Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that John Foster Dulles himself will decide—following intensive cancer treatment over a period of weeks — whether he is physically able to carry on as secretary of state.

Dulles became 71 years old today. He is undergoing radiation treatment for abdominal glandular cancer at Walter Reed Hospital.

Meany Staying on Job
Won't Quit AFL-CIO Post When 65

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—George Meany has informed fellow AFL-CIO chiefs, it was learned today, that although he will soon become 65 he has no intention of retiring as federation president.

Meany let this drop at Tuesday's closing session of the AFL-CIO Executive Council's winter meeting. Meany will become 65 next August just before the federation's scheduled San Francisco convention in September when officers come up for election.

It is permissable but not mandatory for top AFL-CIO officers to retire at 65.

Reuther Emerges Stronger

The biggest story of the council session came on closing day with the disclosure that Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers Union, prevailed to a major extent in a hot internal AFL-CIO fight over federation policies.

"The feud established on a stronger basis than ever that Reuther, who was head of the old CIO before it was merged with the AFL, is clearly No. 2 man to Meany in the 14,000,000-member federation.

The fight started when council sessions got under way last week. Meany blew up in remarks to Reuther and James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers.

The AFL-CIO president tried to banish Carey to the end of the council meeting table and bawled out Reuther for making economic policy decisions without consulting him.

Threatened to Quit

Can Use Surplus on Ferry

Bill Backs Proposal Here on Firms Talking

Among recent bills introduced at Albany was one requiring waivers of immunity in testimony of firms and personnel doing business with a government agency in probes and trials pertinent to reported irregularities.

The measure, in essence, backs a proposal made recently by the special Ulster County grand jury investigating alleged kickbacks involving public officials.

Signs for Ferry Money

Another bill would put New York State in the drive to make peacetime use of atomic energy, and a measure signed by Gov. Rockefeller pertained to operation by the Newburgh-Beacon ferry, but action on three bills necessary before start of a new bridge at Newburgh is still pending.

The Albany "waiver" bill was by Sen. John H. Cooke (R) Erie County. It provides that a contractor, who provided goods or services to a government agency would have to waive immunity from prosecution, if called to testify about contract.

BPW Asks Names

Boycotting of firms, who do not comply, has been proposed and Kingston's Board of Public Works recently asked Special Investigator Bernard Tompkins, head of a local probe, to supply a list of the names of firms which did not cooperate in the investigation.

Sen. Cooke's bill was prompted by a resolution passed recently by the Erie County Board of Supervisors as a result of a recommendation introduced here on Jan. 29 by the Ulster County Special Grand Jury.

Endorsed by Assn.

The immunity provision was recommended by the kickbacks grand jury in a report here to Supreme Court Justice Henry Clay Greenberg, and subsequently endorsed by the Ulster County Grand Jurors Association.

It was learned that Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller supports the proposal and is expected to propose the immunity provision as a part of his statewide program to combat crime, which he will present to this session of the Legislature.

Sen. Cooke's bill would bar a firm or individual that had refused to waive immunity when questioned by a grand jury about transactions with the state or any subdivision from doing business with it for five years. A paving scandal is under investigation in Erie County.

Sen. Ernest I. Hatfield (R) Poughkeepsie, sponsor of the signed Newburgh ferry law, said it permits the New York State Bridge Authority to use reserve funds to help cover a deficit in operation of the ferry service. Deficits have been covered with funds from a $500,000 advance the state gave the authority to buy and operate the ferry service.

Advance funds have been used, he said, and the authority needed formal approval to use its reserve sums.

Three Measures Pending

Of three pending measures pertinent to start of the Newburgh-Beacon span, one would permit the authority to enter into an agreement with the state public works department for preparing, plans, specifications and estimates for the bridge. It was introduced by Sen. E. Ogden Bush, Delaware County, and Assemblyman Kenneth E. Wilson, Woodstock.

Italy Boys Town Priest to Visit Here on Weekend

The Rev. Giuseppi Nenna, of Trinitopoli, Italy, now in the United States to raise funds for a proposed new Boys Town in that Italian city, will visit Kingston this weekend, it was learned today.

Mrs. Joseph DiPeri, of 314 Lucas Avenue, and Mrs. Maria Terranova of Brooklyn are chairwomen for the fund drive. Father Nenna will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. DiPeri on Saturday from 1 to 3 p. m.

Others in this area assisting the priest in his fund campaign are Mrs. Mary Costello, Mrs. Carlo Castiglione, Mrs. Julia VanValkenburg and Frank Carpino.

Father Nenna, now staying in this country at Mt. Carmel Church, the Bronx where he will remain until March 4, said he left Italy without any definite plans for raising funds in this country, but with the knowledge "American people are understanding and generous when it comes to something worthwhile."

He said many friends already have offered him assistance in his project—to construct a "home" for many boys "now living in alleys, and ruins, eating from waste cans, stealing to survive and subject to all sorts of crime and vice."

Racial Unrest Is New Problem for Britain in Africa

BLANTYRE, Nyasaland (AP)—Britain is facing up to a new nationalist threat in Africa—mounting racial unrest in black Nyasaland.

With angry native demonstrations continuing since last Friday, Royal Air Force planes sprayed rock-throwing crowds with tear gas in Lilongwe Tuesday. Members of the King's African Rifles fired on the rioters in the market place and two casualties were reported.

Meeting Ban Is Starter

A spokesman for the British colonial government said the demonstrators were scattered by late afternoon, but sporadic shooting continued. The crowd turned ugly after officials prohibited the holding of a nationalist meeting.

It was the first trouble in Lilongwe, capital of Nyasaland's central province. Previous disturbances had been mostly in Blantyre, capital of the southern province.

Mainspring of the unrest is Dr. Hastings Banda, president of the Nyasaland African National party. His organization wants to take the protectorate of Nyasaland out of the Central African Federation, a member of the British Commonwealth which also includes self-governing Southern Rhodesia and (Continued on Page 8, Col. 6)

Clean Up Messy Politics, Cleric Advises Churchmen

An Oklahoma City minister drew prolonged applause Tuesday evening at the 34th annual Washington Day Dinner of the Old Dutch Church when he exhorted churchmen to get into politics and clean it up.

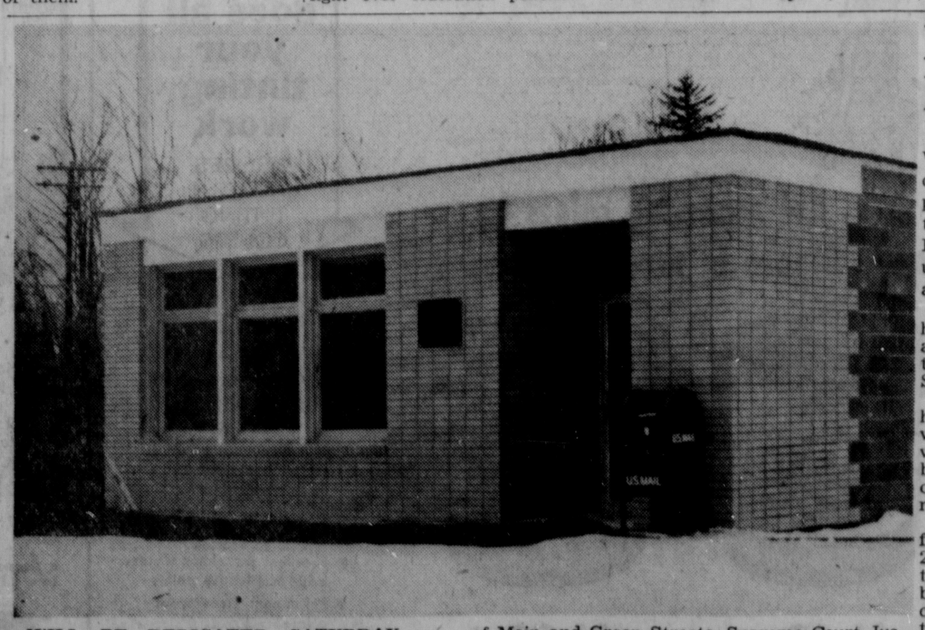

Dr. William H. Alexander, pastor of the First Christian Church, rated one of the nation's top speakers, told some 350 members of the Men's Club and their guests that we will never have a country fit to live in as long as we sit off at a distance and ridicule politics as "dirty" and refuse to pitch in as churchmen to make God's will felt.

He urged members of the church to get down on their hands and knees with wash pails and scrubbing brushes to clean up messy political situations wherever they are found.

Dr. Alexander, a large, leonine figure with red hair and a gustful personality, said the Christian church is the "hope of the world" and that the hope of the church was "strong men."

He told an appreciative audience that he is worried about the church in America today, that it should be a beacon light but that so many people were turning to other areas of stimulation in their quest for fulfillment-to science, for instance. He assured his listeners that the answer does not lie there-but only in the Christian philosophy.

Each of us has the "power to become," the topic of Dr. Alexanders' address, he told his audience. He said that each individual is either a part of the (Continued on Page 8, Col. 4)

4 Towns Denied Rehearing About Rail Agency Cuts

ALBANY—The Public Service Commission today denied the petition of the towns of New Paltz, Montgomery, Shawangunk and Gardiner, in Ulster and Orange counties, for a rehearing of its December 1, 1958 decision which permitted New York Central Railroad to discontinue agency service at its five Wallkill Valley Branch stations.

By that order, the railroad was authorized to provide pickup-and-delivery service for less-than-carload freight at New Paltz, Rosendale, Wallkill and Gardiner, continuing such service at Walden, and to replace existing local agents with a traveling agent working out of the Kingston station.

The railroad was required also to continue carload freight service at each of the five communities but under jurisdiction of its Kingston agent.

The petition under consideration today challenged, among other things, the right of the Public Service Commission to permit railroads to reduce service at local stations.

In denying the request for a rehearing, the Commission ruled that "sufficient reason for granting a rehearing has not been made to appear."

The fight started when council sessions got under way last week. Meany blew up in remarks to Reuther and James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers.

The AFL-CIO president tried to banish Carey to the end of the council meeting table and bawled out Reuther for making economic policy decisions without consulting him.

Threatened to Quit

Can Use Surplus on Ferry

Bill Backs Proposal Here on Firms Talking

Among recent bills introduced at Albany was one requiring waivers of immunity in testimony of firms and personnel doing business with a government agency in probes and trials pertinent to reported irregularities.

The measure, in essence, backs a proposal made recently by the special Ulster County grand jury investigating alleged kickbacks involving public officials.

Signs for Ferry Money

Another bill would put New York State in the drive to make peacetime use of atomic energy, and a measure signed by Gov. Rockefeller pertained to operation by the Newburgh-Beacon ferry, but action on three bills necessary before start of a new bridge at Newburgh is still pending.

The Albany "waiver" bill was by Sen. John H. Cooke (R) Erie County. It provides that a contractor, who provided goods or services to a government agency would have to waive immunity from prosecution, if called to testify about contract.

BPW Asks Names

Boycotting of firms, who do not comply, has been proposed and Kingston's Board of Public Works recently asked Special Investigator Bernard Tompkins, head of a local probe, to supply a list of the names of firms which did not cooperate in the investigation.

Sen. Cooke's bill was prompted by a resolution passed recently by the Erie County Board of Supervisors as a result of a recommendation introduced here on Jan. 29 by the Ulster County Special Grand Jury.

Endorsed by Assn.

The immunity provision was recommended by the kickbacks grand jury in a report here to Supreme Court Justice Henry Clay Greenberg, and subsequently endorsed by the Ulster County Grand Jurors Association.

It was learned that Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller supports the proposal and is expected to propose the immunity provision as a part of his statewide program to combat crime, which he will present to this session of the Legislature.

Sen. Cooke's bill would bar a firm or individual that had refused to waive immunity when questioned by a grand jury about transactions with the state or any subdivision from doing business with it for five years. A paving scandal is under investigation in Erie County.

Sen. Ernest I. Hatfield (R) Poughkeepsie, sponsor of the signed Newburgh ferry law, said it permits the New York State Bridge Authority to use reserve funds to help cover a deficit in operation of the ferry service. Deficits have been covered with funds from a $500,000 advance the state gave the authority to buy and operate the ferry service.

Advance funds have been used, he said, and the authority needed formal approval to use its reserve sums.

Three Measures Pending

Of three pending measures pertinent to start of the Newburgh-Beacon span, one would permit the authority to enter into an agreement with the state public works department for preparing, plans, specifications and estimates for the bridge. It was introduced by Sen. E. Ogden Bush, Delaware County, and Assemblyman Kenneth E. Wilson, Woodstock.

Italy Boys Town Priest to Visit Here on Weekend

The Rev. Giuseppi Nenna, of Trinitopoli, Italy, now in the United States to raise funds for a proposed new Boys Town in that Italian city, will visit Kingston this weekend, it was learned today.

Mrs. Joseph DiPeri, of 314 Lucas Avenue, and Mrs. Maria Terranova of Brooklyn are chairwomen for the fund drive. Father Nenna will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. DiPeri on Saturday from 1 to 3 p. m.

Others in this area assisting the priest in his fund campaign are Mrs. Mary Costello, Mrs. Carlo Castiglione, Mrs. Julia VanValkenburg and Frank Carpino.

Father Nenna, now staying in this country at Mt. Carmel Church, the Bronx where he will remain until March 4, said he left Italy without any definite plans for raising funds in this country, but with the knowledge "American people are understanding and generous when it comes to something worthwhile."

He said many friends already have offered him assistance in his project—to construct a "home" for many boys "now living in alleys, and ruins, eating from waste cans, stealing to survive and subject to all sorts of crime and vice."

4 Towns Denied Rehearing About Rail Agency Cuts

ALBANY—The Public Service Commission today denied the petition of the towns of New Paltz, Montgomery, Shawangunk and Gardiner, in Ulster and Orange counties, for a rehearing of its December 1, 1958 decision which permitted New York Central Railroad to discontinue agency service at its five Wallkill Valley Branch stations.

By that order, the railroad was authorized to provide pickup-and-delivery service for less-than-carload freight at New Paltz, Rosendale, Wallkill and Gardiner, continuing such service at Walden, and to replace existing local agents with a traveling agent working out of the Kingston station.

The railroad was required also to continue carload freight service at each of the five communities but under jurisdiction of its Kingston agent.

The petition under consideration today challenged, among other things, the right of the Public Service Commission to permit railroads to reduce service at local stations.

In denying the request for a rehearing, the Commission ruled that "sufficient reason for granting a rehearing has not been made to appear."

Racial Unrest Is New Problem for Britain in Africa

BLANTYRE, Nyasaland (AP)—Britain is facing up to a new nationalist threat in Africa—mounting racial unrest in black Nyasaland.

With angry native demonstrations continuing since last Friday, Royal Air Force planes sprayed rock-throwing crowds with tear gas in Lilongwe Tuesday. Members of the King's African Rifles fired on the rioters in the market place and two casualties were reported.

Meeting Ban Is Starter

A spokesman for the British colonial government said the demonstrators were scattered by late afternoon, but sporadic shooting continued. The crowd turned ugly after officials prohibited the holding of a nationalist meeting.

It was the first trouble in Lilongwe, capital of Nyasaland's central province. Previous disturbances had been mostly in Blantyre, capital of the southern province.

Mainspring of the unrest is Dr. Hastings Banda, president of the Nyasaland African National party. His organization wants to take the protectorate of Nyasaland out of the Central African Federation, a member of the British Commonwealth which also includes self-governing Southern Rhodesia and (Continued on Page 8, Col. 6)

Clean Up Messy Politics, Cleric Advises Churchmen

An Oklahoma City minister drew prolonged applause Tuesday evening at the 34th annual Washington Day Dinner of the Old Dutch Church when he exhorted churchmen to get into politics and clean it up.

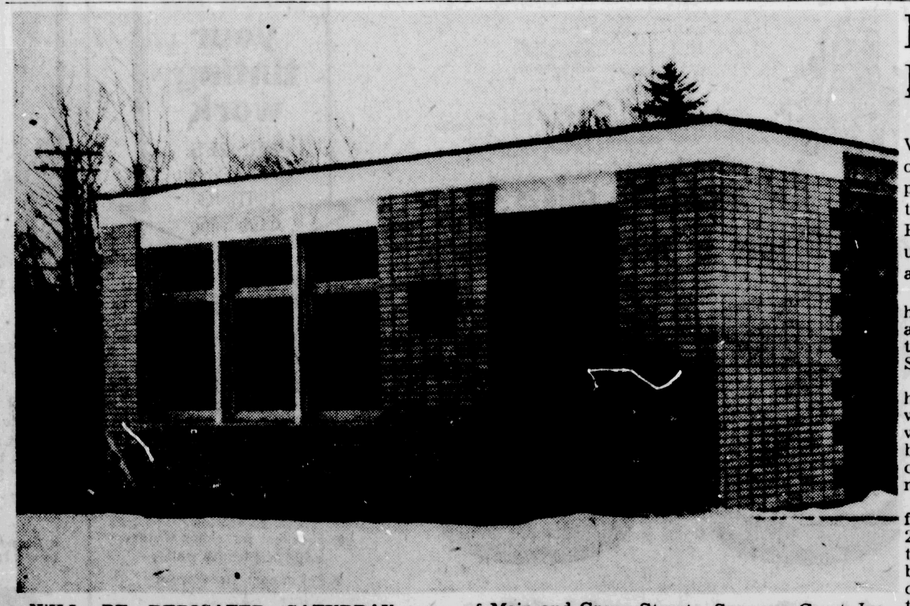

Dr. William H. Alexander, pastor of the First Christian Church, rated one of the nation's top speakers, told some 350 members of the Men's Club and their guests that we will never have a country fit to live in as long as we sit off at a distance and ridicule politics as "dirty" and refuse to pitch in as churchmen to make God's will felt.

He urged members of the church to get down on their hands and knees with wash pails and scrubbing brushes to clean up messy political situations wherever they are found.

Dr. Alexander, a large, leonine figure with red hair and a gustful personality, said the Christian church is the "hope of the world" and that the hope of the church was "strong men."

He told an appreciative audience that he is worried about the church in America today, that it should be a beacon light but that so many people were turning to other areas of stimulation in their quest for fulfillment-to science, for instance. He assured his listeners that the answer does not lie there—but only in the Christian philosophy.

Each of us has the "power to become," the topic of Dr. Alexanders' address, he told his audience. He said that each individual is either a part of the (Continued on Page 8, Col. 4)

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt Due In Woodstock Friday Night

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who frequently has been called the First Lady of the World, will address a capacity crowd of more than 350 persons Friday night at the Woodstock Elementary school.

Mrs. Roosevelt's speech on the topic: "Education, USSR-U. S. A." is scheduled for 8:30 p. m. Her appearance is sponsored by the Woodstock Parent-Teacher Association.

Mistress of the White House for 12 years, long chairman of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights and a U. S. delegate to the UN General Assembly; globe-trotter, lecturer, newspaper columnist, magazine writer and book author, she is undoubtedly the world's most famous feminine private citizen.

Mrs. Roosevelt has circled around the world a score of times and that is only a fraction of her travels. In all, she has travelled hundreds of thousands of miles. An Indian tribe once geve her the name of "Ow-du-sees-ul" meaning "Princess of Many Trails."

On her trips she has travelled by automobile, train, plane, boat, bus, jeep, street car, pack horse, bomber and afoot. She has not always stayed in palaces and other plush quarters. She has known many kinds of other shelters—tents, barracks, some very crudely built huts. She speaks of dank dirt floors, of rats, bugs and mosquitoes encountered on some of her trips.

Wants Active Life

In her first interview after entering the White House in 1933, Mrs. Roosevelt had remarked rather wistfully:

"I hate the idea that I might ever lose touch with people. I don't ever want to be a shut-in."

She says she travels a lot "because I am asked to do these things by people of various organizations" and adds:

"As long as I make enough money writing 'My Day' (her syndicated newspaper column) to pay my own expenses I feel justified in going to as many meetings and doing as many things as I am asked to . . . as many things as I can do."

Endowed with rare vitality and seemingly indefatigable, Mrs. Roosevelt has disregarded custom and criticism in pursuing her precedent-shattering career. The fact that some of her activities has caused eyebrow-lifting and started controversies has not deterred her. She insists that she simply has to do what she thinks is right.

The People's Champion

Critics have accused her of stirring up racial prejudices, meddling in politics and government, talking too much, going too much, being too informal, expounding causes they felt a president's wife should not even get mixed up with.

On the other hand, millions of people feel that Mrs. Roosevelt is their personal champion in the struggle of a world that was first depression-ridden, then war-torn during her long residence in Washington. They like her because she is unassuming, always gracious, ever ready to lend a helping hand.

The problems and hopes of the common people occupy a major portion of the time and seemingly boundless energy of this woman who was born into the sheltered life of wealthy aristocracy.

Mrs. Roosevelt believes government should take on more and more responsibility for the welfare of the public, and that citizens should participate more fully in government and be vigilant in forcing it to function properly.

Girl Scouts Cookie Drive Is In Progress

The Woodstock-West Hurley Girl Scout Cookie Drive has been in progress since Feb. 20 and Mrs. Dwight Bellinger, chairman of the Cookie Committee, reports this year's drive promises to be a great success.

"The girls are enthusiastic," says Mrs. Bellinger. "Won't you show them that you are, too, by ordering more Girl Scout cookies than ever before? If each customer were to order just one box more than last year, the overall increase would be quite substantial."

"Walking has been treacherous this year," says Mrs. Bellinger, "If, by any chance, the girls have not been able to reach your house, please call any Girl Scout, Brownie or Committee member and your order will be taken care of."

Besides Mrs. Bellinger, the following ladies are helping the Scouts in their drive: Mrs. Victor Allen, Mrs. Robert Breitenstein, Mrs. Charles Klothe, Mrs. Abe Kramer and Mrs. Henry Marx of Woodstock. Also, Mrs. John Blatter, Mrs. David Fox and Mrs. Arthur Knight of West Hurley.

Schimmerling Praises Group For Performing Rare Works

The following review of the concert presented by the Concert Artists Trio has been submitted by Prof. H. A. Schimmerling, director of musical activities at the Woodstock Elementary School.

The program included the Concerto for Violin, Cello and Piano by George Phillip Telemann; Sonata No. 4 for Violin and Piano, by Robert Kurka; Sonata in F Major for Cello and Piano by Johannes Brahms; and Trio for Piano, Violin and Cello by Paul Ben-Haim.

"The Telemann style of the 'Hamburger Schule' was strongly influenced by French ideas (Lully)," says Mr. Schimmerling. "Telemann, though one of the ablest contrapuntists of all times, did not show his ability in many of his works, including the above mentioned 'concerto'. Telemann, at his time, was looked upon as one of the great men in music (together with Mattheson and Keiser). Posterity has revised this opinion. Handel liked him very much. Bach less, he probably recognized pure musical facts that bear not the stamp of profoundness which is so cleverly expressed in this statement by a fatal facility, naturally inclined to superficiality."

Appraisal of Kurka

Robert Kurka, American born of Czech descent, tries to express himself in a musical language which does not appeal to the heart; hardly to the brain, and very little to the senses. The slow movement offers some interesting moments. The first movement is "brusco' (not Breesco as the printed programs announced) as the composer excuses himself. This writer agrees with the 'espressivo' of the adagio and with the 'vigoroso' of the allegro only as far as loudness and speed is concerned.

"The F-Major Sonata op. 99 for cello and piano by Johannes Brahms, composed in 1886, is seldom performed because of its technical difficulties. It was written for one of the best cellists of the pre-Casals era. This explains Brahms' little concern for the big-interval-jumps or the tremolos which even Casals changed into sustained double-stops. The slow movement was originally written for the cello sonata op. 38. This explains the discrepancy in style between this movement and the rest of the piece.

An Outstanding Work

"Paul Ben-Haim's Trio for piano, violin and cello (Variations on an Israeli folk tune is an outstanding work; contemporary and truly Israeli music. Ben-Haim belongs to the 'Eastern Mediterranean School.' Of this group of Israel composers, Ben-Haim is the most prominent representative — introduced the Oriental Chant into their compositions which tend to express 'the pastorale atmosphere and coloring of rural Israel Palestine' (Peter Grandenwitz). Ben-Haim, recte Paul Frankenburger, was born in 1897 in Munich, Germany and has settled in Israel, then Palestine, as early as 1933.

"We have to be grateful to the three distinguished artists that made us acquainted with the above selection of seldom-performed works. This is merit in itself. Harold Kohon, violinist; Richard Kay, cellist; and Isabelle Byman, pianist, are in this respect to be looked upon as messengers of musical culture and good will ambassadors. In this writer's opinion, the selection (first half of program) could have been more attractive. The performance was a heart-warming experience on this cold February Sunday afternoon. The performers were in high spirit, ambitious in some instances even over-ambitious with regard to the tone volume with the exception of the cello. The audience, not as big as one would wish for, was in an 'encore mood.' So let's hope to hear these artists here soon again."

The Ponds Report Colorful Town In Old Mexico

The Ponds—Joan and Bim—of Bearsville, who have been vacationing at Puerto Dallarta, Mexico for several weeks — will start the long 3,500-mile trek back to Woodstock on March 2, according to a recent letter. They are due back in April.

They plan to spend some time at Taxco, the silver town, where Joan will for the third time work in one of the leading silver factories. This is designed to keep up her technique so she will be better able to handle her classes at the Guild of Craftsmen on her return.

Dallarta is a Pacific paradise on Mexico's west coast. Until very recently, it was not well known. Now it is being discovered and is drawing a most attractive colony of interesting people—painters, writers, musicians and world travelers. It is much like Woodstock, with the added attraction of a superb beach.

The Ponds' apartment is located in an area known as Gringo Gulch. There are many well-to-do Americans there, but "we are in the midst of Mexicans. And their burros, which bray; their dogs that fight, their pigs, their chickens, their babies—and their assorted aromatic excrements," says Bim.

Colorful Living

"Living is not too cheap, not too expensive," he writes. "Our first two purchases—salt and pepper—cost us 6 pesos, or 48 cents! We can get a full-course dinner in one of the best hotels for 8 pesos—64 cents. It is fun to do your buying and Joan does not miss Mower's or the Grand Union.

"One thing here is very cheap — haircuts. The usual price is 2 pesos (16 cents). The first-class one, where the barber is also a tailor, costs 3 pesos (24 cents). He gives full value for your money.

"My artist friend, Bartow Underhill, says that before he goes home in the spring, he buys three or four haircuts! So, if I come home looking like Yul Brunner, you'll know I bought three haircuts the last day.

"The climate here is perfect," the letter goes on. "It is hot, sunny by day, somewhat cool, even chilly at night.

"Joan is getting nicely tanned and rested. It is wonderful this winter, of all winters, to be away from it all.

"Mexico is full of Woodstockers," the letter concludes. "Mexico is full of Woodstockers — Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Solomon, Pat and Charlotte Collins, John and Fritzi Striebel and so on. The Solomons are the chief source of information for all of us."

Troop News

Troop 86 (Mrs. Arthur Henkel, leader) will not meet on Tuesdays any longer. Instead, they will meet every other Sunday at the home of Mrs. Arthur Henkel, Boiceville, from 11 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. Those attending are asked to bring "nose-bags."

My troop badges have been completed. Thank-you Valentines were sent out by the troop members to friends who have helped the troop during the past year.

Troop 86 has started work on the "comfort pillows" and are still collecting nylon to be used in the making of the pillows.

Onteora Adult Scouts Slate Annual Dinner

The monthly meeting of the Onteora Neighborhood Adult Scouts was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Henkel of Boiceville last week. Eight women braved the inclement weather, complete with nose-bag lunches.

Arthur Henkel, Onteora cookie chairman, distributed cookie literature to the leaders who will, in turn, distribute them to the girls. Advance cookie sales were also discussed.

Mrs. Paul Williams of Boiceville is the new publicity agent for the Onteora Scouts. Leaders are to send her news items about all troop activities.

A motion was made to make "comfort pillows" out of old nylon slips, blouses and skirts for the Ulster County unit of the American Cancer Society. The motion was unanimously carried for a combined neighborhood troop project. Troop organization standards were also discussed.

Plan Annual Dinner

The annual Council dinner will be held April 7 at 6:30 p. m. at the New Hurley Reformed Church. All reservations must be made by March 31 with Mrs. Raymond Conklin of Chichester, the Neighborhood chairman.

Anyone interested in summer camp work may call Mrs. Jerry Blair, at the office of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts in Kingston.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Irving Luckom, Woodland Acres, Woodstock. Members are asked to bring "nose-bag" lunches for the noon meeting.

Town Board Meeting Scheduled Thursday

The postponed meeting of the Town Board will be held Thursday at Town Hall at 8 p. m.

Although the Board's agenda is never announced in advance, it is understood that several important matters will be discussed, including resolutions on the town planning board and Recreation Commission.

Robert Kurka, American born of Czech descent, tries to express himself in a musical language which does not appeal to the heart; hardly to the brain, and very little to the senses. The slow movement offers some interesting moments. The first movement is "brusco' (not Breesco as the printed programs announced) as the composer excuses himself. This writer agrees with the 'espressivo' of the adagio and with the 'vigoroso' of the allegro only as far as loudness and speed is concerned.

"The F-Major Sonata op. 99 for cello and piano by Johannes Brahms, composed in 1886, is seldom performed because of its technical difficulties. It was written for one of the best cellists of the pre-Casals era. This explains Brahms' little concern for the big-interval-jumps or the tremolos which even Casals changed into sustained double-stops. The slow movement was originally written for the cello sonata op. 38. This explains the discrepancy in style between this movement and the rest of the piece.

An Outstanding Work

"Paul Ben-Haim's Trio for piano, violin and cello (Variations on an Israeli folk tune is an outstanding work; contemporary and truly Israeli music. Ben-Haim belongs to the 'Eastern Mediterranean School.' Of this group of Israel composers, Ben-Haim is the most prominent representative — introduced the Oriental Chant into their compositions which tend to express 'the pastorale atmosphere and coloring of rural Israel Palestine' (Peter Grandenwitz). Ben-Haim, recte Paul Frankenburger, was born in 1897 in Munich, Germany and has settled in Israel, then Palestine, as early as 1933.

"We have to be grateful to the three distinguished artists that made us acquainted with the above selection of seldom-performed works. This is merit in itself. Harold Kohon, violinist; Richard Kay, cellist; and Isabelle Byman, pianist, are in this respect to be looked upon as messengers of musical culture and good will ambassadors. In this writer's opinion, the selection (first half of program) could have been more attractive. The performance was a heart-warming experience on this cold February Sunday afternoon. The performers were in high spirit, ambitious in some instances even over-ambitious with regard to the tone volume with the exception of the cello. The audience, not as big as one would wish for, was in an 'encore mood.' So let's hope to hear these artists here soon again."

The Ponds Report Colorful Town In Old Mexico

The Ponds—Joan and Bim—of Bearsville, who have been vacationing at Puerto Dallarta, Mexico for several weeks — will start the long 3,500-mile trek back to Woodstock on March 2, according to a recent letter. They are due back in April.

They plan to spend some time at Taxco, the silver town, where Joan will for the third time work in one of the leading silver factories. This is designed to keep up her technique so she will be better able to handle her classes at the Guild of Craftsmen on her return.

Dallarta is a Pacific paradise on Mexico's west coast. Until very recently, it was not well known. Now it is being discovered and is drawing a most attractive colony of interesting people—painters, writers, musicians and world travelers. It is much like Woodstock, with the added attraction of a superb beach.

The Ponds' apartment is located in an area known as Gringo Gulch. There are many well-to-do Americans there, but "we are in the midst of Mexicans. And their burros, which bray; their dogs that fight, their pigs, their chickens, their babies—and their assorted aromatic excrements," says Bim.

Colorful Living

"Living is not too cheap, not too expensive," he writes. "Our first two purchases—salt and pepper—cost us 6 pesos, or 48 cents! We can get a full-course dinner in one of the best hotels for 8 pesos—64 cents. It is fun to do your buying and Joan does not miss Mower's or the Grand Union.

"One thing here is very cheap — haircuts. The usual price is 2 pesos (16 cents). The first-class one, where the barber is also a tailor, costs 3 pesos (24 cents). He gives full value for your money.

"My artist friend, Bartow Underhill, says that before he goes home in the spring, he buys three or four haircuts! So, if I come home looking like Yul Brunner, you'll know I bought three haircuts the last day.

"The climate here is perfect," the letter goes on. "It is hot, sunny by day, somewhat cool, even chilly at night.

"Joan is getting nicely tanned and rested. It is wonderful this winter, of all winters, to be away from it all.

"Mexico is full of Woodstockers," the letter concludes. "Mexico is full of Woodstockers — Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Solomon, Pat and Charlotte Collins, John and Fritzi Striebel and so on. The Solomons are the chief source of information for all of us."

Troop News

Troop 86 (Mrs. Arthur Henkel, leader) will not meet on Tuesdays any longer. Instead, they will meet every other Sunday at the home of Mrs. Arthur Henkel, Boiceville, from 11 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. Those attending are asked to bring "nose-bags."

My troop badges have been completed. Thank-you Valentines were sent out by the troop members to friends who have helped the troop during the past year.

Troop 86 has started work on the "comfort pillows" and are still collecting nylon to be used in the making of the pillows.

Onteora Adult Scouts Slate Annual Dinner

The monthly meeting of the Onteora Neighborhood Adult Scouts was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Henkel of Boiceville last week. Eight women braved the inclement weather, complete with nose-bag lunches.

Arthur Henkel, Onteora cookie chairman, distributed cookie literature to the leaders who will, in turn distribute them to the girls. Advance cookie sales were also discussed.

Mrs. Paul Williams of Boiceville is the new publicity agent for the Onteora Scouts. Leaders are to send her news items about all troop activities.

A motion was made to make "comfort pillows" out of old nylon slips, blouses and skirts for the Ulster County unit of the American Cancer Society. The motion was unanimously carried for a combined neighborhood troop project. Troop organization standards were also discussed.

Plan Annual Dinner

The annual Council dinner will be held April 7 at 6:30 p. m. at the New Hurley Reformed Church. All reservations must be made by March 31 with Mrs. Raymond Conklin of Chichester, the Neighborhood chairman.

Anyone interested in summer camp work may call Mrs. Jerry Blair, at the office of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts in Kingston.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Irving Luckom, Woodland Acres, Woodstock. Members are asked to bring "nose-bag" lunches for the noon meeting.

Town Board Meeting Scheduled Thursday

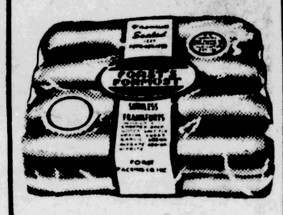

The postponed meeting of the Town Board will be held Thursday at Town Hall at 8 p. m.

Although the Board's agenda is never announced in advance, it is understood that several important matters will be discussed, including resolutions on the town planning board and Recreation Commission.

Court Denies Review Of Tribe Pay Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has refused to review efforts by the St. Regis Tribe of Mohawk Indians to collect $33,800,000 from New York State for Barnhart's Island.

The island in the St. Lawrence River was appropriated by the state for a power project.

The tribe appealed to the high tribunal after the state Court of Appeals contended an act of 1856 and a payment of $5,960 at that time extinguished the original Indian title to the island. The tribe questioned whether the 1856 act accomplished that result.

It also said the Supreme Court should determine whether a federal Indian Intercourse Act of 1834 applied to New York State, and if so whether the state has complied with requirements of the federal act. The New York State Court of Appeals said the 1834 act did not apply to that state.

No Birthday Gifts, These

EnormousBurdensRest On Dulles' Shoulders

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — While Secretary of State John Foster Dulles fights cancer — and the world awaits the outcome—American problems in foreign policy ring the earth.

Dulles is able to read newspapers and magazines and, while it is no doubt comforting to him, it probably also strikes him as ironic that after all the criticism he has drawn in his six years in office, he is now being lavishly praised.

Praise Is Varied

The praise ranges from mild to excessive, including the suggestion that he is indispensable. Looked at coldly the word "indispensable" is a little less than realistic when applied to any man.

If tomorrow Dulles decided he no longer could do his job and resigned, some one would have to take his place. No matter how valuable a secretary has been, this country has long been accustomed to acquiring a new secretary every time a new administration takes office.

True, Dulles has so completely dominated and handled American foreign policy that no one could now just step in and take over without some hitches, strains and delays until he could master what a secretary of state needs to know.

Most of the talk so far about whether or not Dulles will continue in office, or have to retire, seems to be a conversation piece.

Problems Need Attention

It may be some weeks before either Dulles or his doctors can know whether he will be able to resume his job full-time, part-time, or not at all. Meanwhile there are problems that need continuing attention.

First and foremost: What to do about the Soviet demand that the Allies get their troops out of West Berlin and leave it a free city. Unless handled right, the West's whole position in Germany could crumble.

The West is bracing itself for a showdown on Berlin, perhaps around May 27. As late as Tuesday Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was being tough and unyielding, despite Allied proposals for a foreign ministers conference to talk about it.

In the background, always, is the continuing problem of how to cope with Red China's growing strength and its inevitable influence on all Asia where the United States has built up alliances which have hardly been tested yet.

Nasser Problem Remains

America's relations with its friend, the Philippines, have deteriorated and need fixing. Then there's the task of trying to help India, with its bursting population and extremely low living standards, to improve its economic conditions.

Moving west a bit, there is the still unsolved problem of trying to get along with President Nasser of Egypt and keep him out of the clasp of communism.

In Iraq, which had been closely tied in with the United States until a revolution destroyed both King Faisal and his regime, the Communists, and through them the Soviet Union have steadily gained influence.

At this moment there seems a genuine puzzlement over Iraq — whether or not it may go Communist. If it does, the U.S.S.R. will have gained its first indisputable foothold in the Middle East.

Such an event would call for a complete rearrangement in the thinking of the Arabs and the West. To say it would cause a convulsion in the area seems mild.

Right next door is another American friend, still friendly: Iran. The task here is how to keep it friendly and help it resist Soviet threats and pressure.

Behind the upcoming crisis on Berlin, of course, is the old problem for the United States and its allies of how, in a way satisfactory to them, West and East Germany can be unified.

Tuesday Khrushchev brushed the Western Allies aside, saying the question of reunification could not even be discussed by the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France. He said it is a question for the "two German states themselves."

All these enormous burdens, awaiting solution, are on the shoulders of Dulles who is 71 years old today and fighting for his life against cancer.

Think It Through

E. F. HUTTON

TWO MEN

The country owes much to two men, Congressman Francis Walter, of Pennsylvania, the courageous Chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, and Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, the unflinching head of the F.B.I.

MR. HUTTON

These two men have been subjected to more sinister and malignant abuse than any other public officials of our time. Most of this is cooked in a Moscow pot and served by both those who know, and do not know, the cook.

The sad part is that so many well-meaning but simple-minded innocents scatter as Christian food what is actually Communist poison. Many such innocents are church and college officials.

Every time a new Congress convenes, a determined effort is made to abolish the Un-American Activities Committee. This year the chosen spokesman was Congressman James Roosevelt, of California.

As Congressman Walter said of him, "He is the only person I know who has no criticism of the Committee but wants to abolish it!"

Mr. Roosevelt's mother is a long-time enemy of the Committee, and added her name to a newspaper advertisement in a Washington paper demanding its abolition.

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover expressed his approval of the Committee. It was not abolished.

This was only part of the Communist campaign to conquer our country from within. That business, labor and Hollywood celebrities fawned on the smiling murderer, Mikoyan, shows the importance of the House Committee and the F.B.I.

Assemblyman Is Poor, Hurt in Thruway Crash

SUFFERN, N Y. (AP) — Assemblyman Bernard Haber, injured in an auto collision on the Thruway, remained in "extremely poor" condition today at Good Samaritan Hospital.

The 36-year-old Brooklyn Democrat has been unconscious since he was admitted to the hospital after the accident Monday afternoon. An iron lung keeps him breathing.

The hospital is using a comparatively new drug to reduce brain swelling from a severe head injury. Additional supplies of the drug were flown in from a laboratory in Illinois.

Also injured were State Sen. Frank J. Pino, 49, Assemblyman Joseph Kottler, 48, and Kottler's son Harry, 14, all of Brooklyn. They have been hospitalized and are reported in good condition.

The legislators were en route to Albany for a legislative session.

Orange Physician Robbed, Beaten

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—Police guarded the roads in this Orange County community today in search for two thugs who robbed a local physician in his home.

The armed pair seized $200, a physician's bag and a probing instrument from Dr. Robert A. Houlihan, Tuesday night.

They said they needed the instrument for "a buddy who was shot." The bag contained an unknown quantity of narcotics.

One of the thugs struck the doctor a glancing blow on the side of the head with a gun. He was not seriously hurt.

Jukebox Probe Is Set for Gotham

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal grand jury will be convened here to investigate charges of jukebox racketeering in New York City, a lawyer for operators of the music machine says.

Samuel Mezansky, special counsel to the Music Operators of New York, Inc., says he received information to that effect from Washington.

He passed along the word at a meeting of the association's members Tuesday night.

Mezansky reported at the group's regular meeting on testimony about jukebox racketeering in various parts of the country given before the Senate Rackets Committee in Washington.

The 22-year-old trade association here has 160 members. They own about 8,000 of the estimated 11,000 jukeboxes in the city.

The president, Albert S. Denver, has told the Senate committee that the group has battled against threats and intimidation from hoodlums attempting to invade the industry here through union fronts.

RIGIDITY BEGETS RIGIDITY

Flexibility is the heart of human dealing, especially in politics. That's why politics often is called the art of compromise. But when you're dealing with the Russians, terms like these can lose some of their usual significance.

It is obvious to all of us that give and take has to be a two-sided affair. Yet we know very well that the greatest part of the time the Russians give nothing.

By common definition, they are rigid. They usually yield in a particular area of controversy only when the issues at stake are no longer of paramount importance to them, and they see a propaganda victory to be gained by yielding.

Thus there can be no ordinary "flexibility" in dealing with the Kremlin. For when flexibility is placed opposite an almost continuous rigidity, the result can only be a series of surrenders.

Rigidity unfortunately begets rigidity. When a man is at your door with a gun, you are not likely to save your valuables by inviting him in to talk it over at dinner. You flash your gun and bark the threats that will hold him off.

Many will argue that since someone must relax his rigid posture if the world is to be saved from ruin, why should it not be us?

Certainly we have a duty to keep steadily alert so we shall not overlook one single opportunity for legitimate give and take with the Soviet Union.

It is our responsibility, too, to throw into the international political market fresh, imaginative ideas and program. We may always hope that some of these will catch on, will draw behind them the force of world opinion and exert heavy pressure upon the Russians.

But it is not our duty to be flexible just for the sake of being flexible. Rigidity—firmness is a less emotionally toned word—can be a virtue if it is the course of policy and action necessary to the preservation of our liberty and well-being.

What we need is not to be captivated by persuasive terms but to be fully intent upon all the realities in our dealings with the Russians and everybody else.

Temperance advocates may be cheered by reflecting that the first man-made solar satellite passed moonshine by and went on to sunshine.

DISMAY AND SADNESS

The serious illness of Secretary of State Dulles has brought feelings of dismay and sadness, not only in this country but throughout the West. The sadness is aroused by the personal trouble which has come to a staunch and courageous man. The dismay springs from the conviction that, without the firm hand of Dulles on the tiller, the course of Western diplomacy will not be as sure as it might have been.

Both of these feelings are amply justified. Though Dulles has had his share of enemies and detractors, he is widely respected for his knowledge, tenacity and devotion to his duty as the chief diplomatic figure of the free world. He has, and has earned, the deep sympathy of millions. There is general acceptance, even among those who have frequently disagreed with his conduct of foreign affairs, that at this period he comes close to being indispensable.

Though the secretary of state is afflicted with a grave illness, there remains a possibility that he may return to full, or virtually full, control of the State Department. That possibility in itself contributes to the present uncertainty. Pending more definite knowledge of the course the disease will take, no one at State will have anything like the broad authority that Dulles has had.

There is little prospect of major change in U.S. foreign policy, at any rate. The West would certainly be better off, in the weeks to come, if the sure hand of Dulles were guiding policy. There is no reason to despair, as Dulles himself would be the first to declare.

Ike says the Republicans must learn to take criticism from both sides. Also, it seems, from the middle.

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE RAIDERS

I watched a show on "Playhouse 90" which seemed to me much more important than a mere TV escape from work and thought. It was called "The Raider" and portrayed some of the methods employed by men of dubious scruples to undermine the builders of industry and then to deprive them of the fruit of their labor which most often is the opportunity to continue to work and to build.

It also disclosed, with rare insight, the weakness of the corporate structure. Who actually owns a corporation? According to the text-books, the stockholders own a corporation and the text-book writers are legalistically correct. But the fact is that nobody really owns a corporation and anybody usually can own it who sets out to do it and has sufficient capital or backing to accomplish his end. Thus a few financiers and a few banking houses can so rig the stock that after clever manipulation, they become the masters.

The linguistic purists make a great distinction between own and control. They would say that the stockholders own the corporation but that the financiers control it. The fact is that most stockholders hardly know what they own and therefore are referred to as "sheep." They buy on advice or tips; they sell for the same reason. They put their money into mutuals and others buy and sell for them. They do not know it but the premiums they pay to life insurance companies are loaned out and can eventually find their way into controlling situations.

Other elements now enter into the realm of ownership. For instance, all the racketeering money in the world must in some manner or other become legitimatized to be useful to their owners. One mechanism for legitimacy is Swiss banking, the bank acting for the racketeer as the manager of his money.

A Swiss bank differs from an American bank in that it will accommodate itself to any degree of secrecy required by its customer. If he wants to hide behind a number or a thumb print, the bank will agree. Of course, American stock brokers act as nominees, or "street names," for those who do not care to be identified, but they can be investigated by SEC and by law officers, or by a Congressional committee which can be very unpleasant. Nevertheless the tricky operator prefers to keep or get his base money outside the United States where he can hide his methods and where he is better protected. For racketeers and ordinary thieves this is always important.

The raider finds the flaw in a corporation's methods. There are always flaws. They are always easy to find. The basic flaws are human—ambition, cupidity, deceit, disloyalty. As nobody really owns the public corporation, why should not B get hold of it as well as the man who created and built it and gave his life blood for its continued existence? And if B can get hold of it, why not C who is a traitor and who has joined with those who would make a profit by breaking it up, particularly when the real value of a company is greater than either its book value or its stock-market value, as often happens?

One of the most usual attacks is on expense accounts which are part of salesmanship and of public relations. The outward manifestations of success are an important part of salesmanship. That is why companies build huge buildings and banks build palaces for themselves. They are manifestations not only of success but of immediate profits and of stability. Mr. J. P. Morgan's palace at 23 Wall Street was too small for his business, much of which was conducted in an office building next door, but 23 stood out as something distinct and separate and represented power.

Similarly a corporation will want its chairman to live well, to dine his guests respectably, to entertain in genteel fashion. More big contracts are signed over good brandy than over hamburgers. But these expense accounts run high and raiders can make a noise about them which the little stockholder, who maybe does live on hamburger, does not understand. Many members of Congress do not understand the function of "prestige publicity," which is the core of the expense account.

"Playhouse 90" is to be congratulated for opening this subject. It would be interesting to see the Swiss account dramatized.

Schizophrenia Has Roots Deep in History of Victim

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

There isn't the slightest doubt that one of the great problems of our age lies in the field of mental health.

During World War II, draft statistics showed that far too many of our citizens were suffering from mental ailments, or were mentally deficient to a degree which prevented them from serving their country.

No information accumulated since then leads us to any happier conclusion. Patients with mental illness occupy more hospital beds than those with any other single disease.

Today's column deals with a specific mental disease, the name of which is "schizophrenia," or "dementia praecox."

This disorder is responsible for a great deal of antisocial behavior. In many cases the victims require institutional care.

A "splitting" of the personality is the most characteristic feature. The afflicted individual may show thoroughly normal behavior in some respects and yet be completely abnormal in others. The "splitting" is supposed to be between the thinking and the emotional reactions.

The most prominent early symptom is likely to be a change in the outlook of the victim. Sometimes a patient will show an unusual amount of suspiciousness. Dear friends or relatives may be unjustly suspected of persecutions.

Quite often the first signs consist of disorderliness and lack of cleanliness. Judgment is often impaired. The patient frequently complains of hearing or seeing objects which are not there.

Peculiar kinds of thinking arise. The personality is likely to become gradually altered. Slight peculiarities and oddities often are present for some time before serious symptoms develop.

The cause of schizophrenia is not known. Sometimes mental strain or a disease seems to bring on the illness, though at other times it comes slowly, without any obvious background cause.

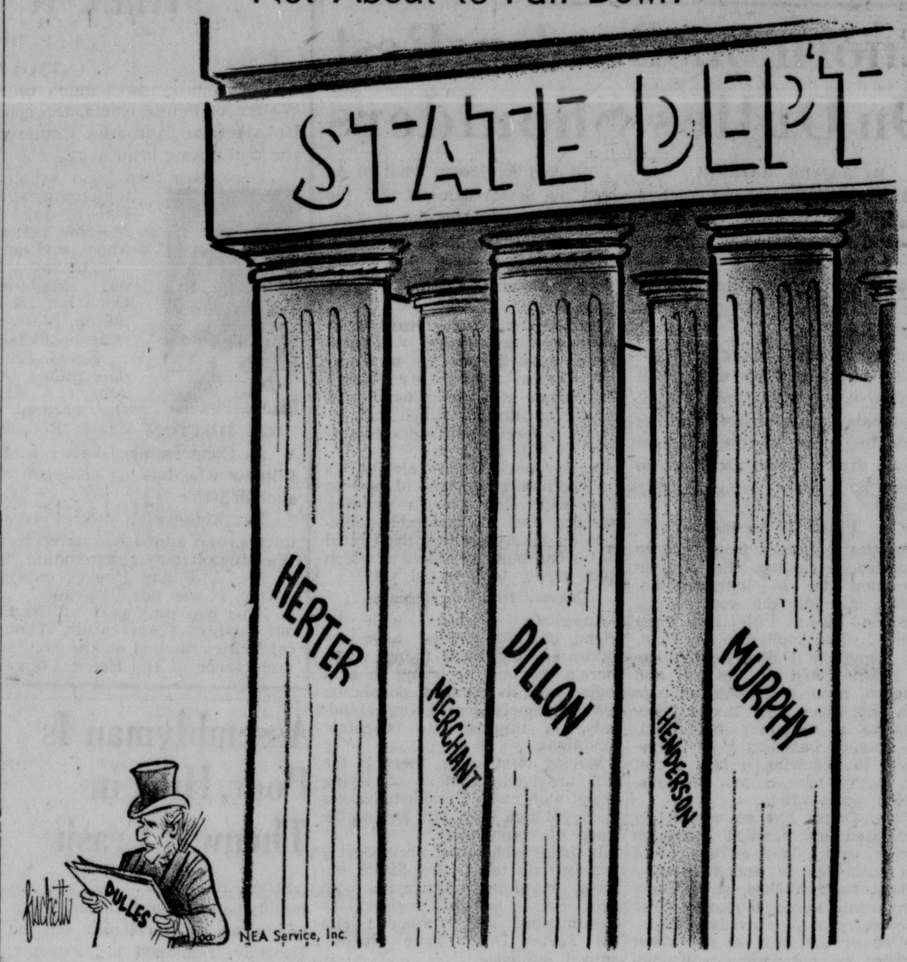

Heredity probably plays some part, and it has been stated that more than half of those with schizophrenia have some family history of mental illness. There are probably additional factors responsible for the development of this condition.

Damage to the personality may occur during early development in childhood. The general principles of mental hygiene, of normal happy family relationships, and healthy social attitudes would undoubtedly help prevent many cases.

But at present, sure ways of preventing schizophrenia are not known. Treatment may consist of the use of electric or insulin shock, of tranquilizers and of psychiatric advice, or combinations of these.

There are some reasons for believing that the percentage of those who recover is gradually increasing, thanks to new methods and accumulating experience.

Not About to Fall Down

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — The increasing influence of Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon in shaping U. S. foreign policy along new lines makes him the man to watch in any scramble to find a successor for John Foster Dulles.

As the cold war shifts from political and military rivalry to business competition for world leadership, economic policy has become increasingly important.

In such a situation it becomes necessary to have a diplomat around with extensive practical knowledge of how international banking and trade are carried on.

Undersecretary Dillon is such a man. In the two years he has been in the State Department with supervision over international economic affairs, he has made these marks:

THE U. S. FOREIGN AID program has been shifted from a grant to a loan basis. Some grants are still necessary to countris like Korea, Formosa and Jordan. This is because their economies won't support the military establishment necessary for their defense against communism. Everywhere else, the emphasis is now on loans—not giveaway.

Last August, Undersecretary Dillion announced that the United States would support Latin American proposals for an Inter-American Development Association. This was a change in policy.

The Eisenhower administration's previous position had been that existing institutions like Export-Import and World Banks could meet all Latin-American credit needs.

Dillon, who had been head of U. S. and Foreign Securities Corp. before he became ambassador to Paris, knew the requirements for expanded foreign investment. He played a leading role in having the old policy changed.

At the World Bank and International Monetary Fund meetings in New Delhi last October, Dillon spelled out in exact terms the U. S. program for aid to needy countries. And at these same meetings U. S. Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson gave U. S. support to increasing the capital of both institutions.

WHILE DILLON RECOGNIZES the importance of government loans to developing countries, he also stresses the need for more private investment. Thus at the Columbo Plan conference in Seattle last fall, he told the Southeast Asia representatives that they must promote investments of their own nationals in new domestic enterprises. He is against having the whole burden fall on the U. S.

Delegations of American businessmen representing coal exporters, oil importers, lead and zinc miners and smelters and textile manufacturers have come out of conferences with Undersecretary Dillon impressed by his knowledge and understanding of their problems.

All of them are up against stiff foreign competition. Dillon is now principal administration advocate and spokesman for the reciprocal trade agreements program. But he also has an eye for shaping foreign policy to promote the welfare of American industry and maintain a sound economy at home.

IN A SPEECH LAST FALL before the American Management Association, Dillon put the new economic warfare between Soviet Russia and the western world in proper perspective.

Soviet Russia is not in any race with the United States to provide the most aid to underdeveloped countries and not in any trade war, he declared. The principal Communist objective is to promote tension, which he recognizes as the principal threat.

When Anastas I. Mikoyan was in the United States in January, he tried to soft-soap American business leaders into granting Russia huge credits to increase trade with the Soviet Union. It was Dillon who took him on at the showdown. And it was the shrewd Armenian trader who came out second in this deal—not the American millionaire-diplomat.

What Mikoyan wanted from the U. S. was most-favored-nation treatment. Dillon answered that American public opinon was against it. Mikoyan said: "Then you use trade for political purposes." Dillon replied calmly, "Call it that if you want." Mikoyan didn't get a thing.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The Democratic party held a joint session of Congress on Lincoln's birthday in lavish tribute to Carl Sandburg, a rich proletarian poet and creator of a prosperous phenomenon of the book trade and politics called the Lincoln industry. This orgy was the greatest publicity coup in the entire history of a nation which as joyously played sucker for showmen and press agents from P. T. Barnum down to Tex McCrary, who latched onto Eisenhower and went spinning, perhaps forever, in outer space when Ike's coattails tore off.

The New York Times, certainly a worldly institution, was moved to emotional gulps for Mr. Sandburg, with Lincoln as the stooge, and the shaggy Svensk from Galesburg vastly out-scored Mark Twain at his gaudiest in victorian London. Although the joint session was nominally bi-partisan, most Republicans of both chambers were out on the road revering their founding father to beat all hell, wherever a quorum could be gathered. In their absence, the Democrats had a virtual monopoly with only six Republican senators on hand and a like proportion of congressmen. A reliable journal reported that Henry Wallace sat alone with an empty seat on either side. No Democrat was radical enough to sit to his left and proximity even on bubblehead's right would have been a position closer to Browder than public opinion might approve at this stage of the cold war.

The Times, a democratic institution, seemed to fall into the widespread fallacy that Lincoln owed all to the histrionics of a posturing old showman, also a Democrat, from the grubby alleys around the old Daily News in Chicago. It gravely reported that his voice "faded away like a dying wind," a hot lick to endow him with Lincolnian godship. And, in a flagrant commercial, it said that Adlai Stevenson had said of Sandburg that he "wrote in cadences which seemed derivative." The Times blew a fuse at that point for the explanation of this geechee failed to come through. And its own derivative cadence went to default when it said, as pure reading matter, that Sandburg was "now the common sense of America."

Sandburg is, in fact, in the common sense of practical men, a toiling sexton who has exhumed millions of old bones, ivoried teeth and arrowheads of superstition and fact and built them into an insufferable effigy of a man who told dirty stories to make his points, scratched himself in public and waved his fork with meat on it, but all in honest, uncouth innocence, and would have recoiled in horror at a commercial nomination for God Almighty. Sandburg is, in further fact, a shrewd vulgarian who perceives, in common with Will Rogers and Adolf Hitler, the winsomeness of the wayward forelock flopping down over his eyes. He is a minstrel of the homespun school of doggerel and affectation, following the steps of Richard Henry Little, a founder of the cult in the same period of Chicago journalism. Little defended "ain't" long before Rogers adopted it for his own along with the split-nickel tip and now comes Sandburg crying "ain't" as though it were a holy watchword.

The New York Times was not the only victim of this queer mass mania although its page one display of Sandburg was considerably the more alarming to citizens who look to the Times for calm judgment. The building shook when the eulogist in Washington laid it down that Sandburg, who made his fortune out of the past, hounding Lincoln into the beyond the grave, is a poet who sings only of the future.

Although Washington is crawling with journalists deemed to be the best of a loosening profession, not one of them exposed the professional mechanics of ballyhoo which enabled Sandburg to stand before Congress, and, inferentially, eulogize himself and promote royalties for his own books and profits for his publishers. It was a magnificent stroke, the better it was not even noticed even by the Republicans.

Sandburg told me long ago that he used to augment his $60 a month as heavy-hitting outfield for the Galesburg club of the Three-Eye League by sweeping hair and whiskers out of the hotel barbershop on Saturday nights. I reverently submit that the master might well spend $1.50 for a haircut in the same shop and leave 50 cents for the barber. This might come hard but he would hardly miss the money out of an income, mainly from the Lincoln Eldorado, which has exceeded the joint revenues of Twain, Tennyson and Dickens.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — While British and Russian leaders discuss today in the Kremlin the expansion of trade between their countries, some American businessmen are warning that the Reds already are out to upset U. S. domestic markets and disrupt foreign trade.

Stepping Up Tactics

Most of the American protests have come from Russian sales of metals on world markets. But some now see the Soviets stepping up their nuisance tactics in other fields.

A current example is the offering here of Communist made laboratory equipment for schools. The state owned Red factories can put any price they like on such items.

Other recent examples are the sale to an American firm of benzene — a byproduct of the petroleum industry which domestic producers have sold here heretofore; and the sale here of Russian bleached sulphite wood pulp used in making quality printing and writing papers.

Nuisance Value

American companies say the sales have propaganda value and above all nuisance value. The sales can upset markets for a time and put some pressure on American price structures.

James J. Ritchie, executive director of the U. S. Pulp Producers Assn., says less than 300 tons of the Russian pulp have come here. But he sees it as part of Soviet plans to wage economic warfare.

Russia has had more dramatic results in the metals markets. She undersold Canada in the British aluminum market. This lead Canadian producers to cut aluminum prices. American companies had to follow suit.

The world tin market was badly disrupted when Russia stepped up its sale of tin to nine times what it had sold in 1956.

Russian sales of zinc and lead also added to the many other troubles of these metals while prices were tumbling. With American mines closing, the U. S. government moved to curb the flow of imports from whatever outside source.

Communist countries also have offered some petroleum products, on world markets in recent months.

The Russians have made no secret of their intent to fight for more world markets and to wage economic warfare. They count on both its propaganda value and on the disadvantage to which it puts privately owned companies.

Forced Promises Will Not Always Inspire Truth

One night when he was 10 he'd started upstairs to bed when his mother said, "Aren't you going to kiss me good night, dear?"

He shook his head. "No," he said virtuously. "I can't. My hygiene teacher says that kissing spreads germs and isn't sanitary."

His mother smiled at this sudden scientific concern for world health, but his father didn't. He said, "Come over here and let me smell your breath." His suspicion was confirmed. "When Smitty and you were out in the garage after supper tonight, you were smoking, weren't you?" he said. "How long has this been going on?"

When he'd learned how long, he made a speech on the affect of nicotine on growth and said, "Now I want a promise from you. I want you to promise me that you won't smoke again until you're 21,'"

He got the promise. But it wasn't kept.

And because it wasn't kept, shame was added to the anxiety involved with the disobedience. When he broke the promise the child not only had to feel, "This is the puff that may turn me into a runt." He also had to feel, "I am such a stinker for breaking my promise I deserve to be a runt."

As a result, he became very cocky and defiant. To offset the self-contempt created by the broken promise, he felt obliged to pretend that he knew more about everything than his parents—and became quite a discipline problem until the truth about his weakness was revealed and absorbed.

Let's go slow on forcing promises from children.

Because promises are pledges of future action. To promise you that I'll repay you money I owe you next Friday, I need trust in my power to control any unforeseen circumstances that might obstruct my getting the money. To give you a promise in good faith, I need considerable good faith in myself.

Forcing promises from children can demand more faith in themselves than they developed. If those unforeseen temptations turn out to be uncontrollable, they have to break the promises—and start despising themselves. Their shame may end communication between us. To live alone with this feeling indefinitely can be quite as detrimental to their growth as nicotine.

So let's find methods other than forced promises to make these points to them.

Thus a few financiers and a few banking houses can so rig the stock that after clever manipulation, they become the masters.

The linguistic purists make a great distinction between own and control. They would say that the stockholders own the corporation but that the financiers control it. The fact is that most stockholders hardly know what they own and therefore are referred to as "sheep." They buy on advice or tips; they sell for the same reason. They put their money into mutuals and others buy and sell for them. They do not know it but the premiums they pay to life insurance companies are loaned out and can eventually find their way into controlling situations.

Other elements now enter into the realm of ownership. For instance, all the racketeering money in the world must in some manner or other become legitimatized to be useful to their owners. One mechanism for legitimacy is Swiss banking, the bank acting for the racketeer as the manager of his money.

A Swiss bank differs from an American bank in that it will accommodate itself to any degree of secrecy required by its customer. If he wants to hide behind a number or a thumb print, the bank will agree. Of course, American stock brokers act as nominees, or "street names," for those who do not care to be identified, but they can be investigated by SEC and by law officers, or by a Congressional committee which can be very unpleasant. Nevertheless the tricky operator prefers to keep or get his base money outside the United States where he can hide his methods and where he is better protected. For racketeers and ordinary thieves this is always important.

The raider finds the flaw in a corporation's methods. There are always flaws. They are always easy to find. The basic flaws are human—ambition, cupidity, deceit, disloyalty. As nobody really owns the public corporation, why should not B get hold of it as well as the man who created and built it and gave his life blood for its continued existence? And if B can get hold of it, why not C who is a traitor and who has joined with those who would make a profit by breaking it up, particularly when the real value of a company is greater than either its book value or its stock-market value, as often happens?

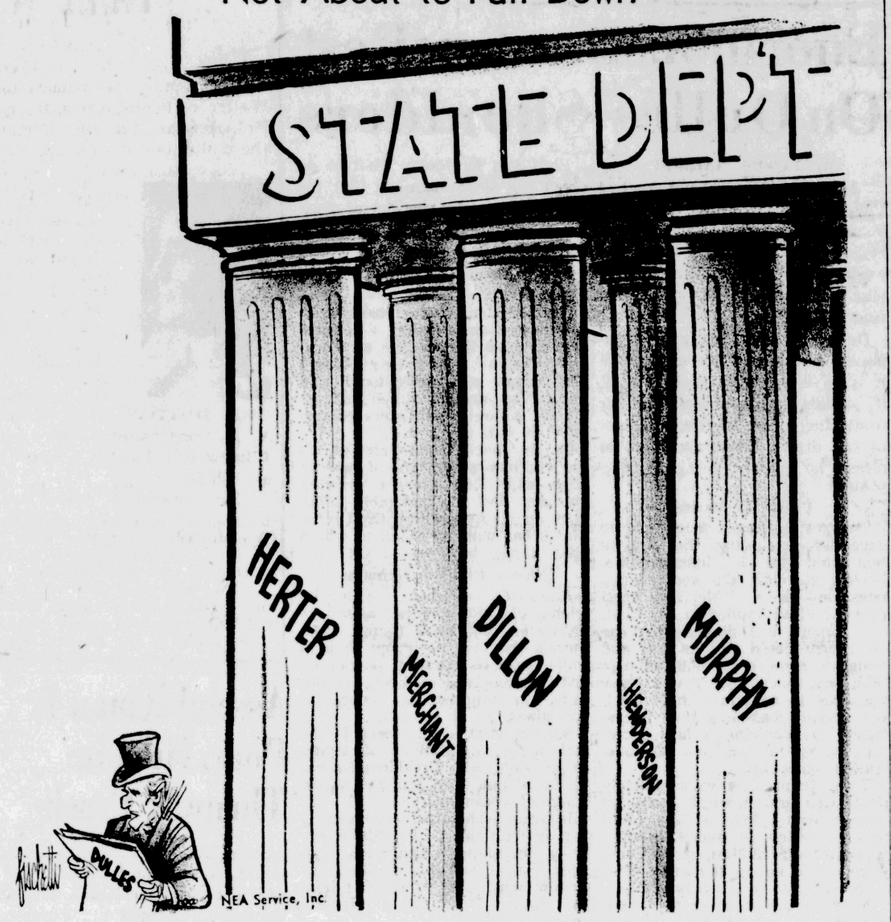

One of the most usual attacks is on expense accounts which are part of salesmanship and of public relations. The outward manifestations of success are an important part of salesmanship. That is why companies build huge buildings and banks build palaces for themselves. They are manifestations not only of success but of immediate profits and of stability. Mr. J. P. Morgan's palace at 23 Wall Street was too small for his business, much of which was conducted in an office building next door, but 23 stood out as something distinct and separate and represented power.

Similarly a corporation will want its chairman to live well, to dine his guests respectably, to entertain in genteel fashion. More big contracts are signed over good brandy than over hamburgers. But these expense accounts run high and raiders can make a noise about them which the little stockholder, who maybe does live on hamburger, does not understand. Many members of Congress do not understand the function of "prestige publicity," which is the core of the expense account.

"Playhouse 90" is to be congratulated for opening this subject. It would be interesting to see the Swiss account dramatized.

Not About to Fall Down

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — The increasing influence of Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon in shaping U. S. foreign policy along new lines makes him the man to watch in any scramble to find a successor for John Foster Dulles.

As the cold war shifts from political and military rivalry to business competition for world leadership, economic policy has become increasingly important.

In such a situation it becomes necessary to have a diplomat around with extensive practical knowledge of how international banking and trade are carried on.

Undersecretary Dillon is such a man. In the two years he has been in the State Department with supervision over international economic affairs, he has made these marks:

THE U. S. FOREIGN AID program has been shifted from a grant to a loan basis. Some grants are still necessary to countris like Korea, Formosa and Jordan. This is because their economies won't support the military establishment necessary for their defense against communism. Everywhere else, the emphasis is now on loans—not giveaway.

Last August, Undersecretary Dillion announced that the United States would support Latin American proposals for an Inter-American Development Association. This was a change in policy.

The Eisenhower administration's previous position had been that existing institutions like Export-Import and World Banks could meet all Latin-American credit needs.

Dillon, who had been head of U. S. and Foreign Securities Corp. before he became ambassador to Paris, knew the requirements for expanded foreign investment. He played a leading role in having the old policy changed.

At the World Bank and International Monetary Fund meetings in New Delhi last October, Dillon spelled out in exact terms the U. S. program for aid to needy countries. And at these same meetings U. S. Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson gave U. S. support to increasing the capital of both institutions.

WHILE DILLON RECOGNIZES the importance of government loans to developing countries, he also stresses the need for more private investment. Thus at the Columbo Plan conference in Seattle last fall, he told the Southeast Asia representatives that they must promote investments of their own nationals in new domestic enterprises. He is against having the whole burden fall on the U. S.

Delegations of American businessmen representing coal exporters, oil importers, lead and zinc miners and smelters and textile manufacturers have come out of conferences with Undersecretary Dillon impressed by his knowledge and understanding of their problems.

All of them are up against stiff foreign competition. Dillon is now principal administration advocate and spokesman for the reciprocal trade agreements program. But he also has an eye for shaping foreign policy to promote the welfare of American industry and maintain a sound economy at home.

IN A SPEECH LAST FALL before the American Management Association, Dillon put the new economic warfare between Soviet Russia and the western world in proper perspective.

Soviet Russia is not in any race with the United States to provide the most aid to underdeveloped countries and not in any trade war, he declared. The principal Communist objective is to promote tension, which he recognizes as the principal threat.

When Anastas I. Mikoyan was in the United States in January, he tried to soft-soap American business leaders into granting Russia huge credits to increase trade with the Soviet Union. It was Dillon who took him on at the showdown. And it was the shrewd Armenian trader who came out second in this deal—not the American millionaire-diplomat.

What Mikoyan wanted from the U. S. was most-favored-nation treatment. Dillon answered that American public opinon was against it. Mikoyan said: "Then you use trade for political purposes." Dillon replied calmly, "Call it that if you want." Mikoyan didn't get a thing.

Schizophrenia Has Roots Deep in History of Victim

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

There isn't the slightest doubt that one of the great problems of our age lies in the field of mental health.

During World War II, draft statistics showed that far too many of our citizens were suffering from mental ailments, or were mentally deficient to a degree which prevented them from serving their country.

No information accumulated since then leads us to any happier conclusion. Patients with mental illness occupy more hospital beds than those with any other single disease.

Today's column deals with a specific mental disease, the name of which is "schizophrenia," or "dementia praecox."

This disorder is responsible for a great deal of antisocial behavior. In many cases the victims require institutional care.

A "splitting" of the personality is the most characteristic feature. The afflicted individual may show thoroughly normal behavior in some respects and yet be completely abnormal in others. The "splitting" is supposed to be between the thinking and the emotional reactions.

The most prominent early symptom is likely to be a change in the outlook of the victim. Sometimes a patient will show an unusual amount of suspiciousness. Dear friends or relatives may be unjustly suspected of persecutions.

Quite often the first signs consist of disorderliness and lack of cleanliness. Judgment is often impaired. The patient frequently complains of hearing or seeing objects which are not there.

Peculiar kinds of thinking arise. The personality is likely to become gradually altered. Slight peculiarities and oddities often are present for some time before serious symptoms develop.

The cause of schizophrenia is not known. Sometimes mental strain or a disease seems to bring on the illness, though at other times it comes slowly, without any obvious background cause.

Heredity probably plays some part, and it has been stated that more than half of those with schizophrenia have some family history of mental illness. There are probably additional factors responsible for the development of this condition.

Damage to the personality may occur during early development in childhood. The general principles of mental hygiene, of normal happy family relationships, and healthy social attitudes would undoubtedly help prevent many cases.

But at present, sure ways of preventing schizophrenia are not known. Treatment may consist of the use of electric or insulin shock, of tranquilizers and of psychiatric advice, or combinations of these.

There are some reasons for believing that the percentage of those who recover is gradually increasing, thanks to new methods and accumulating experience.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The Democratic party held a joint session of Congress on Lincoln's birthday in lavish tribute to Carl Sandburg, a rich proletarian poet and creator of a prosperous phenomenon of the book trade and politics called the Lincoln industry. This orgy was the greatest publicity coup in the entire history of a nation which as joyously played sucker for showmen and press agents from P. T. Barnum down to Tex McCrary, who latched onto Eisenhower and went spinning, perhaps forever, in outer space when Ike's coattails tore off.

The New York Times, certainly a worldly institution, was moved to emotional gulps for Mr. Sandburg, with Lincoln as the stooge, and the shaggy Svensk from Galesburg vastly out-scored Mark Twain at his gaudiest in victorian London. Although the joint session was nominally bi-partisan, most Republicans of both chambers were out on the road revering their founding father to beat all hell, wherever a quorum could be gathered. In their absence, the Democrats had a virtual monopoly with only six Republican senators on hand and a like proportion of congressmen. A reliable journal reported that Henry Wallace sat alone with an empty seat on either side. No Democrat was radical enough to sit to his left and proximity even on bubblehead's right would have been a position closer to Browder than public opinion might approve at this stage of the cold war.

The Times, a democratic institution, seemed to fall into the widespread fallacy that Lincoln owed all to the histrionics of a posturing old showman, also a Democrat, from the grubby alleys around the old Daily News in Chicago. It gravely reported that his voice "faded away like a dying wind," a hot lick to endow him with Lincolnian godship. And, in a flagrant commercial, it said that Adlai Stevenson had said of Sandburg that he "wrote in cadences which seemed derivative." The Times blew a fuse at that point for the explanation of this geechee failed to come through. And its own derivative cadence went to default when it said, as pure reading matter, that Sandburg was "now the common sense of America."

Sandburg is, in fact, in the common sense of practical men, a toiling sexton who has exhumed millions of old bones, ivoried teeth and arrowheads of superstition and fact and built them into an insufferable effigy of a man who told dirty stories to make his points, scratched himself in public and waved his fork with meat on it, but all in honest, uncouth innocence, and would have recoiled in horror at a commercial nomination for God Almighty. Sandburg is, in further fact, a shrewd vulgarian who perceives, in common with Will Rogers and Adolf Hitler, the winsomeness of the wayward forelock flopping down over his eyes. He is a minstrel of the homespun school of doggerel and affectation, following the steps of Richard Henry Little, a founder of the cult in the same period of Chicago journalism. Little defended "ain't" long before Rogers adopted it for his own along with the split-nickel tip and now comes Sandburg crying "ain't" as though it were a holy watchword.

The New York Times was not the only victim of this queer mass mania although its page one display of Sandburg was considerably the more alarming to citizens who look to the Times for calm judgment. The building shook when the eulogist in Washington laid it down that Sandburg, who made his fortune out of the past, hounding Lincoln into the beyond the grave, is a poet who sings only of the future.

Although Washington is crawling with journalists deemed to be the best of a loosening profession, not one of them exposed the professional mechanics of ballyhoo which enabled Sandburg to stand before Congress, and, inferentially, eulogize himself and promote royalties for his own books and profits for his publishers. It was a magnificent stroke, the better it was not even noticed even by the Republicans.

Sandburg told me long ago that he used to augment his $60 a month as heavy-hitting outfield for the Galesburg club of the Three-Eye League by sweeping hair and whiskers out of the hotel barbershop on Saturday nights. I reverently submit that the master might well spend $1.50 for a haircut in the same shop and leave 50 cents for the barber. This might come hard but he would hardly miss the money out of an income, mainly from the Lincoln Eldorado, which has exceeded the joint revenues of Twain, Tennyson and Dickens.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — While British and Russian leaders discuss today in the Kremlin the expansion of trade between their countries, some American businessmen are warning that the Reds already are out to upset U. S. domestic markets and disrupt foreign trade.

Stepping Up Tactics

Most of the American protests have come from Russian sales of metals on world markets. But some now see the Soviets stepping up their nuisance tactics in other fields.

A current example is the offering here of Communist made laboratory equipment for schools. The state owned Red factories can put any price they like on such items.

Other recent examples are the sale to an American firm of benzene — a byproduct of the petroleum industry which domestic producers have sold here heretofore; and the sale here of Russian bleached sulphite wood pulp used in making quality printing and writing papers.

Nuisance Value

American companies say the sales have propaganda value and above all nuisance value. The sales can upset markets for a time and put some pressure on American price structures.

James J. Ritchie, executive director of the U. S. Pulp Producers Assn., says less than 300 tons of the Russian pulp have come here. But he sees it as part of Soviet plans to wage economic warfare.

Russia has had more dramatic results in the metals markets. She undersold Canada in the British aluminum market. This lead Canadian producers to cut aluminum prices. American companies had to follow suit.

The world tin market was badly disrupted when Russia stepped up its sale of tin to nine times what it had sold in 1956.

Russian sales of zinc and lead also added to the many other troubles of these metals while prices were tumbling. With American mines closing, the U. S. government moved to curb the flow of imports from whatever outside source.

Communist countries also have offered some petroleum products, on world markets in recent months.

The Russians have made no secret of their intent to fight for more world markets and to wage economic warfare. They count on both its propaganda value and on the disadvantage to which it puts privately owned companies.

The Mature Parent

Forced Promises Will Not Always Inspire Truth

One night when he was 10 he'd started upstairs to bed when his mother said, "Aren't you going to kiss me good night, dear?"

He shook his head. "No," he said virtuously. "I can't. My hygiene teacher says that kissing spreads germs and isn't sanitary."

His mother smiled at this sudden scientific concern for world health, but his father didn't. He said, "Come over here and let me smell your breath." His suspicion was confirmed. "When Smitty and you were out in the garage after supper tonight, you were smoking, weren't you?" he said. "How long has this been going on?"

When he'd learned how long, he made a speech on the affect of nicotine on growth and said, "Now I want a promise from you. I want you to promise me that you won't smoke again until you're 21,'"

He got the promise. But it wasn't kept.

And because it wasn't kept, shame was added to the anxiety involved with the disobedience. When he broke the promise the child not only had to feel, "This is the puff that may turn me into a runt." He also had to feel, "I am such a stinker for breaking my promise I deserve to be a runt."

As a result, he became very cocky and defiant. To offset the self-contempt created by the broken promise, he felt obliged to pretend that he knew more about everything than his parents—and became quite a discipline problem until the truth about his weakness was revealed and absorbed.

Let's go slow on forcing promises from children.

Because promises are pledges of future action. To promise you that I'll repay you money I owe you next Friday, I need trust in my power to control any unforeseen circumstances that might obstruct my getting the money. To give you a promise in good faith, I need considerable good faith in myself.

Forcing promises from children can demand more faith in themselves than they developed. If those unforeseen temptations turn out to be uncontrollable, they have to break the promises—and start despising themselves. Their shame may end communication between us. To live alone with this feeling indefinitely can be quite as detrimental to their growth as nicotine.

So let's find methods other than forced promises to make these points to them.

Colonie Girl Is Burned in Garage Gas Explosion

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—An 11-year-old girl was in fair condition in a Schenectady hospital today after suffering burns about the face, chest, legs and arms in a gas explosion.

Christine Jennings ran to a neighbor's, home with her clothing in flames yesterday following the blast, which wrecked the kitchen and garage of her home in suburban Colonie.

Police said Christine and a sister, Marjorie, 6, were playing in a garage when the explosion occurred. Marjorie's hair was singed and her knees scorched but she did not require hospital treatment.

A spokesman for the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. said the gas leaked from a valve box underground in front of the home and was ignited by a space heater in the garage.

Mrs. John Jennings, the mother, and four other children escaped injury. Christine's father was enroute home from work.

Fire, smoke and water also damaged the home. There was no estimate of the loss.

Ex-Tax Collector Gets Suspended Term

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — A former state tax collector who was charged with theft has been given a suspended sentence and placed on probation.

Harold F. Moyer, indicted on six counts of second-degree grand larceny in the shortage of $5,000 in state funds, pleaded guilty Tuesday to one count, the theft of $147.25 on Dec. 13, 1955.

Judge Donald H. Mead suspended a 2½-to-5-year prison sentence.

Moyer was arrested last Oct. 8 after he was fired from his job as senior collector in the Syracuse office of the State Department of Taxation and Finance.

School Issue Is Beaten 5th Time By Port Voters

PORT JERVIS, N. Y. (AP)—It's an old story by now: A $3,350,000 bond issue for construction of a high school and an elementary school can't muster enough votes in this Orange County community.

The issue was turned down Tuesday night for the fifth time in four years. Needing a 60 per cent affirmative vote for passage, it fell short by 3 per cent. A total of 1,178 votes "yes," 878 votes "no" and 15 expressed no choice.

New Setup Will Speed Claims for State-Seized Land

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A new program will help the state speed payments on property taken for highways and other public projects, two state officials maintain.

Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz and Public Works Supt. J. Burch McMorran said in a joint announcement Tuesday that attorneys from the Law Department had been assigned to district offices of the Public Works Department to help handle claims.

They said this should allow the state to make payments within 90 days after agreements had been reached with property owners.

The Law Department said that, in the past, more than a year went by before some claims were paid.

Eight senior attorneys from the Law Department have been assigned to district offices. A ninth will be assigned to the Hornell office shortly, the department said.

The main office of the Real Property Bureau of the Law Department will handle Albany district claims.

Subpoenas Fail To Turn Up Two 'Juke' Witnesses

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Chicago gangster barons wanted for questioning in connection with the violence-plagued jukebox-amusement machine rackets are mysteriously missing, Senate investigators said today.

Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel of the Senate Labor-Management Committee, said his subpoena servers have tried and failed for nearly a year to catch up with Sam (Mooney) Giancana and Ralph Capone, brother of the late Chicago gang czar, Al Capone. Kennedy has described Giancana as chief gunman for the successors to the old Capone mob.

The committee hopes to wind up by nightfall its hearings on allegations that gangsters, in league with some corrupt labor union officials, have imposed a rule of terror on thousands of coin machine operators in Chicago and its suburbs.

As major witnesses for the wind-up session Kennedy listed Hyman Larner, executive secretary and boss of the Chicago Independent Amusement Assn., and Fred Tom Smith, boss of the coin machine division of Local 134, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Committee staff investigators testified Tuesday the association was a front for mobsters to join the association and pay protection money of a dollar a month for every machine in the Chicago area.

Colonie Girl Is Burned in Garage Gas Explosion

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—An 11-year-old girl was in fair condition in a Schenectady hospital today after suffering burns about the face, chest, legs and arms in a gas explosion.

Christine Jennings ran to a neighbor's, home with her clothing in flames yesterday following the blast, which wrecked the kitchen and garage of her home in suburban Colonie.

Police said Christine and a sister, Marjorie, 6, were playing in a garage when the explosion occurred. Marjorie's hair was singed and her knees scorched but she did not require hospital treatment.

A spokesman for the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. said the gas leaked from a valve box underground in front of the home and was ignited by a space heater in the garage.

Mrs. John Jennings, the mother, and four other children escaped injury. Christine's father was enroute home from work.

Fire, smoke and water also damaged the home. There was no estimate of the loss.

WELDING THE CURTAIN TIGHTER — Gradually and quietly, the economies of the Soviet bloc nations in Europe are being geared together. Goal is to synchronize the industrial output of all the Communist countries with Russia's just-launched Seven Year Plan. Newsmap above illustrates how production of certain items is divided among East Germany, Poland, Russia, Czechoslovakia and Hungary. Also, how members of the bloc are investing in each other's development. Quantities to be produced, and monopolies in some fields, have been worked out under the watchful eye of the U.S.S.R., upon whose markets and materials the satellite nations are greatly dependent.

Ex-Tax Collector Gets Suspended Term

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — A former state tax collector who was charged with theft has been given a suspended sentence and placed on probation.

Harold F. Moyer, indicted on six counts of second-degree grand larceny in the shortage of $5,000 in state funds, pleaded guilty Tuesday to one count, the theft of $147.25 on Dec. 13, 1955.

Judge Donald H. Mead suspended a 2½-to-5-year prison sentence.

Moyer was arrested last Oct. 8 after he was fired from his job as senior collector in the Syracuse office of the State Department of Taxation and Finance.

School Issue Is Beaten 5th Time By Port Voters

PORT JERVIS, N. Y. (AP)—It's an old story by now: A $3,350,000 bond issue for construction of a high school and an elementary school can't muster enough votes in this Orange County community.

The issue was turned down Tuesday night for the fifth time in four years. Needing a 60 per cent affirmative vote for passage, it fell short by 3 per cent. A total of 1,178 votes "yes," 878 votes "no" and 15 expressed no choice.

New Setup Will Speed Claims for State-Seized Land

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A new program will help the state speed payments on property taken for highways and other public projects, two state officials maintain.

Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz and Public Works Supt. J. Burch McMorran said in a joint announcement Tuesday that attorneys from the Law Department had been assigned to district offices of the Public Works Department to help handle claims.

They said this should allow the state to make payments within 90 days after agreements had been reached with property owners.

The Law Department said that, in the past, more than a year went by before some claims were paid.

Eight senior attorneys from the Law Department have been assigned to district offices. A ninth will be assigned to the Hornell office shortly, the department said.

The main office of the Real Property Bureau of the Law Department will handle Albany district claims.

Wage Rate Listed For Amusement Industry Workers

New basic minimum wage rates for workers in the amusement and recreation industry become effective March 1, State Industrial Commissioner M. P. Catherwood pointed out today. The changes take place under a revised wage order promulgated late last year.

As of March 1, the minimum hourly rate becomes one dollar for the industry. On October 1, of this year, it goes to $1.05. The previous hourly minimum was 75 cents.

Commissioner Catherwood also pointed out that the new wage order sets certain special rates within the industry as follows:

Theatre Workers

For the occupations of cashier, cleaner, porter and matrons other than children's matrons in motion picture theaters, the order sets a minimum hourly rate of 90 cents until March 1, 1960, when it becomes one dollar. For ticket-takers and doormen in motion picture theatres, the hourly rate is 85 cents until March 1, 1960 when it, too, becomes one dollar. For ushers, children's matrons, ramp and checkroom attendants, other unclassified service staff workers, and messengers in motion picture theatres, the order sets an hourly rate of 75 cents.

Pinsetters, Caddies

Beach chair and umbrella attendants, cabana boys and locker room attendants at beaches and pools are required to be paid a minimum of 75 cents an hour under the new order. For pinsetters in bowling alleys, the minimum pay is 13 cents a line. Ushers at sports exhibitions must receive a minimum of $4 per event. For golf caddies, the minimum pay is $1.25 per bag for each round of nine holes or less and $2.25 per bag for each round of 10 to 18 holes.

The rates in the new order are statewide, with no differentials in regard to size of community.

Will Visit U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rector of the University of Sao Paulo, Brazil, has started on a month-long trip which will take him to some of the principal universities in the United States.

He will visit Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., March 15.

Dr. Gabriel S. Teixeira de Carvalho said Tuesday he wanted to study university organization and administration, with especial emphasis on problems of finance, admissions, faculty recruitment and accreditation.

Dr. Teixeira is visiting the United States under the State Department's leader program.

The University of Sao Paulo has nine thousand students.

BE MY GUEST—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev (right) is the perfect host as he shows British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to his conference seat in Moscow. U.S. Won't Budge

of the United Nations already are bound by such pacts.

Any agreements entered into separately with the Soviet Union would have to be effectively drawn to give them any value, he said.

Rules Out Summit

SUMMIT CONFERENCE — Eisenhower said he feels it would be a great mistake to go to any summit conference with the Russians unless adequate preparations were made in advance.

NUCLEAR TESTS—Eisenhower spoke out emphatically against writing veto power into any Western agreement with Russia regarding suspension of nuclear weapons tests.

Any time there is veto power, such as the Soviets want, the whole purpose of the program is defeated, Eisenhower said.

He added there must be some sort of substantial proof that each side is doing exactly what it promised to do.

Explains Tax Program

WAGE-PRICE — Eisenhower said it must be kept in mind that the nation's income tax program is based on profits. He said that if profits are worked down to the zero point, then another way will have to be found to run the government.

He made that comment when told that Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) has suggested that the steel industry forego any price increase if the Steel Workers Union would agree to hold any wage hike to whatever might be merited by an increase in productivity.

Eisenhower replied that it is possible the industry could get along without a price hike if a wage rise were measured only by the single criteria of productivity increase.

It was at that point that Eisenhower remarked we should not be so prone to decry industry profits.

No '60 Preferences

POLITICS — Eisenhower refused to be drawn out regarding any preference he may have on a GOP presidential nominee in 1960. A reporter recalled that Eisenhower said recently that he could name 10 or a dozen virile possibilities for the GOP nomination.

Eisenhower said he had been talking not about possible nominees, but men he could support after nomination.

Asked whether he will encourage the candidacy of any particular aspirants for the nomination, Eisenhower replied he has carefully avoided saying anything for or against anyone.

He said political parties present a certain facade or face, and that in the case of the Republican party some aspects of that facade have been distorted unfairly.

Eisenhower said anew that the party wants a group of people dedicated to the advancement of our economy, strong defense, and those who believe we can destroy ourselves by unwise taxing and spending.

Bills on Atomic Energy

Republican-backed bills on atomic energy would:

1. Create an Office of Atomic Development in the Executive Department to plan state participation in industrial, research and education programs in nuclear energy.

2. Allow the state to contribute one million dollars to help the University of Buffalo build a nuclear research center.

Gov. Rockefeller has asked for the legislation setting up an atomic-development office, which he promised during his campaign.

Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney sponsored the bill for the state grant for the University of Buffalo. The money would come from the capital construction fund.

Other Developments

In other legislative developments:

The governor signed a bill creating the Office of Transportation in the Executive Department.

The Senate Rules Committee sponsored legislation to set a $10 annual tax on each coin-operated machine. The bill exempts telephones, publicly-owned machines and machines that dispense food.

Sen. MacNeil Mitchell (R-Manhattan) filed a proposal to exempt taxicab operators from the two-cent-per-gallon increase in state gasoline taxes.

Would Correlate Programs

The Office of Atomic Development proposed in the Republican program bill would correlate atomic development programs of private industry, government agencies and research and education groups. It also would set safety standards for nuclear programs.

The Republican majorities in the Legislature passed a bill last year to set up an atomic energy council. Former Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman vetoed it. He said the state should have a permanent agency in that field.

Harriman also vetoed the Mahoney bill for the nuclear center. The Democratic governor said it would be against state policy to provide funds for a private project.

The chief assignments of the new transportation office will be dealing with commuter and other problems of railroads, which complain of heavy losses in passenger operations.

Mitchell's bills to refund the increase is another in a series that have been filed since the increase in the gas tax was passed. Operators of taxis, busses and trucks have complained the increase, effective March 1, may force them to raise rates.

Wage Rate Listed For Amusement Industry Workers

New basic minimum wage rates for workers in the amusement and recreation industry become effective March 1, State Industrial Commissioner M. P. Catherwood pointed out today. The changes take place under a revised wage order promulgated late last year.

As of March 1, the minimum hourly rate becomes one dollar for the industry. On October 1, of this year, it goes to $1.05. The previous hourly minimum was 75 cents.

Commissioner Catherwood also pointed out that the new wage order sets certain special rates within the industry as follows:

Theatre Workers

For the occupations of cashier, cleaner, porter and matrons other than children's matrons in motion picture theaters, the order sets a minimum hourly rate of 90 cents until March 1, 1960, when it becomes one dollar. For ticket-takers and doormen in motion picture theatres, the hourly rate is 85 cents until March 1, 1960 when it, too, becomes one dollar. For ushers, children's matrons, ramp and checkroom attendants, other unclassified service staff workers, and messengers in motion picture theatres, the order sets an hourly rate of 75 cents.

Pinsetters, Caddies

Beach chair and umbrella attendants, cabana boys and locker room attendants at beaches and pools are required to be paid a minimum of 75 cents an hour under the new order. For pinsetters in bowling alleys, the minimum pay is 13 cents a line. Ushers at sports exhibitions must receive a minimum of $4 per event. For golf caddies, the minimum pay is $1.25 per bag for each round of nine holes or less and $2.25 per bag for each round of 10 to 18 holes.

The rates in the new order are statewide, with no differentials in regard to size of community.

Will Visit U.S.

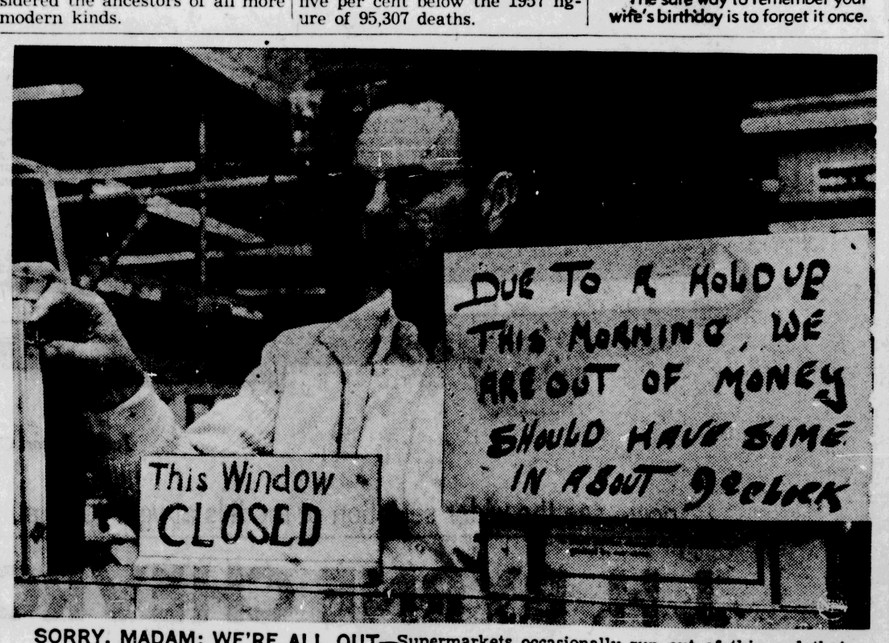

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rector of the University of Sao Paulo, Brazil, has started on a month-long trip which will take him to some of the principal universities in the United States.

He will visit Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., March 15.

Dr. Gabriel S. Teixeira de Carvalho said Tuesday he wanted to study university organization and administration, with especial emphasis on problems of finance, admissions, faculty recruitment and accreditation.

Dr. Teixeira is visiting the United States under the State Department's leader program.

The University of Sao Paulo has nine thousand students.

SORRY, MADAM; WE'RE ALL OUT—Supermarkets occasionally run out of this and that food product, but here's one that's out of money. Manager Tommy Thompson of a Fort Worth, Tex., market had to put up a sign informing customers why there was no money in the till. Two robbers took about $4,000 early that morning.

BE MY GUEST—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev (right) is the perfect host as he shows British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to his conference seat in Moscow. Speaking after the first round of his so-called "little summit" talks with MacMillan, Khrushchev rejected the West's latest proposal for a Big Four foreign ministers conference on Germany. (NEA Radio-Telephoto)

of the United Nations already are bound by such pacts.

Any agreements entered into separately with the Soviet Union would have to be effectively drawn to give them any value, he said.

Rules Out Summit

SUMMIT CONFERENCE — Eisenhower said he feels it would be a great mistake to go to any summit conference with the Russians unless adequate preparations were made in advance.

NUCLEAR TESTS—Eisenhower spoke out emphatically against writing veto power into any Western agreement with Russia regarding suspension of nuclear weapons tests.

Any time there is veto power, such as the Soviets want, the whole purpose of the program is defeated, Eisenhower said.

He added there must be some sort of substantial proof that each side is doing exactly what it promised to do.

Explains Tax Program

WAGE-PRICE — Eisenhower said it must be kept in mind that the nation's income tax program is based on profits. He said that if profits are worked down to the zero point, then another way will have to be found to run the government.

He made that comment when told that Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) has suggested that the steel industry forego any price increase if the Steel Workers Union would agree to hold any wage hike to whatever might be merited by an increase in productivity.

Eisenhower replied that it is possible the industry could get along without a price hike if a wage rise were measured only by the single criteria of productivity increase.

It was at that point that Eisenhower remarked we should not be so prone to decry industry profits.

No '60 Preferences

POLITICS — Eisenhower refused to be drawn out regarding any preference he may have on a GOP presidential nominee in 1960. A reporter recalled that Eisenhower said recently that he could name 10 or a dozen virile possibilities for the GOP nomination.

Eisenhower said he had been talking not about possible nominees, but men he could support after nomination.

Asked whether he will encourage the candidacy of any particular aspirants for the nomination, Eisenhower replied he has carefully avoided saying anything for or against anyone.

He said political parties present a certain facade or face, and that in the case of the Republican party some aspects of that facade have been distorted unfairly.

Eisenhower said anew that the party wants a group of people dedicated to the advancement of our economy, strong defense, and those who believe we can destroy ourselves by unwise taxing and spending.

Strangled in Crib

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The 2-year-old daughter of a Saratoga Springs, N. Y., pharmacist strangled to death Tuesday when she apparently became entangled in a cloth strap on her portable crib.

She was Barbara Kaye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Kaye The girl and her parents were vacationing here.

Bill Backs . . .

the span be toll-operated until it is cleared of bonded indebtedness and eliminates the necessity of the state public works superintendent giving final approval to toll rates set by the authority.

Bills on Atomic Energy

Republican-backed bills on atomic energy would:

1. Create an Office of Atomic Development in the Executive Department to plan state participation in industrial, research and education programs in nuclear energy.

2. Allow the state to contribute one million dollars to help the University of Buffalo build a nuclear research center.

Gov. Rockefeller has asked for the legislation setting up an atomic-development office, which he promised during his campaign.

Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney sponsored the bill for the state grant for the University of Buffalo. The money would come from the capital construction fund.

Other Developments

In other legislative developments:

The governor signed a bill creating the Office of Transportation in the Executive Department.

The Senate Rules Committee sponsored legislation to set a $10 annual tax on each coin-operated machine. The bill exempts telephones, publicly-owned machines and machines that dispense food.

Sen. MacNeil Mitchell (R-Manhattan) filed a proposal to exempt taxicab operators from the two-cent-per-gallon increase in state gasoline taxes.

Would Correlate Programs

The Office of Atomic Development proposed in the Republican program bill would correlate atomic development programs of private industry, government agencies and research and education groups. It also would set safety standards for nuclear programs.

The Republican majorities in the Legislature passed a bill last year to set up an atomic energy council. Former Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman vetoed it. He said the state should have a permanent agency in that field.

Harriman also vetoed the Mahoney bill for the nuclear center. The Democratic governor said it would be against state policy to provide funds for a private project.

The chief assignments of the new transportation office will be dealing with commuter and other problems of railroads, which complain of heavy losses in passenger operations.

Mitchell's bills to refund the increase is another in a series that have been filed since the increase in the gas tax was passed. Operators of taxis, busses and trucks have complained the increase, effective March 1, may force them to raise rates.

Regrets to Congrats

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—At a city commission meeting a letter of resignation from Mrs. A. F. Gerken, a member of the safety council, was read. It was suggested it be accepted with regret. "Oh, no, not with regret," said Commissioner June Benson. "She's leaving to have a baby." The resignation was accepted with congratulations.

Round Problem

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — How big a hole should be allowed in a doughnut? The question was put to the weights and measures department here by a lady who estimated she had lost $3.75 because one brand had oversized holes. The manufacturer gave her $4 worth as compensation.

Gotham Warning

Be Honest Or Quit, Cops Told

NEW YORK (AP) — Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy, angered by scandals that have shaken his department of late, has issued this warning to new policemen: Be honest or quit.

"If you have any idea of becoming a grafter — and don't forget you will be tempted — then withdraw," Kennedy told 136 probationary policemen at swearing-in ceremonies Tuesday.

Police brass did not escape the commissioner's wrath. He lectured 146 high police officials, ordered to attend the ceremonies:

"To the extent that you set a good example, they will become good policemen. To the extent that you fail, they will fail."

The top officials were told illegal gambling is "a malignant cancer, which if unchecked will spread and kill every element of the police department."

Kennedy has been campaigning against any tolerance of bookmaking or other illegal gambling since the recent arrest of three members of the Brooklyn morals squad on corruption charges.

Advise Veterans, Others to Check Up on Benefits

Veterans, members of the armed forces and their dependents who are now residents of New York State were urged today by Charles L. Culver, counselor, New York State Division of Veterans Affairs, and Howard C. Shurter, director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, to call at the Division and Agency office whenever they have a question concerning their entitlement to veterans benefits.

They listed the following categories as being areas of interest to veterans, members of the armed forces and their dependents: G. I. loans, insurance, educational opportunities, disability pension, reemployment rights and others.

Some veteran benefits are automatic, others must be applied for. New laws and changing regulations affecting the veteran or his dependents or survivors may be of great importance to the veteran and his family now or in the future. It is a wise veteran, Culver and Shurter continued, that keeps his affairs and his records up-to-date by periodic checks with a veteran counselor. It may mean a great deal financially to his family in the future and alleviate confusion, loss of benefits, and hardships in the time of distress.

Veterans in this area should call on the local office of the Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency for a personal interview. A counselor at that office will give individual attention to the questions and affairs of each veteran. The address is 32 Main Street, with branch offices in Ellenville, Highland, Kerhonkson and Saugerties.

Meany Staying

by Congress and the administration.

Meany reportedly felt this was too drastic. One word led to another. There was a good deal of cussing. Reuther and Carey charged Meany was trying to dictate AFL-CIO policies.

The upshot is that Meany and other federation leaders agreed to beef up their forthcoming Washington unemployment demonstration.

It won't be the mass march on the capital Reuther had in mind. But it is now planned to fill the capital's big armory with 3,000 to 4,000 idle workers and union officials and possibly stage a parade down Pennsylvania Avenue.

AT WASHINGTON DINNER — Principals attending the Washington Day dinner sponsored by the Men's Club of the Old Dutch Church were (seated l-r) Fred Suppies, president; the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor; the Rev. Dr. William Alexander, guest speaker; standing, Edward DeDitt, member of committee; Mayor Edwin F. Radel, Schuyler Wiedner, member of committee; Clair Sheaffer, general chairman of dinner and Harry Rigby Jr., who talked on "Looking Backward Over 300 Years." Dr. Alexander, pastor of the First Christian Church of Oklahoma, urged churchmen to participate in politics, not sit off at a distance . . . Make God's will felt. Strong men are the hope of the Christian church, which should be a guide to daily living, he said. His subject was "The Power to Become." (Freeman photo).

Clean Up Politics

answer in the world today, or part of the problem.

Asks Four Questions

He posed four questions, pointing out that the person who could answer all of them in the affirmative is part of the answer rather than the problem:

1. Do you have a wholesome positive attitude toward life?
2. Do you have a self fit to live with?
3. Do you have a world fit to live in?
4. Do you have a philosophy to live by?

Dr. Alexander said the most important thing wasn't what happened to an individual so much as what he lets what happens to him do to him.

Gloomy Ones Detriment

He pointed out that the greatest enemy of the church is not the atheist but the negative, gloomy Christian. "I'm glad you don't have any in the Old Dutch Church," he quipped, drawing a roar of laughter. Laughter was one of Dr. Alexander's specialties and he kept his audience in stitches a substantial part of the time. He said he would not apologize for his jokes, that there is religion in laughter.

He said the church would never capture young people by saying, "Don't do this. Don't do that." The answer, he pointed out, is to give young people a positive program "and you'll never have an empty seat in your sanctuary." He urged his audience to believe in young people and "prove" that you believe in them, pointing out that this was one of the secrets of the power of Jesus Christ—the fact that he believed in people.

'Ideas Rule Men'

"We are what we believe," he stated, pointing out that "ideas rule men" and force them into life where such ideas become weapons which could be wielded like gladiators. He described the Christian idea as the most practical "that ever came down the pike."

He said men should seek to realize "God's dream," such dream as the cessation of wars, that love of humanity should prevail, that men should love one another, that white man shall call black man brother, etc.

He urged his audience, as good churchmen, to help make God's dreams come true.

Clair Sheaffer, general chairman of the dinner, expressed the appreciation of the club to Dr. Alexander as the minister concluded: "Dr. Alexander, you have inspired us and you have challenged us."

Recalls Washington Visit

Harry Rigby Jr., prominent historian and civic leader, spoke briefly before Dr. Alexander was introduced. His topic was "Looking Backward Over 300 Years."

He recalled that George Washington visited the Old Dutch Church in 1782, that the church had flourished under three flags, weathered many vicissitudes and grown from a dozen members to its present congregation of more than 800. The church is mother of 39 other congregations, including three in New Jersey and one in Pennsylvania.

There are signs that the pioneering spirit is not dead, Rigby concluded. "My wish is that the record of the future may fully equal the glory of the past."

Makes Introduction

President Fred Suppies of the Men's Club brought greetings to members and guests, expressing his appreciation to all who contributed to the success of the evening. He then introduced Sheaffer who, in turn, introduced the Rev. William Gow, new minister of education at the church, Charles Pope, new minister of music, and "our hardworking and much-photographed" Mayor Edwin F. Radel.

Mayor Radel expressed his pleasure at being present and wished the club great success during 1959.

Praises Oudemool

Dr. Alexander, in his opening remarks, said he had never before preached in a church 300 years old, praised Rigby's speech on church history and complimented the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, minister of the Old Dutch Church, saying it was a great privilege for him to be here "with your fine minister." He said he didn't know any minister he'd rather have "for my Dominie."

The audience enjoyed musical renditions by the King's Chorus directed by Donald Romme. It also participated in group singing led by James Little of the Old Dutch Church. Roger Baer rendered dinner music at the organ. The dinner, prepared by the Women's Guild, was much praised by those present, including the Rev. Dr. Alexander himself.

Baptist Scouts Place First in Merit Badge Show

Troop 6 Scouts sponsored by the First Baptist Church was awarded first place at the Kingston District Boy Scouts Merit Badge Exposition Saturday, February 21 at the Municipal Auditorium.

Troop 11, St. James Methodist Church and Troop 3, St. Joseph's Church were awarded second and third prize respectively.

The subjects of the booths were Troop 6, Astronomy; Troop 11, Woodworking; Troop 3, Citizenship; Troop 4, Fair Street Church, Railroading; Troop 9, Redeemer Lutheran Church, Safety; Troop 12, Old Dutch Church, Pioneering; Troop 18, St. Mary's Church, Coin Collecting; and Troop 26 of Port Ewen Reformed Church, Business. Booths were set up in the morning and opened for demonstration in the afternoon.

Many Other Booths

Additional booths were set up by the State Conservation Department, Kingston Pistol Club and the Uniformed Firemen's Association. The Conservation booth stressed tree conservation and attracted considerable interest with a working model sawmill. The Kingston Pistol Club had a collection of firearms on display and emphasized safety. The firemen demonstrated the use of fire equipment.

Good interest was shown by adults and Scouts alike throughout the afternoon.

The evening session from 7 to 9 was given to contests. At the opening ceremony Mayor Edwin F. Radel spoke to the Scouts complimenting them on their Merit Badge Show held in the afternoon. He encouraged them to do their best in Scouting for it gives them outdoor skills and citizenship training. The mayor said he was fond of the out of doors himself. He complimented the leaders and thanked them for giving their time to youth. Such service is a great help in building our future citizens.

Troop 3 Leads Relays

The Scouts then started on their relay contests which included the first aid chair carry, the izzy dizzy relay, pass the message, balloon soccer, distance judging, strip down relay race. The roof was raised as each of the contests reached the scoring point for competition was keen.

Troop 3 placed first, Troop 26 second and Troop 4 and Troop 6 tied for third.

The day's program was carried out under the leadership of Harry Muise, activities chairman and Edward Safford, district commissioner. They were assisted by Stewart Farley, Lewis Wallace, Gordon Craig Jr., Robert Greene, Jerry Blair, and Explorer Scouts from Post 4, 6, 10, 12 and 19.

GE Tries to Upset

event of a national emergency, domestic production capacity could be restored only after years of effort and millions of dollars of expense."

Criticizes Award

GE said the City of Los Angeles currently is evaluating bids from both domestic and foreign manufacturers for two steam turbine-generator units.

Rep. Lane specifically criticized the award by Medina Electric Cooperative, Hondo, Tex., to the Brown-Bovere Co. of Switzerland of a contract for construction of two generators. GE's Lynn, Mass. plant also bid on the contract.

The Massachusetts congressman said "It is apparent that the Swiss company has the inside track" on a third Medina generator, and that it probably will secure the Los Angeles contract.

Would Affect Jobs

"If we do not act promptly to reverse the loss suffered by General Electric," Lane said, "the door will be opened to a flood of imports that will put our turbine manufacturing facilities out of business, and will displace thousands of American workers.

"Where funds of the United States government are borrowed for use in this country, we must insist that the borrowers shall 'buy American.'"

Tough Sailing: No Water

STONEHAM, Mass. (AP) — The unscheduled "launching" of a 24-foot boat damaged two automobiles and sent a motorist to the hospital. When Ulric G. LaChapelle Jr., 32, lost control of his car, it bounced off a utility pole, shot into a driveway and plowed into a cradle-trailer on which the boat was being built.

Two More GOP Assemblymen to Oppose Budget

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Two more Republican assemblymen cast their lot today with the growing rebel movement against Gov. Rockefeller's record tax and spending plan.

Assemblymen Lucio F. Russo and Edward J. Amann Jr., both of Staten Island, declared that "under no circumstances" would they vote for Rockefeller's plan for cutting personal income-tax exemptions.

They thus raised to 10 the number of GOP assemblymen who have revolted openly against the GOP governor's fiscal program. Others among the 92 Republicans in the Assembly have been grumbling behind the scenes.

Amann and Russo put themselves clearly on record as Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck prepared to return to the Capital from a Boston hospital for next week's showdown over the budget.

With Democrats aligned solidly against a cut in exemptions, Heck would have to muster 76 of his 92 assemblymen to pass any budget that reduced exemptions. This is the method Rockefeller chose for raising taxes.

Racial Unrest Is

the protectorate of Northern Rhodesia.

Summons White Reservists

To cope with the swelling movement, Sir Roy Welensky, prime minister of the Rhodesia-Nyasaland Federation, summoned thousands of young white reservists for intensive training. They will be stationed in principal cities to bolster the army and polce.

Welensky said his aim was to "maintain peace and essential respect for law and order throughout the federation."

There are only 6,000 whites in Nyasaland — tea and tobacco growing region of three million Africans. The two Rhodesias have 250,000 whites and 4½ million blacks, and the whites of Southern Rhodesia dominate the federation government.

Banda wants Nyasaland to join Kenya and Tanganyika, neighboring territories under British control. He apparently thinks the militant nationalist leadership in Kenya will hasten a break from British control.

Kenya is a British colony, Tanganyika a U.N. Trust territory administered by Britain.

Question of Book Value as Measure Of a Stock Price

Q. J. S., Kentucky, writes, "In watching recent annual reports I noticed that Goodrich Rubber has a book value of $45.56 while Goodyear's is $47.24. At present price of 84, Goodrich is therfore now selling at 1.8 times its book value while Goodyear at 124 is 2.6 times. Does this mean that Goodrich is a better buy than Goodyear?"

A. Book value per share is simply the net worth of the stock and is obtained from the corporate balance sheet. It is computed by subtracting current liabilities, long-term debt and the liquidating price of any preferred stock, from the company's assets and dividing the answer by the number of shares outstanding. Book value can be quite artificial, as many of the items that go into it, such as inventories, plant and machinery would not command the dollars that they are carried at on the balance sheet if a company were forced to liquidate. While book value acts as a support or floor for a stock if it sells off badly, there is no hard-and-fast relationship between book value and the price of a stock which labels it underpriced and a bargain. Far more important is the ability of the management to utilize the assets under its control to produce earning power.

Book value, however, is useful in evaluating a new or little known company and firms in bankruptcy as it gives a clue to what shareholders might receive in liquidation. For large companies such as Goodrich and Goodyear, however, earnings and dividends records and the future outlook for the company are far more useful than book value in measuring market worth. At the present time we think that Goodyear is a better buy than Goodrich because its net last year was at a new high, while Goodrich profit fell 9.9%. Its stock is also selling at a lower price-earnings ratio than Goodrich and it is a good candidate for a stock split.

Q. A good friend in Dallas, Pennsylvania, has noted that Nicholson File, an old and respected New England firm, has announced plans to close its Providence, R. I., plant and consolidate the work done there at its Anderson, Indiana, and Philadelphia factories. The friend wonders what the transition will mean for the company and its stockholders.

A. I have been acquainted with Nicholson File for many years and have always liked the company even though its profits have been in a downward trend in most of the post-war era. I think at this time the company is of particular interest. It appears that a recent program of diversification and cost cutting is about to pay rewards. However, while I feel the downtrend in earnings is about over it may be a little longer before the company starts to realize better earnings.

As you probably know, the company was incorporated in Rhode Island in 1864. This makes Nicholson one of the older American companies. Today, Nicholson is the world's largest manufacturer of files and rasps. In fact, more than 3,000 types are manufactured for both industrial and non-industrial purposes. Products are available for use on such diverse materials as steel, iron, cast iron, stainless steel, brass, aluminum wood, and plastics. Many of the company's products are sold under the well known trade names Black Diamond, Nicholson, Superior, Arcade, Great Western, K & F, McClellan, Eagle Glove and Beaver.

Over the years, Nicholson has grown and prospered and now has domestic plants located at Providence, R. I., Philadelphia, Pa., and Anderson, Indiana. While to my knowledge, the company never publicly stated it intended to adopt more aggressive policies it appears to me that about 1956 a decision to diversify and cut costs was made. In that year the Danielson Mfg. Co., a producer of extruded nylon products for industrial use, was acquired. One year later or in 1957, W. O. Barnes Co., a maker of metal cutting saws, was brought into the fold. In addition to these diversification moves, Nicholson had earlier opened up two foreign subsidiaries in addition to a plant at Port Hope, Canada, and acquired a stock position in Wiltshire File Co., Pty., Ltd. of Melbourne, Australia.

The cost cutting program that I mentioned above explains last year's announcement that the Providence, R. I., plant would be closed. The Anderson and Philadelphia facilities are scheduled to take over the work previously done there. Thus, I feel the company has been going through a period of transition in the past few years that should soon begin to pay rewards. In closing, I should mention that I believe Nicholson is a sound and well run enterprise. The company has a record of unbroken dividends dating back to 1872.

Gotham Warning

Be Honest Or Quit, Cops Told

NEW YORK (AP) — Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy, angered by scandals that have shaken his department of late, has issued this warning to new policemen: Be honest or quit.

"If you have any idea of becoming a grafter — and don't forget you will be tempted — then withdraw," Kennedy told 136 probationary policemen at swearing-in ceremonies Tuesday.

Police brass did not escape the commissioner's wrath. He lectured 146 high police officials, ordered to attend the ceremonies:

"To the extent that you set a good example, they will become good policemen. To the extent that you fail, they will fail."

The top officials were told illegal gambling is "a malignant cancer, which if unchecked will spread and kill every element of the police department."

Kennedy has been campaigning against any tolerance of bookmaking or other illegal gambling since the recent arrest of three members of the Brooklyn morals squad on corruption charges.

Advise Veterans, Others to Check Up on Benefits

Veterans, members of the armed forces and their dependents who are now residents of New York State were urged today by Charles L. Culver, counselor, New York State Division of Veterans Affairs, and Howard C. Shurter, director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, to call at the Division and Agency office whenever they have a question concerning their entitlement to veterans benefits.

They listed the following categories as being areas of interest to veterans, members of the armed forces and their dependents: G. I. loans, insurance, educational opportunities, disability pension, reemployment rights and others.

Some veteran benefits are automatic, others must be applied for. New laws and changing regulations affecting the veteran or his dependents or survivors may be of great importance to the veteran and his family now or in the future. It is a wise veteran, Culver and Shurter continued, that keeps his affairs and his records up-to-date by periodic checks with a veteran counselor. It may mean a great deal financially to his family in the future and alleviate confusion, loss of benefits, and hardships in the time of distress.

Veterans in this area should call on the local office of the Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency for a personal interview. A counselor at that office will give individual attention to the questions and affairs of each veteran. The address is 32 Main Street, with branch offices in Ellenville, Highland, Kerhonkson and Saugerties.

Meany Staying

by Congress and the administration.

Meany reportedly felt this was too drastic. One word led to another. There was a good deal of cussing. Reuther and Carey charged Meany was trying to dictate AFL-CIO policies.

The upshot is that Meany and other federation leaders agreed to beef up their forthcoming Washington unemployment demonstration.

It won't be the mass march on the capital Reuther had in mind. But it is now planned to fill the capital's big armory with 3,000 to 4,000 idle workers and union officials and possibly stage a parade down Pennsylvania Avenue.

AT WASHINGTON DINNER — Principals attending the Washington Day dinner sponsored by the Men's Club of the Old Dutch Church were (seated l-r) Fred Suppies, president; the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor; the Rev. Dr. William Alexander, guest speaker; standing, Edward DeDitt, member of committee; Mayor Edwin F. Radel, Schuyler Wiedner, member of committee; Clair Sheaffer, general chairman of dinner and Harry Rigby Jr., who talked on "Looking Backward Over 300 Years." Dr. Alexander, pastor of the First Christian Church of Oklahoma, urged churchmen to participate in politics, not sit off at a distance . . . Make God's will felt. Strong men are the hope of the Christian church, which should be a guide to daily living, he said. His subject was "The Power to Become." (Freeman photo).

Clean Up Politics

answer in the world today, or part of the problem.

Asks Four Questions

He posed four questions, pointing out that the person who could answer all of them in the affirmative is part of the answer rather than the problem:

1. Do you have a wholesome positive attitude toward life?
2. Do you have a self fit to live with?
3. Do you have a world fit to live in?
4. Do you have a philosophy to live by?

Dr. Alexander said the most important thing wasn't what happened to an individual so much as what he lets what happens to him do to him.

Gloomy Ones Detriment

He pointed out that the greatest enemy of the church is not the atheist but the negative, gloomy Christian. "I'm glad you don't have any in the Old Dutch Church," he quipped, drawing a roar of laughter. Laughter was one of Dr. Alexander's specialties and he kept his audience in stitches a substantial part of the time. He said he would not apologize for his jokes, that there is religion in laughter.

He said the church would never capture young people by saying, "Don't do this. Don't do that." The answer, he pointed out, is to give young people a positive program "and you'll never have an empty seat in your sanctuary." He urged his audience to believe in young people and "prove" that you believe in them, pointing out that this was one of the secrets of the power of Jesus Christ—the fact that he believed in people.

'Ideas Rule Men'

"We are what we believe," he stated, pointing out that "ideas rule men" and force them into life where such ideas become weapons which could be wielded like gladiators. He described the Christian idea as the most practical "that ever came down the pike."

He said men should seek to realize "God's dream," such dream as the cessation of wars, that love of humanity should prevail, that men should love one another, that white man shall call black man brother, etc.

He urged his audience, as good churchmen, to help make God's dreams come true.

Clair Sheaffer, general chairman of the dinner, expressed the appreciation of the club to Dr. Alexander as the minister concluded: "Dr. Alexander, you have inspired us and you have challenged us."

Recalls Washington Visit

Harry Rigby Jr., prominent historian and civic leader, spoke briefly before Dr. Alexander was introduced. His topic was "Looking Backward Over 300 Years."

He recalled that George Washington visited the Old Dutch Church in 1782, that the church had flourished under three flags, weathered many vicissitudes and grown from a dozen members to its present congregation of more than 800. The church is mother of 39 other congregations, including three in New Jersey and one in Pennsylvania.

There are signs that the pioneering spirit is not dead, Rigby concluded. "My wish is that the record of the future may fully equal the glory of the past."

Makes Introduction

President Fred Suppies of the Men's Club brought greetings to members and guests, expressing his appreciation to all who contributed to the success of the evening. He then introduced Sheaffer who, in turn, introduced the Rev. William Gow, new minister of education at the church, Charles Pope, new minister of music, and "our hardworking and much-photographed" Mayor Edwin F. Radel.

Mayor Radel expressed his pleasure at being present and wished the club great success during 1959.

Praises Oudemool

Dr. Alexander, in his opening remarks, said he had never before preached in a church 300 years old, praised Rigby's speech on church history and complimented the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, minister of the Old Dutch Church, saying it was a great privilege for him to be here "with your fine minister." He said he didn't know any minister he'd rather have "for my Dominie."

The audience enjoyed musical renditions by the King's Chorus directed by Donald Romme. It also participated in group singing led by James Little of the Old Dutch Church. Roger Baer rendered dinner music at the organ. The dinner, prepared by the Women's Guild, was much praised by those present, including the Rev. Dr. Alexander himself.

Baptist Scouts Place First in Merit Badge Show

Troop 6 Scouts sponsored by the First Baptist Church was awarded first place at the Kingston District Boy Scouts Merit Badge Exposition Saturday, February 21 at the Municipal Auditorium.

Troop 11, St. James Methodist Church and Troop 3, St. Joseph's Church were awarded second and third prize respectively.

The subjects of the booths were Troop 6, Astronomy; Troop 11, Woodworking; Troop 3, Citizenship; Troop 4, Fair Street Church, Railroading; Troop 9, Redeemer Lutheran Church, Safety; Troop 12, Old Dutch Church, Pioneering; Troop 18, St. Mary's Church, Coin Collecting; and Troop 26 of Port Ewen Reformed Church, Business. Booths were set up in the morning and opened for demonstration in the afternoon.

Many Other Booths

Additional booths were set up by the State Conservation Department, Kingston Pistol Club and the Uniformed Firemen's Association. The Conservation booth stressed tree conservation and attracted considerable interest with a working model sawmill. The Kingston Pistol Club had a collection of firearms on display and emphasized safety. The firemen demonstrated the use of fire equipment.

Good interest was shown by adults and Scouts alike throughout the afternoon.

The evening session from 7 to 9 was given to contests. At the opening ceremony Mayor Edwin F. Radel spoke to the Scouts complimenting them on their Merit Badge Show held in the afternoon. He encouraged them to do their best in Scouting for it gives them outdoor skills and citizenship training. The mayor said he was fond of the out of doors himself. He complimented the leaders and thanked them for giving their time to youth. Such service is a great help in building our future citizens.

Troop 3 Leads Relays

The Scouts then started on their relay contests which included the first aid chair carry, the izzy dizzy relay, pass the message, balloon soccer, distance judging, strip down relay race. The roof was raised as each of the contests reached the scoring point for competition was keen.

Troop 3 placed first, Troop 26 second and Troop 4 and Troop 6 tied for third.

The day's program was carried out under the leadership of Harry Muise, activities chairman and Edward Safford, district commissioner. They were assisted by Stewart Farley, Lewis Wallace, Gordon Craig Jr., Robert Greene, Jerry Blair, and Explorer Scouts from Post 4, 6, 10, 12 and 19.

event of a national emergency, domestic production capacity could be restored only after years of effort and millions of dollars of expense."

Criticizes Award

GE said the City of Los Angeles currently is evaluating bids from both domestic and foreign manufacturers for two steam turbine-generator units.

Rep. Lane specifically criticized the award by Medina Electric Cooperative, Hondo, Tex., to the Brown-Bovere Co. of Switzerland of a contract for construction of two generators. GE's Lynn, Mass. plant also bid on the contract.

The Massachusetts congressman said "It is apparent that the Swiss company has the inside track" on a third Medina generator, and that it probably will secure the Los Angeles contract.

"If we do not act promptly to reverse the loss suffered by General Electric," Lane said, "the door will be opened to a flood of imports that will put our turbine manufacturing facilities out of business, and will displace thousands of American workers.

Two More GOP Assemblymen to Oppose Budget

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Two more Republican assemblymen cast their lot today with the growing rebel movement against Gov. Rockefeller's record tax and spending plan.

Assemblymen Lucio F. Russo and Edward J. Amann Jr., both of Staten Island, declared that "under no circumstances" would they vote for Rockefeller's plan for cutting personal income-tax exemptions.

They thus raised to 10 the number of GOP assemblymen who have revolted openly against the GOP governor's fiscal program. Others among the 92 Republicans in the Assembly have been grumbling behind the scenes.

Amann and Russo put themselves clearly on record as Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck prepared to return to the Capital from a Boston hospital for next week's showdown over the budget.

With Democrats aligned solidly against a cut in exemptions, Heck would have to muster 76 of his 92 assemblymen to pass any budget that reduced exemptions. This is the method Rockefeller chose for raising taxes.

Racial Unrest Is

the protectorate of Northern Rhodesia.

Summons White Reservists

To cope with the swelling movement, Sir Roy Welensky, prime minister of the Rhodesia-Nyasaland Federation, summoned thousands of young white reservists for intensive training. They will be stationed in principal cities to bolster the army and polce.

Welensky said his aim was to "maintain peace and essential respect for law and order throughout the federation."

There are only 6,000 whites in Nyasaland — tea and tobacco growing region of three million Africans. The two Rhodesias have 250,000 whites and 4½ million blacks, and the whites of Southern Rhodesia dominate the federation government.

Banda wants Nyasaland to join Kenya and Tanganyika, neighboring territories under British control. He apparently thinks the militant nationalist leadership in Kenya will hasten a break from British control.

Kenya is a British colony, Tanganyika a U.N. Trust territory administered by Britain.

Question of Book Value as Measure Of a Stock Price

Q. J. S., Kentucky, writes, "In watching recent annual reports I noticed that Goodrich Rubber has a book value of $45.56 while Goodyear's is $47.24. At present price of 84, Goodrich is therfore now selling at 1.8 times its book value while Goodyear at 124 is 2.6 times. Does this mean that Goodrich is a better buy than Goodyear?"

A. Book value per share is simply the net worth of the stock and is obtained from the corporate balance sheet. It is computed by subtracting current liabilities, long-term debt and the liquidating price of any preferred stock, from the company's assets and dividing the answer by the number of shares outstanding. Book value can be quite artificial, as many of the items that go into it, such as inventories, plant and machinery would not command the dollars that they are carried at on the balance sheet if a company were forced to liquidate. While book value acts as a support or floor for a stock if it sells off badly, there is no hard-and-fast relationship between book value and the price of a stock which labels it underpriced and a bargain. Far more important is the ability of the management to utilize the assets under its control to produce earning power.

Book value, however, is useful in evaluating a new or little known company and firms in bankruptcy as it gives a clue to what shareholders might receive in liquidation. For large companies such as Goodrich and Goodyear, however, earnings and dividends records and the future outlook for the company are far more useful than book value in measuring market worth. At the present time we think that Goodyear is a better buy than Goodrich because its net last year was at a new high, while Goodrich profit fell 9.9%. Its stock is also selling at a lower price-earnings ratio than Goodrich and it is a good candidate for a stock split.

Q. A good friend in Dallas, Pennsylvania, has noted that Nicholson File, an old and respected New England firm, has announced plans to close its Providence, R. I., plant and consolidate the work done there at its Anderson, Indiana, and Philadelphia factories. The friend wonders what the transition will mean for the company and its stockholders.

A. I have been acquainted with Nicholson File for many years and have always liked the company even though its profits have been in a downward trend in most of the post-war era. I think at this time the company is of particular interest. It appears that a recent program of diversification and cost cutting is about to pay rewards. However, while I feel the downtrend in earnings is about over it may be a little longer before the company starts to realize better earnings.

As you probably know, the company was incorporated in Rhode Island in 1864. This makes Nicholson one of the older American companies. Today, Nicholson is the world's largest manufacturer of files and rasps. In fact, more than 3,000 types are manufactured for both industrial and non-industrial purposes. Products are available for use on such diverse materials as steel, iron, cast iron, stainless steel, brass, aluminum wood, and plastics. Many of the company's products are sold under the well known trade names Black Diamond, Nicholson, Superior, Arcade, Great Western, K & F, McClellan, Eagle, Glove and Beaver.

Over the years, Nicholson has grown and prospered and now has domestic plants located at Providence, R. I., Philadelphia, Pa., and Anderson, Indiana. While to my knowledge, the company never publicly stated it intended to adopt more aggressive policies, it appears to me that about 1956 a decision to diversify and cut costs was made. In that year the Danielson Mfg. Co., a producer of extruded nylon products for industrial use, was acquired. One year later or in 1957, W. O. Barnes Co., a maker of metal cutting saws, was brought into the fold. In addition to these diversification moves, Nicholson had earlier opened up two foreign subsidiaries in addition to a plant at Port Hope, Canada, and acquired a stock position in Wiltshire File Co. Pty., Ltd. of Melbourne, Australia.

The cost cutting program that I mentioned above explains last year's announcement that the Providence, R. I., plant would be closed. The Anderson and Philadelphia facilities are scheduled to take over the work previously done there. Thus, I feel the company has been going through a period of transition in the past few years that should soon begin to pay rewards. In closing, I should mention that I believe Nicholson is a sound and well run enterprise. The company has a record of unbroken dividends dating back to 1872.

High Court Says States Can Take Outside Firm Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — A series of Supreme Court decisions cleared the way today for the states to collect taxes in two important fields — from out-of-state corporations and on certain imported materials.

Splitting 6-3, the high tribunal upheld Tuesday a Georgia tax on an Alabama manufacturer's net income from operations within Georgia.

Levy on Materials

By the same vote, it affirmed a Minnesota income tax on an Iowa firm's revenue from a sales office in Minneapolis.

In a 6-2 decision, the court said states and cities may levy property taxes on materials imported to meet current manufacturing schedules. This decision approved such levies by Ohio and the city of Algoma, Wis.

In each instance the rulings were broad enough to apply to similar laws in other states. Hundreds of businesses could be affected.

In Albany, N. Y., the State Tax Department said the state taxes earnings of out-of-state corporations in proportion to what they earned in New York. The department said it would want to study the Supreme Court decision before commenting further.

As to the property tax, a department spokesman said the ruling would not have any effect in N.Y. which abandoned such property taxes many years ago.

Frankfurter Dissents

Justice Clark, author of the majority opinion in the Georgia and the Minnesota cases, said the taxes on out-of-state firms are legal provided they are not discriminatory and that they are apportioned to local activities within the taxing states.

Dissenting, Justice Frankfurter said the problem of state taxation of firms doing an interstate business should be put up to Congress and not the courts.

"Congress alone can provide for a full and thorough canvassing of the mulititudinous and intricate factors which compose the problems of taxing freedom of the state and the needed limits on such taxing power," Frankfurter said.

Card Safety Best Policy

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The expert keeps a lot of tools in his kit. One of the most useful is the so-called safety play. Some of these safety plays are sure things and will work against any combination of cards. Others will simply give the expert the best chance for his contract.

Today's hand illustrates one of those sure-fire safety plays. You win the first trick with dummy's ace of hearts and lead a low trump.

If East plays the king or jack you have no problem. You simply go up with your ace. If East shows out you also have no problem. You go up with the ace and lead toward dummy's queen.

If East plays the three-spot you must play one of your small trumps. If West wins with the jack you can pick up the king next time since that will be the only trump out. If West shows out you have held East to one trump trick.

South did not believe in safety plays. He went right up with the ace of spades at trick two and is still moaning about his horrible luck.

Only 20 Remain For Debate on Nit-Wits; Adjourn

WASHINGTON (AP)—Are there nit-wits in the House of Representatives?

House members debated that question, then left it unanswered after a brief but spirited discussion Tuesday on the House floor.

The debate was broken up after at least one member insisted that more of his colleagues be on hand if such a controversial matter were to be discussed.

"I think the folks ought to hear it," commented Rep. Clare Hoffman (R-Mich).

Hoffman objected to such a weighty debate without the presence of a quorum—218 members. Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) counted only about 20 and then rammed through a motion to adjourn rather than summon the absentees. There was no other business anyway.

The adjournment ended a three-way debate among Reps. Henry Reuss (D-Wis), Gardner Withrow (R-Wis) and Wayne Hays (D-Ohio).

It involved a speech Withrow made recently to the Congress of the Dominican Republic. Withrow was quoted as having told the Dominican legislators "we sometimes elect" nit-wits to the United States Congress.

Reuss didn't like any of the speech. Hays took umbrage at the reference to nit-wits in Congress. He told the House he had first considered objecting to reprinting the Withrow speech in the Congressional Record. However, the sharp-tongued Ohioan added, after reading the entire speech he was i n c l i n e d to believe that Withrow had proved his point.

Withrow denied having referred to colleagues as nit-wits. Confronted with what Hays said was an official transcript, Withrow retorted that there was no official transcript made.

In his own time, Withrow said, he would make his own defense of his speech to the Dominicans. Hays said he hoped Withrow would. Reuss said he, too, hoped the debate would be resumed.

Both Sides Given Warning in Strike At Cotton Mill

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP)—Gov. Luther Hodges has warned union and management officials they bear "direct and personal responsibility" to prevent further violence in the bitter Henderson-Harriet Cotton Mill strike.

Negotiators received strongly-worded telegrams from the Governor as they prepared to meet again today in an effort to end the 15-week dispute.

"The rising tensions and the continuance of....acts of violence constitute a threat to the maintenance of law and order which cannot be condoned," Hodges declared.

He referred to three bombings, stoning and car-tipping incidents, threats against several workers, and an attack on vice president of the Textile Workers Union of America. All have occurred since company President John D. Cooper Jr., reopened the plants Feb. 16.

The company's 1,200 workers voted to strike Nov. 17 when management insisted that a provision calling for arbitration in settling disputes be left out of a new contract. The provision had been in effect 14 years.

Fulbright Says Proxmire Acted With Poor Grace

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis) was accused today of acting with "very poor grace" and little justification in challenging Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's control of the Senate's Democratic legislative machinery.

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) added that he considered Proxmire's revolt against the Senate majority leader's operations a matter "of no great importance."

Morse, Clark Agree

But Proxmire, conceding little likelihood of immediate change, said that "perhaps in two or three years we may get where the leadership feels a responsibility to the membership."

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, spoke in an interview as Proxmire won support from Sens. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) and Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa).

Morse and Clark Tuesday joined Proxmire in calling for a revival of party caucuses to decide which bills to bring up for floor consideration. Proxmire told the Senate Monday that this is necessary if Democrats are to carry out their campaign pledges.

Chavez Backs Johnson

But Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-NM) lined up with those who have rallied around Johnson. Chavez said the sooner Proxmire learns he is not the only one who took an oath to support the Constitution, "the better it will be for all concerned."

Fulbright told reporters he thought Proxmire's stand was not well taken.

"I don't question his motives," Fulbright said, "but I think his floor speech came with very poor grace and with very little justification. Sen. Proxmire has been exceptionally well treated on committee assignments."

Fulbright said there were other ways—rather than a public speech on the floor—for Proxmire to have raised questions concerning Johnson's leadership.

Using all four feet and his mouth, a badger can dig himself underground in a matter of seconds.

PONTIAC NAMED CAR · OF · THE · YEAR
1959 MOTOR TREND AWARD TO PONTIAC
"Pontiac with wide-track wheels is the best combination of ride... handling...performance and styling of any '59 car" —The Editors of Motor Trend Magazine
In making its annual automotive award, the staff of Motor Trend Magazine, leading automotive publication, tests and evaluates all new cars. Here are quotations from the April 1959 issue:
"The stability of the 1959 Pontiac is the outstanding automotive advance of the year. Everyone considering a new car should experience it."
"It's the best balanced passenger car in America. We firmly believe that in moving the wheels farther apart, to develop the widest stance of any American car, Pontiac has created an entirely new sense of balance and handling security."
"Pontiac's lines are clean, simple and beautiful. It has a fleet look, a trim appearance. The wide wheel design contributes greatly to its over-all integrated styling. Any comparison with narrower track cars readily shows the difference."
"For the economy-minded, an efficient new engine. The new 420E Tempest economy engine offers remarkable performance along with exceptionally high mileage while operating on regular grade gasoline."
"Pontiac is again tops in performance, based on our extensive road testing. Acceleration is outstanding, yet the engine is unusually quiet and smooth."
Your nearest Pontiac dealer will be glad to let you road-test this award-winning automobile on your own. You'll see why it's the year's most talked-about car!

THE ONLY CAR WITH WIDE-TRACK WHEELS
Wheels are five inches farther apart. This widens only the stance, not the car. Pontiac takes a better grip on the road, hugs tighter on curves and corners. Sway and lean disappear, ride is smoother, balanced, steadier. Handling is easier. You drive with a new confidence, a comforting security. Pontiac gives you roadability no "narrow gauge" car can offer.

Chavez Backs Johnson

But Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-NM) lined up with those who have rallied around Johnson. Chavez said the sooner Proxmire learns he is not the only one who took an oath to support the Constitution, "the better it will be for all concerned."

Fulbright told reporters he thought Proxmire's stand was not well taken.

"I don't question his motives," Fulbright said, "but I think his floor speech came with very poor grace and with very little justification. Sen. Proxmire has been exceptionally well treated on committee assignments."

Fulbright said there were other ways—rather than a public speech on the floor—for Proxmire to have raised questions concerning Johnson's leadership.

Using all four feet and his mouth, a badger can dig himself underground in a matter of seconds.

1959 MOTOR TREND AWARD TO PONTIAC
"Pontiac with wide-track wheels is the best combination of ride... handling...performance and styling of any '59 car" —The Editors of Motor Trend Magazine

In making its annual automotive award, the staff of Motor Trend Magazine, leading automotive publication, tests and evaluates all new cars. Here are quotations from the April 1959 issue:

"The stability of the 1959 Pontiac is the outstanding automotive advance of the year. Everyone considering a new car should experience it."

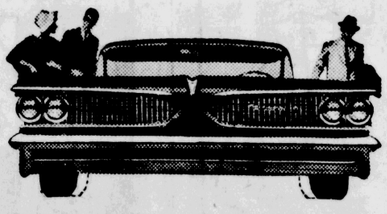

"It's the best balanced passenger car in America. We firmly believe that in moving the wheels farther apart, to develop the widest stance of any American car, Pontiac has created an entirely new sense of balance and handling security."

"Pontiac's lines are clean, simple and beautiful. It has a fleet look, a trim appearance. The wide wheel design contributes greatly to its over-all integrated styling. Any comparison with narrower track cars readily shows the difference."

"For the economy-minded, an efficient new engine. The new 420E Tempest economy engine offers remarkable performance along with exceptionally high mileage while operating on regular grade gasoline."

"Pontiac is again tops in performance, based on our extensive road testing. Acceleration is outstanding, yet the engine is unusually quiet and smooth."

Your nearest Pontiac dealer will be glad to let you road-test this award-winning automobile on your own. You'll see why it's the year's most talked-about car!

THE ONLY CAR WITH WIDE-TRACK WHEELS
Wheels are five inches farther apart. This widens only the stance, not the car. Pontiac takes a better grip on the road, hugs tighter on curves and corners. Sway and lean disappear, ride is smoother, balanced, steadier. Handling is easier. You drive with a new confidence, a comforting security. Pontiac gives you roadability no "narrow gauge" car can offer.

FREE! If you would like a reprint of the complete, illustrated article with all tire tests and evaluations on which Motor Trend judged Pontiac "Car of the Year"—see your Pontiac dealer or simply send your name and address on a postcard to Pontiac Motor Division, Department 10, Pontiac, Michigan.

Man's imperfections lead him to many mistakes in life, and the pointing out of these frailties has engaged the attention of philosophers and reformers in all ages. These are the seven greatest mistakes of man:

1. The delusion that individual advancement is made by crushing others down.

2. The tendency to worry about things that cannot be changed or corrected.

3. Insisting that a thing is impossible because we ourselves cannot accomplish it.

4. Refusing to set aside trivial preferences in order that important things may be accomplished.

5. Neglecting development and refinement of the mind by not acquiring the habit of reading.

6. Attempting to compel other persons to believe and live as we do.

7. The failure to establish the habit of saving money.

Jurors to Make Dinner Plans at Meeting March 2

Additional plans for the 25th anniversary testimonial dinner of the Association of Grand Jurors of Ulster County will be formulated during the regular business meeting Monday night, March 2.

Next week's meeting is scheduled for the Court House, Wall Street, at 8 p. m.

Thomas J. Murphy, president, in announcing the meeting today, said that the dinner will be held in May and will tie in with the Hudson-Champlain Celebration

The president said he was hopeful of receiving the views of all the association's membership in regard to the May dinner and said these would be aired at the March 2 meeting night.

A large number of applications for membership also is expected to be voted upon next week.

A full attendance of members is anticipated.

Peterson Takes Over as Acting Commerce Chief

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A veteran employe of the State Commerce Department is taking over as acting commerce commissioner.

Gov. Rockefeller Tuesday appointed Ronald B. Peterson, 47, a Schenectady Republican, to replace William D. Carlebach, a Democrat, as operating head of the department.

Replaced Dickinson

Carlebach became acting commissioner when Edward T. Dickinson resigned as commissioner. Dickinson was appointed by former Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman.

Peterson joined the department in 1940 and since 1950 has been director of its Industrial Development Bureau.

He will be paid $18,500 a year as acting commissioner.

A Rockefeller spokesman said it was unlikely that Peterson would be appointed commissioner. Rockefeller reportedly is seeking a top-flight industrialist or businessman for the job.

Foresees Vital Role

Throughout his election campaign, Rockefeller maintained New York's economy had deteriorated under Harriman and urgent measures were needed to improve business conditions.

The Commerce Department, he has said, will play a vital role in his economic plan.

Carlebach retains the post of first deputy commissioner. He automatically became head of the department when Dickinson resigned but was not formally appointed as acting commissioner.

Rockefeller's office said it did not know of any plans for replacing Carlebach as first deputy.

Police Officer Is Cleared of Charge

JOHNSTOWN, N. Y. (AP) — A police officer, charged with insubordination for conducting an unofficial investigation of the Democratic mayor, has been cleared by the Republican Common Council.

Mayor Donald B. Bellinger suspended Lt. Fred K. Komornik for five days without pay Jan. 14.

Bellinger accused Komornik of insubordination for writing to the State Agriculture Department last Oct. 25 inquiring whether Bellinger had been convicted several years ago of watering milk produced on his farm. The department replied that it had no such record.

Komornik testified at a hearing of the Common Council's Police Committee Jan. 22 that he had sought the information because of rumors.

After receiving the Agriculture Department's answer, he said, he squelched any further rumors he heard about the alleged conviction.

The Police Committee recommended Tuesday night that the council dismiss the charge brought by the mayor. The council concurred unanimously and restored Komornik's five days lost pay.

"All of the evidence, including that of the mayor," the committee said, "indicates Lt. Komornik made a routine investigation of the malicious gossip and rumors of criminal charges and kept the matter wholly to himself."

Union 164 Years Old

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—Union College, first to be chartered by the State Board of Regents, celebrates its 164th birthday tonight.

The ceremonies also will commemorate the 175th anniversary of the Board of Regents.

Danes Use Their Famous Cheeses in Wonderful Ways

DANISH blue cheese and langostinas (king lobster tails) make unusual combination in "wagon wheel" with pretzel "spokes."

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Denmark is a great dairy country and its cheeses are a delight. The Danes themselves are intelligent, hospitable people, open-handed with their food, friendship and recipes. Those two recipes, using their world-famous blue cheese, come from Danish friends now living in the United States.

Danish Blue Cheese and Langostina Wagon Wheel
(Serves 6)

Three-quarters pound Danish blue cheese, crumbled; ¼ cup light or heavy cream, 6 scallions, chopped fine; 2 (6-ounce) packages frozen langostinas, thawed in package; thin pretzel sticks.

For a cold salad, blend cheese with cream and scallions until smooth. Toss in langostinas and blend again. Place mixture in round serving dish. Arrange pretzel sticks spoke fashion, around the top.

For a hot dish, blend cheese with cream and scallions in top of double boiler over hot, not boiling, water for 5 minutes or until smooth. Stir in langostinas and heat throughly. Pour mixture into preheated serving dish filled with 3 to 4 cups cooked rice; arrange pretzel sticks, pretzel fashion, around the top.

Note: Tiny shrimp may be used in place of the langostinas (tiny "rosebud" lobster tails).

Danish Cheese and Sherry Pie

Three cups Danish blue cheese, crumbled; 1 cup Spanish sherry wine or water, 1⅔ cups vanilla wafer or zweiback crumbs, ⅓ cup softened butter, unsalted; 3 eggs, separated; ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 cup heavy cream, whipped.

Combine crumbs and butter. Mix thoroughly and press evenly over bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie shell. Chill for 1 to 2 hours. In top of double boiler, soften gelatin in wine or water for 5 minutes, add salt and egg yolks. Cook over low heat, beating or stirring constantly until mixture thickens, about 10 minutes. Remove from heat, add lemon rind. Add cheese gradually, beating well after each addition. Add lemon juice. Cool, stirring occasionally until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Fold into mixture. Fold in whipped cream. Pour into pie shell. Chill until firm.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Broiled chopped beef patties, French fried potatoes, sliced raw sweet onions, soft rolls, butter or margarine, lettuce, tomato and cauliflower bud salad, French dressing, blue cheese and sherry pie, coffee, tea, milk.

Who are your children's three baby sitters?

First and foremost, there's you!

Second, there's the sitter who takes over when you treat yourself to an evening on the town.

Third sitter in your children's lives is the telephone. The assistant that helps you handle the hectic routine of a typical day and keep an eye on the kids at the same time. That helps you line up someone to take over when you go out, and keeps you in touch with her while you're away. That stands guard, day and night, over your whole family. And does so much, in so many ways, to make your lives a lot easier and more pleasant.

It'd be hard to imagine running a household, raising a family, or just "getting by" today without the help of the telephone. When you think about it, your phone is one of the biggest bargains in the family budget. Its price has gone up far less than most other things you buy.

Jurors to Make Dinner Plans at Meeting March 2

Additional plans for the 25th anniversary testimonial dinner of the Association of Grand Jurors of Ulster County will be formulated during the regular business meeting Monday night, March 2.

Next week's meeting is scheduled for the Court House, Wall Street, at 8 p. m.

Thomas J. Murphy, president, in announcing the meeting today, said that the dinner will be held in May and will tie in with the Hudson-Champlain Celebration

The president said he was hopeful of receiving the views of all the association's membership in regard to the May dinner and said these would be aired at the March 2 meeting night.

A large number of applications for membership also is expected to be voted upon next week.

A full attendance of members is anticipated.

Peterson Takes Over as Acting Commerce Chief

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A veteran employe of the State Commerce Department is taking over as acting commerce commissioner.

Gov. Rockefeller Tuesday appointed Ronald B. Peterson, 47, a Schenectady Republican, to replace William D. Carlebach, a Democrat, as operating head of the department.

Replaced Dickinson

Carlebach became acting commissioner when Edward T. Dickinson resigned as commissioner. Dickinson was appointed by former Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman.

Peterson joined the department in 1940 and since 1950 has been director of its Industrial Development Bureau.

He will be paid $18,500 a year as acting commissioner.

A Rockefeller spokesman said it was unlikely that Peterson would be appointed commissioner. Rockefeller reportedly is seeking a top-flight industrialist or businessman for the job.

Foresees Vital Role

Throughout his election campaign, Rockefeller maintained New York's economy had deteriorated under Harriman and urgent measures were needed to improve business conditions.

The Commerce Department, he has said, will play a vital role in his economic plan.

Carlebach retains the post of first deputy commissioner. He automatically became head of the department when Dickinson resigned but was not formally appointed as acting commissioner.

Rockefeller's office said it did not know of any plans for replacing Carlebach as first deputy.

Police Officer Is Cleared of Charge

JOHNSTOWN, N. Y. (AP) — A police officer, charged with insubordination for conducting an unofficial investigation of the Democratic mayor, has been cleared by the Republican Common Council.

Mayor Donald B. Bellinger suspended Lt. Fred K. Komornik for five days without pay Jan. 14.

Bellinger accused Komornik of insubordination for writing to the State Agriculture Department last Oct. 25 inquiring whether Bellinger had been convicted several years ago of watering milk produced on his farm. The department replied that it had no such record.

Komornik testified at a hearing of the Common Council's Police Committee Jan. 22 that he had sought the information because of rumors.

After receiving the Agriculture Department's answer, he said, he squelched any further rumors he heard about the alleged conviction.

The Police Committee recommended Tuesday night that the council dismiss the charge brought by the mayor. The council concurred unanimously and restored Komornik's five days lost pay.

"All of the evidence, including that of the mayor," the committee said, "indicates Lt. Komornik made a routine investigation of the malicious gossip and rumors of criminal charges and kept the matter wholly to himself."

Danes Use Their Famous Cheeses in Wonderful Ways

DANISH blue cheese and langostinas (king lobster tails) make unusual combination in "wagon wheel" with pretzel "spokes."

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Denmark is a great dairy country and its cheeses are a delight. The Danes themselves are intelligent, hospitable people, open-handed with their food, friendship and recipes. Those two recipes, using their world-famous blue cheese, come from Danish friends now living in the United States.

Danish Blue Cheese and Langostina Wagon Wheel (Serves 6)

Three-quarters pound Danish blue cheese, crumbled; ¼ cup light or heavy cream, 6 scallions, chopped fine; 2 (6-ounce) packages frozen langostinas, thawed in package; thin pretzel sticks.

For a cold salad, blend cheese with cream and scallions until smooth. Toss in langostinas and blend again. Place mixture in round serving dish. Arrange pretzel sticks spoke fashion, around the top.

For a hot dish, blend cheese with cream and scallions in top of double boiler over hot, not boiling, water for 5 minutes or until smooth. Stir in langostinas and heat throughly. Pour mixture into preheated serving dish filled with 3 to 4 cups cooked rice; arrange pretzel sticks, pretzel fashion, around the top.

Note: Tiny shrimp may be used in place of the langostinas (tiny "rosebud" lobster tails).

Danish Cheese and Sherry Pie

Three cups Danish blue cheese, crumbled; 1 cup Spanish sherry wine or water, 1⅔ cups vanilla wafer or zweiback crumbs, ⅓ cup softened butter, unsalted; 3 eggs, separated; ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 cup heavy cream, whipped.

Combine crumbs and butter. Mix thoroughly and press evenly over bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie shell. Chill for 1 to 2 hours. In top of double boiler, soften gelatin in wine or water for 5 minutes, add salt and egg yolks. Cook over low heat, beating or stirring constantly until mixture thickens, about 10 minutes. Remove from heat, add lemon rind. Add cheese gradually, beating well after each addition. Add lemon juice. Cool, stirring occasionally until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Fold into mixture. Fold in whipped cream. Pour into pie shell. Chill until firm.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Broiled chopped beef patties, French fried potatoes, sliced raw sweet onions, soft rolls, butter or margarine, lettuce, tomato and cauliflower bud salad, French dressing, blue cheese and sherry pie, coffee, tea, milk.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"I hate people who wake up in the morning and know what they'll think and say all day," said Ben Hecht.

Hecht, who will be 65 this Saturday, has spent a prodigiously creative lifetime lighting firecrackers under the hypocrisies and foibles of his time.

Ben looks like an aging Kewpie doll, or a raffish Buddha. His blue eyes twinkle as he verbally skewers mankind's eternal follies. He still has the air of a small boy playing a secret prank on everybody.

Remaining 18 His Goal

"I never achieved a real goal in life," he said cheerfully, "not even a haircut.

"My chief goal was to remain 18, never to grow up or grow old. I missed that goal."

But this onetime Chicago newspaper reporter has managed to turn out 65 movies, 25 books, 20 plays, 250 short stories and at least 300 magazine articles.

A one-man fiction factory, Ben has two books on the presses now.

Ben, using a pencil and a lap board, writes every day and turns out about 5,000 words a week, as he has nearly every week for more than 40 years.

Here is Hecht in his own words:

"I hate idleness — it gives me suicidal moods—and I hate ideas. Ideas turn men into monsters and causes turn them into scoundrels. If you siphon ideas out of their heads, people are more human.

Would Abolish Politics

"I'd like to see politics abolished. Politics is as bad for the spirit as war is for the body.

"I like spirited people who dislike bosses. I've always figured that whoever hired me was my immediate enemy. That made me a fortune in Hollywood. The harder you hated a boss out there the more he paid you.

"Everybody's a kibitzer. There is too much conformity. People are afraid to be individuals.

"The future of the human race, if it has one, should be good. Some tremendous leader will have to appear, but I don't see him anywhere.

"He may have to be a religious leader. It takes religion to relate a human being to himself, to God, and to life.

"But the only religion I'll join is one which asks me to love myself and love my neighbor. That religion has gone sour, but it is the only one that can save the world.

"Who is God? God is a human being, as far as I can see. We have forgotten that man has divinity in Him."

LEFT HIGH AND DRY—The Wabash River rose to flood height, froze and then receded, leaving this large chunk of ice hanging on a slender sapling in Wabash, Ind. In two days, the river dropped five feet from a 25½-foot crest, highest since 1913. In background is the Wabash Water Corporation pumping station where employes and volunteers worked 48 hours with sandbags and portable pumps to keep the flood from contaminating the city's water supply. Their efforts were successful.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Received some interesting items from Lorin E. Osterhoudt, of Highland. Perhaps some of the readers remember the 40th annual convention and institute of the Ulster County Sunday School Association, and the 85th annual meeting of the Ulster County Bible Society which met at the Fair Street Reformed Church, Oct. 22 and 23, 1901.

He gives the names of the officers of the Sunday School Association in 1901. The presidents were L. L. Osterhoudt of Rondout and D. B. Hendricks of Kingston; vice presidents Alfred Perrine of Wallkill and H. E. Wilcox of Highland. William Smith was the secretary from Kingston and C. L. Shufeldt, financial secretary from Zena. The executive committee consisted of W. H. Hale of Rondout; J. V. Bingham of Marlboro; F. T. Russell of Saugerties; Elias D. Markle of Mettacahonts; Bernard McBride and Harry Brigham of Kingston; U. E. Terwilliger of Ellenville and Chas. E. Cornell of Clintondale.

No doubt many of these names are familiar to the readers. On the local committee in 1901 there was Mrs. Lorana Wilson, Mary J. Kelder, Harry Dodge, Mrs. Ira Woolsey, Ernest Kearney, George Snyder and Mrs. N. T. Little.

The officers of the Ulster County Bilbe Society were the Rev. E. C. Oggel of New Paltz, president; D. B. Hendricks and Bernard McBride of Kingston, vice presidents; William Smith, secretary and William G. Van Etten, treasurer, both of Kingston.

It was also interesting to note that at the time the delegates could stay for the entire convention at private homes for $1 per day, and at local hotels for $1 or $1.25. He also writes that there were two trains each way out of Kingston on the Wallkill Valley Railroad. One each was on the U and D. They had six south on the West Shore and four west out of Kingston. That was 58 years ago in Kingston.

Going back only some 20 years to 1939 during the World's Fair. Remember the $2 round trip excursion trains out of Kingston to New York. It is hard to believe it now, that we could get such convenience, such comfort and so reasonable. The trains were always full. They were warm, clean and always got us there and back in safety with nice polite conductors. Some of us took our lunch, some bought food on the train and others waited until they were in the city. Often friends would visit with each other in the railroad car. We watched folks getting off and on at each station. I know, if I do not say something with this excursion about the Dayline and the Mary Powell excursions to Albany or to New York folks will remind me about it.

Perhaps we will have special rates or excursion rates on Sunday over the Thruway, like 25 cents for the first 100 miles or so and a cup of coffee thrown in at the Hot Shoppes. Even the World's Fair had a $1 special ticket that let you in to many extra exhibitions. I remember buying one of those tickets. I do not think that excursions are a thing of the past.

Negro Republic of Haiti May Mean Next Caribbean Trouble

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The Negro republic of Haiti may become the next major trouble spot in the Caribbean.

Daniel Fignole, radical leader of the impoverished masses of the Haitian capital Port au Prince, has ordered his followers in a broadcast from Cuba to get ready for a general strike aimed at overthrowing the government of President Francois Duvalier.

Another exiled opposition leader, Louis Dejoie, who has strong influence in the upper class and among women and shopkeepers, has been broadcasting the same message in recent weeks.

Haitians listen to these broadcasts and there is an air of anxiety and expectancy.

Haiti is the ham in the Caribbean sandwich — stuck between two blood enemies, Fidel Castro's new Cuba and Rafael Trujillo's tough dictatorship in the Dominican Republic.

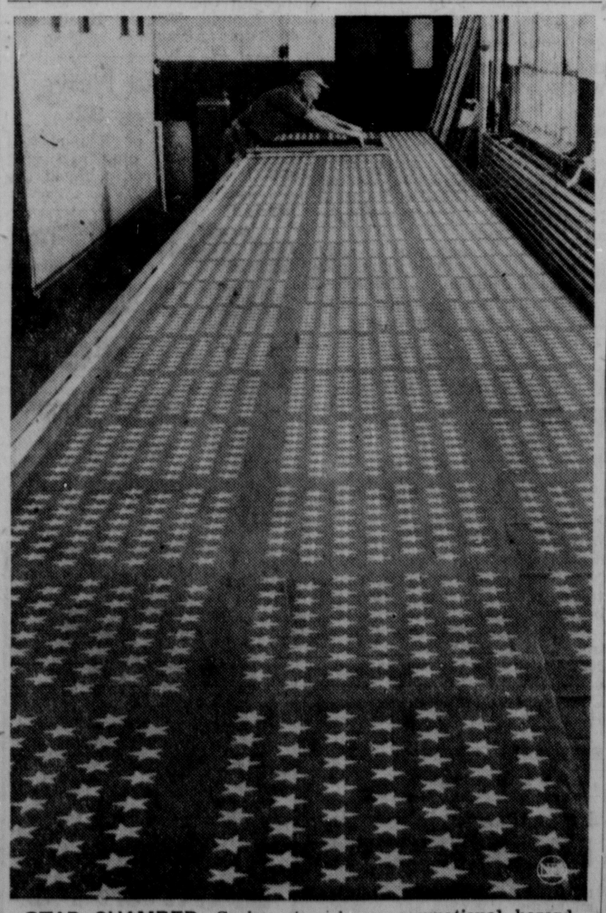

This uncomfortable position combines with a desperate economic crisis, with continuing hatreds among Haitian political factions and with the absence of an efficient government based on popular support, to add up to an unstable situation which could explode at any time.

President Duvalier was voted into office in an army-run election in September 1957 after 10 months of political turmoil following the ouster of strongman President Paul Magloire. Duvalier has virtual dictatorial powers. He gives the impression now of a man of arbitrary temperament with jittery nerves.

In January Duvalier, under the shock of Castro's success in Cuba, attempted to remove the stigma of dictatorship from his regime by freeing all political opponents whom he had jailed, including some sentenced to death. A liberalization of his rule was proclaimed.

But now, in fear of an invasion by his Haitian opponents from Cuba, Duvalier is clamping down hard and uttering dire threats. He has banned all exit visas for Haitians — presumably to hold within the country any who would like to join anti-Duvalier forces.

In firebrand declarations during impromptu speeches he has declared that should his enemies seek to overthrow him he would unleash a total revolution and not leave one stone on another in Port au Prince.

Tortured Laborers for Data

Horror Techniques Led To Batista's Downfall

Editor's Note — This is the last of three articles telling of the way the Batista regime in Cuba handled opposition elements or those suspected of opposition activity.

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

HAVANA (AP)—People get hurt in revolutions.

The Batista regime, as the constituted authority threatened by Fidel Castro's rebels, fought back. Then Batista's army, his last hope for survival, began to destroy itself. One of the factors that brought about its destruction was its officers' efforts to apply the horror chamber techniques that Batista's national police had been using even before Castro landed in Oriente province in 1956.

Stories of atrocities committed against defenseless guajiros — the poor agricultural laborers of eastern Cuba — shattered army morale and led to defections and subversion.

Tortured for Data

Unable to cope with the guerrilla strategists in the Sierra Maestra, the army's leaders tortured and killed guajiros in efforts to extract information on the rebel army's movements.

One of these army leaders was Capt. Pedro Morejon, executed early this month. A Castro military tribunal convicted him on separate counts of assassination, homicide, theft, arson and damage.

He and two other officers, now dead, Firmin Cowley and Jesus Sosa Blanco, were the most dreaded operatives of repression in Oriente province. Maj. Sosa Blanco—executed last week — was accused of 108 assassinations, Morejon of 33.

Col. Cowley, their superior, has been accused of personally machinegunning the 15-man rebel crew of the yacht Corintia that made an ill-fated landing on Cuba's north shore near Holguin Nov. 7, 1957. Eyewitness accounts say Cowley was furious at seeing the captured rebels, one of them wounded, being brought in alive. He took a tommygun from a guard and shot the rebels.

Leads to Terrorism

This led to a wave of terrorism Holguin residents call "Black Christmas." It was about the time Fidel Castro's rebel incursions into the lowlands from the Sierra Maestra had been growing bolder and more frequent.

Army activity against civilians tightened. At dawn of Dec. 24 the bodies of 12 brutally beaten civilians were found in the streets of Holguin. A few days later Cowley was shot dead in a hardware store by a rebel band.

The arrest and grilling of some 200 citizens followed. Civic and fraternal organizations protested to Capt. Rafael Lavastida, who had been named to replace Cowley. All but seven of those arrested were released. A few days later the tortured bodies of six of those were found on a highway. Authorities said they had been killed in a rebel ambush.

Denies Knowing

None of the testimony at the military tribunals has linked Batista personally to an act of brutality. He has said in his Dominican exile that he knew nothing of them. Castro leaders scorn this idea. In requesting his extradition from the Dominican Republic, as a "refugee from justice," Castro's Foreign Ministry said the deposed dictator was the "maximum author and instigator of numerous cases of assassination, theft and malversion of public funds."

Bohemia, a widely circulated pictorial news magazine, says Batista was present when flying squads of national police left the Presidential Palace in quest of suspects in the attempt on Batista's life March 13, 1957.

Batista narrowly escaped death that day. A band of armed youths penetrated to the second floor of the palace before being mowed down by guards.

Forty-four persons, some not connected with the attack, reportedly paid with their lives in the national police roundup. Among them was former Sen. Pelayo Cuervo Navarro, an opponent of the administration. Bohemia says he had no connection with the assassination plot.

More than 300 former Batista regime officials—police and army officers—have been executed for "major war crimes." A large number have been absolved or given prison sentences.

Phoenicia Club Sets $6,000 for Building Fund

The annual financial report of the Phoenicia Fish and Game Association reveals a balance of $8,884, of which $6,000 has been placed in escrow for the building fund.

The financial statement is enclosed in a report to the membership by Earl Conro, club president.

Annual meeting and election will be held on May 16, at 8 p. m. at a place to be designated in Phoenicia. Membership rose to 620 in 1958 and the club has grown "financially stronger each year for the past 10 years," said Conro.

In the winter of 1958, the club purchased alfalfa hay which was distributed in the area, along with some 200 bushels of apples for food for deer. The apples were donated by Ray Elmendorf of Hurley. The club also purchased 5,000 brown trout, at a cost of $500 in October of 1958, which were stocked in tributary streams of the Esopus. The club also assisted in the stocking of 68,000 yearling and 2-year-old trout furnished by the Conservation Department.

Mrs. E. B. Muller of New York City won first prize of $500 in the annual turkey shoot. One hundred dollars was returned to the club as a donation. Other prize winners were: Madeline Hill, Phoenicia, $100; Gilbert Feringa, Poughkeepsie, $75; Mary Perkins, Highland, $50; Billy Smith, Shandaken, $25.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"I hate people who wake up in the morning and know what they'll think and say all day," said Ben Hecht.

Hecht, who will be 65 this Saturday, has spent a prodigiously creative lifetime lighting firecrackers under the hypocrisies and foibles of his time.

Ben looks like an aging Kewpie doll, or a raffish Buddha. His blue eyes twinkle as he verbally skewers mankind's eternal follies. He still has the air of a small boy playing a secret prank on everybody.

Remaining 18 His Goal

"I never achieved a real goal in life," he said cheerfully, "not even a haircut.

"My chief goal was to remain 18, never to grow up or grow old. I missed that goal."

But this onetime Chicago newspaper reporter has managed to turn out 65 movies, 25 books, 20 plays, 250 short stories and at least 300 magazine articles.

A one-man fiction factory, Ben has two books on the presses now.

Ben, using a pencil and a lap board, writes every day and turns out about 5,000 words a week, as he has nearly every week for more than 40 years.

Here is Hecht in his own words:

"I hate idleness — it gives me suicidal moods—and I hate ideas. Ideas turn men into monsters and causes turn them into scoundrels. If you siphon ideas out of their heads, people are more human.

Would Abolish Politics

"I'd like to see politics abolished. Politics is as bad for the spirit as war is for the body.

"I like spirited people who dislike bosses. I've always figured that whoever hired me was my immediate enemy. That made me a fortune in Hollywood. The harder you hated a boss out there the more he paid you.

"Everybody's a kibitzer. There is too much conformity. People are afraid to be individuals.

"The future of the human race, if it has one, should be good. Some tremendous leader will have to appear, but I don't see him anywhere.

"He may have to be a religious leader. It takes religion to relate a human being to himself, to God, and to life.

"But the only religion I'll join is one which asks me to love myself and love my neighbor. That religion has gone sour, but it is the only one that can save the world.

"Who is God? God is a human being, as far as I can see. We have forgotten that man has divinity in Him."

LEFT HIGH AND DRY—The Wabash River rose to flood height, froze and then receded, leaving this large chunk of ice hanging on a slender sapling in Wabash, Ind. In two days, the river dropped five feet from a 25½-foot crest, highest since 1913. In background is the Wabash Water Corporation pumping station where employes and volunteers worked 48 hours with sandbags and portable pumps to keep the flood from contaminating the city's water supply. Their efforts were successful.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Received some interesting items from Lorin E. Osterhoudt, of Highland. Perhaps some of the readers remember the 40th annual convention and institute of the Ulster County Sunday School Association, and the 85th annual meeting of the Ulster County Bible Society which met at the Fair Street Reformed Church, Oct. 22 and 23, 1901.

He gives the names of the officers of the Sunday School Association in 1901. The presidents were L. L. Osterhoudt of Rondout and D. B. Hendricks of Kingston; vice presidents Alfred Perrine of Wallkill and H. E. Wilcox of Highland. William Smith was the secretary from Kingston and C. L. Shufeldt, financial secretary from Zena. The executive committee consisted of W. H. Hale of Rondout; J. V. Bingham of Marlboro; F. T. Russell of Saugerties; Elias D. Markie of Mettacahonts; Bernard McBride and Harry Brigham of Kingston; U. E. Terwilliger of Ellenville and Chas. E. Cornell of Clintondale.

No doubt many of these names are familiar to the readers. On the local committee in 1901 there was Mrs. Lorana Wilson, Mary J. Kelder, Harry Dodge, Mrs. Ira Woolsey, Ernest Kearney, George Snyder and Mrs. N. T. Little.

The officers of the Ulster County Bilbe Society were the Rev. E. C. Oggel of New Paltz, president; D. B. Hendricks and Bernard McBride of Kingston, vice presidents; William Smith, secretary and William G. Van Etten, treasurer, both of Kingston.

It was also interesting to note that at the time the delegates could stay for the entire convention at private homes for $1 per day, and at local hotels for $1 or $1.25. He also writes that there were two trains each way out of Kingston on the Wallkill Valley Railroad. One each was on the U and D. They had six south on the West Shore and four west out of Kingston. That was 58 years ago in Kingston.

Going back only some 20 years to 1939 during the World's Fair. Remember the $2 round trip excursion trains out of Kingston to New York. It is hard to believe it now, that we could get such convenience, such comfort and so reasonable. The trains were always full. They were warm, clean and always got us there and back in safety with nice polite conductors. Some of us took our lunch, some bought food on the train and others waited until they were in the city. Often friends would visit with each other in the railroad car. We watched folks getting off and on at each station. I know, if I do not say something with this excursion about the Dayline and the Mary Powell excursions to Albany or to New York folks will remind me about it.

Perhaps we will have special rates or excursion rates on Sunday over the Thruway, like 25 cents for the first 100 miles or so and a cup of coffee thrown in at the Hot Shoppes. Even the World's Fair had a $1 special ticket that let you in to many extra exhibitions. I remember buying one of those tickets. I do not think that excursions are a thing of the past.

Negro Republic of Haiti May Mean Next Caribbean Trouble

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The Negro republic of Haiti may become the next major trouble spot in the Caribbean.

Daniel Fignole, radical leader of the impoverished masses of the Haitian capital Port au Prince, has ordered his followers in a broadcast from Cuba to get ready for a general strike aimed at overthrowing the government of President Francois Duvalier.

Another exiled opposition leader, Louis Dejoie, who has strong influence in the upper class and among women and shopkeepers, has been broadcasting the same message in recent weeks.

Haitians listen to these broadcasts and there is an air of anxiety and expectancy.

Haiti is the ham in the Caribbean sandwich — stuck between two blood enemies, Fidel Castro's new Cuba and Rafael Trujillo's tough dictatorship in the Dominican Republic.

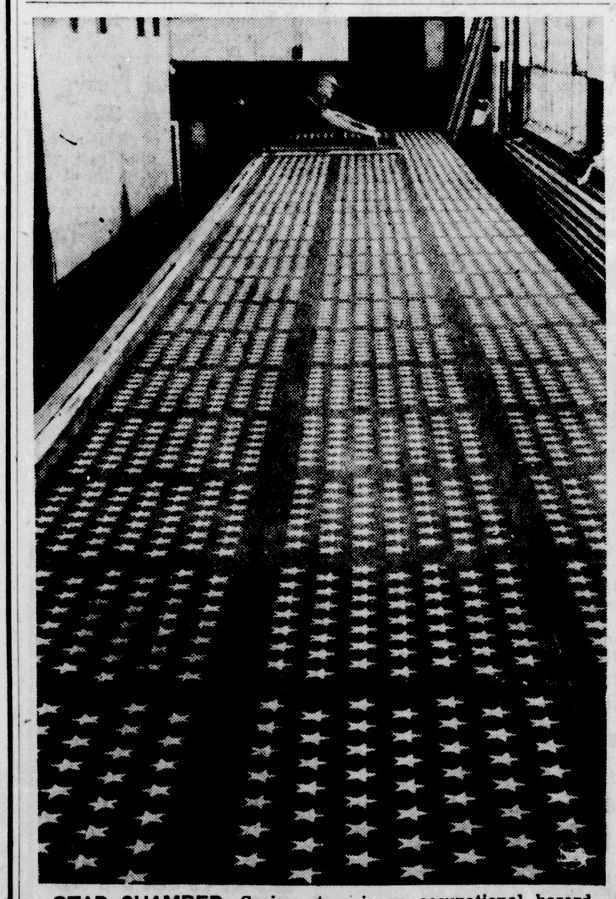

This uncomfortable position combines with a desperate economic crisis, with continuing hatreds among Haitian political factions and with the absence of an efficient government based on popular support, to add up to an unstable situation which could explode at any time.

President Duvalier was voted into office in an army-run election in September 1957 after 10 months of political turmoil following the ouster of strongman President Paul Magloire. Duvalier has virtual dictatorial powers. He gives the impression now of a man of arbitrary temperament with jittery nerves.

In January Duvalier, under the shock of Castro's success in Cuba, attempted to remove the stigma of dictatorship from his regime by freeing all political opponents whom he had jailed, including some sentenced to death. A liberalization of his rule was proclaimed.

But now, in fear of an invasion by his Haitian opponents from Cuba, Duvalier is clamping down hard and uttering dire threats. He has banned all exit visas for Haitians — presumably to hold within the country any who would like to join anti-Duvalier forces.

In firebrand declarations during impromput speeches he has declared that should his enemies seek to overthrow him he would unleash a total revolution and not leave one stone on another in Port au Prince.

STAR CHAMBER—Seeing stars is an occupational hazard for this worker at a Verona, N.J., flag-making factory. He's busy at a 60-foot printing table where the fields of 49 stars are applied by silk-screen process. Alaska's entry into the Union has meant busy days for him.

Tortured Laborers for Data

Horror Techniques Led To Batista's Downfall

Editor's Note — This is the last of three articles telling of the way the Batista regime in Cuba handled opposition elements or those suspected of opposition activity.

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

HAVANA (AP)—People get hurt in revolutions.

The Batista regime, as the constituted authority threatened by Fidel Castro's rebels, fought back. Then Batista's army, his last hope for survival, began to destroy itself. One of the factors that brought about its destruction was its officers' efforts to apply the horror chamber techniques that Batista's national police had been using even before Castro landed in Oriente province in 1956.

Stories of atrocities committed against defenseless guajiros — the poor agricultural laborers of eastern Cuba — shattered army morale and led to defections and subversion.

Tortured for Data

Unable to cope with the guerrilla strategists in the Sierra Maestra, the army's leaders tortured and killed guajiros in efforts to extract information on the rebel army's movements.

One of these army leaders was Capt. Pedro Morejon, executed early this month. A Castro military tribunal convicted him on separate counts of assassination, homicide, theft, arson and damage.

He and two other officers, now dead, Firmin Cowley and Jesus Sosa Blanco, were the most dreaded operatives of repression in Oriente province. Maj. Sosa Blanco—executed last week — was accused of 108 assassinations, Morejon of 33.

Col. Cowley, their superior, has been accused of personally machinegunning the 15-man rebel crew of the yacht Corintia that made an ill-fated landing on Cuba's north shore near Holguin Nov. 7, 1957. Eyewitness accounts say Cowley was furious at seeing the captured rebels, one of them wounded, being brought in alive. He took a tommygun from a guard and shot the rebels.

Leads to Terrorism

This led to a wave of terrorism Holguin residents call "Black Christmas." It was about the time Fidel Castro's rebel incursions into the lowlands from the Sierra Maestra had been growing bolder and more frequent.

Army activity against civilians tightened. At dawn of Dec. 24 the bodies of 12 brutally beaten civilians were found in the streets of Holguin. A few days later Cowley was shot dead in a hardware store by a rebel band.

The arrest and grilling of some 200 citizens followed. Civic and fraternal organizations protested to Capt. Rafael Lavastida, who had been named to replace Cowley. All but seven of those arrested were released. A few days later the tortured bodies of six of those were found on a highway. Authorities said they had been killed in a rebel ambush.

Denies Knowing

None of the testimony at the military tribunals has linked Batista personally to an act of brutality. He has said in his Dominican exile that he knew nothing of them. Castro leaders scorn this idea. In requesting his extradition from the Dominican Republic, as a "refugee from justice," Castro's Foreign Ministry said the deposed dictator was the "maximum author and instigator of numerous cases of assassination, theft and malversion of public funds."

Bohemia, a widely circulated pictorial news magazine, says Batista was present when flying squads of national police left the Presidential Palace in quest of suspects in the attempt on Batista's life March 13, 1957.

Batista narrowly escaped death that day. A band of armed youths penetrated to the second floor of the palace before being mowed down by guards.

Forty-four persons, some not connected with the attack, reportedly paid with their lives in the national police roundup. Among them was former Sen. Pelayo Cuervo Navarro, an opponent of the administration. Bohemia says he had no connection with the assassination plot.

More than 300 former Batista regime officials—police and army officers—have been executed for "major war crimes." A large number have been absolved or given prison sentences.

BOOK SHELF PRESENTATION MADE — Mrs. R. R. Empringham, historian of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, presents the DAR Book Shelf to School 4. Students representing their school are (l-r) Carolyn Wolf and Sandra Parker. Selections consist of 40 books of historical interest, adventure and stories of famous people. The presentation marks the fourth year that Wiltwyck Chapter has sponsored this project. (Freeman photo)

School 4 Receives DAR Book Shelf; Members Pay Tribute to Washington's Birthday

Members of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and their guests paid honor to the memory of George Washington Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Cloyd L. Elias, first vice regent presided for Mrs. Walter T. Tremper, regent. The following program was presented by Mrs. Claude G. Palen, program chairman of Wiltwyck Chapter.

Mrs. Edward Flick accompanied by Miss Edna Merrihew gave a delightful rendition of two numbers by Wilford Sanderson, "Quiet" and "The Valley of Laughter."

Edward T. Green, supervising principal of the Rondout Valley Central School District, was the guest speaker. Mr. Green's topic was the timely one of "Education, the Corner Stone of Democracy." He traced the history of education and its trends from the earliest colonial period to our present day.

"Our forefathers considered education of great importance," he said. "As early as 1647 Massachusetts had elementary schools. In 1636 Harvard College was founded. In 1787 we entered the National Period. The Constitution had been adopted and the states made plans for educational facilities for public schools and academies. In 1837 there was a great educational awakening and the rise of public education as we know it today came into being. After the turn of the century, great changes were made in our educational system. Compulsory educational laws were passed and vocational programs were established in the schools.

"Sputnik has had a tremendous impact on education today. With it came a great awakening of the American people of the importance of education. We realize that our boys and girls are our greatest resource and that money spent on their educations is a valuable investment."

Fourteen Boy Scouts of Troop 19 were guests of the afternoon.

As part of historical observance, they were completing qualifications for their "Historic Trails Award." Last summer the boys made several trips over trails in the Catskills known to our ancestors. The boys, in a chorus, gave a rendition of "Washington's Farewell Address."

Mrs. G. Herbert DeKay, chairman of the DAR Good Citizen of the United States of America Committee, presented Good Citizenship Pins and certificates to the following students of area schools;

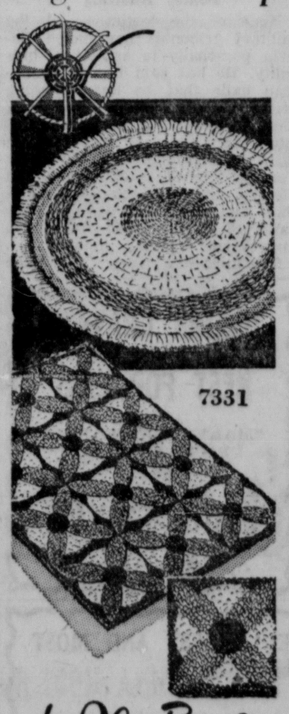

Madeline Mazzetti, Highland Central School; Bernice Paradies, New Paltz Central School; Doris Muhlich, Onteora Central School; Barbara Terwilliger, Wallkill Central School; and Penny Johnson, Kingston High School. The girls read their essays, the topic of which was, "Dignity of Man Under Our Republic." Those chosen for the Good Citizen Awards had shown four outstanding qualities; dependability, leadership, service and patriotism.

At th close of the afternoon, Mrs. R. R. Empringham, historian of Wiltwyck Chapter, made a presentation of a Book Shelf to School No. 4. The students representing their school were Sandra Parker and Carolyn Wolf. They were accompanied by their teacher, Miss Marion Schwenk. The Book Shelf contains 40 books of historical interest, adventure and stories of famous people. This is the fourth year that Wiltwyck Chapter has sponsored this project of presenting schools with books of interest and educational value to their students.

On display was a beautiful water color of the Old Senate House done by Ernest Bloomgren.

Hostesses for the afternoon were the entertainment committee.

PROTESTANTS AT A CATHOLIC FUNERAL

Dear Mrs. Post: My next door neighbor recently lost her husband. My husband and I went to the funeral home to pay our respects. They are of the Catholic faith; we are Protestants. While we were there the parish priest came in and said the Rosary. All knelt and said the prayers with him. My husband and I just sat quietly but felt very conspicuous. I would like to know what was the proper thing to do in this situation. Should we have knelt too or should we have left the room until they had finished. I would appreciate hearing from you on this matter as we have many Catholic friends and will no doubt be faced with this same situation again.

Answer: You should have remained seated, bowed you heads but not joined in the unfamiliar prayers.

Skier or Bunny?

Two veteran skiers have very artfully classified, defined and filed the female skier under "H" for huntress in an enlightening article released Sunday in the New York Times Magazine Section.

The authors, Beatrice and Ira Henry Freeman, who have slid down the best hills in the United States and Europe for the past 20 years, contend that the female skier (they call them bunnies) . . . "is chasing the eligible male up and down every ski slope in the land."

The Freemans base their contentions on solid fact—"60 per cent of the skiers are men, between the ages of 19 - 44, and 51 per cent are not married."

A whole new set of tricks must be employed by the "bunny" if she is to catch her prey. The bandaged ankle might work sometimes—or loitering around the snack bars—but best of all, the Freemans urge girls to learn how to ski.

"Many snow bunnies do go to ski school," Beatrice and Ira Freeman write, "hoping to learn to ski well enough some day to keep within sighing distance, at least, of the daring young men on the expert slopes."

One director of a large ski instruction school contends there are more girls in the class than boys. "This reflects the girls' desire to be able to keep up with the men."

Another possible approach to nabbing an escort for the weekend is to ride the double chairlifts. The Freemans write, "You should maneuver in the waiting line so you are paired off with an interesting stranger. Sometimes the machinery breaks down on a very busy day and there you swing in mid-air with a captive audience."

Working Clothes

With "tongue-in-cheek" the Freemans refer to the new ski outfits as "working clothes" which they rightly are. One French couturier in New York specializes in custom made outfits and makes them up in three sizes: "tight, very tight and barely comfortable."

Regardless of the pitfalls—the exhausted male animal who sinks into slumber before the open fireplace leaving the "bunny" curled up with a good book in a corner of the lodge—the ski slopes in the United States are gaining in popularity.

As entertaining as the Freemans' article is, it really wouldn't be right for us to assume that ALL female skiers take to the sport solely for the purpose of finding a mate. This tremendously popular continental sport is taking the country by storm. So much so, that even the New York State Department of Commerce takes an active interest in it.

Ski locations throughout New York State are improving each year luring all age brackets.

But whatever is said, after the female has or has not captured a skier for herself, the evening always brings relaxation. "Someone plucks a guitar or zither; everybody joins in the singing," the Freeman team writes.

"The lights are dimmed, to enjoy the flickering firelight . . . it is not unpleasant."

School 4 Receives DAR Book Shelf; Members Pay Tribute to Washington's Birthday

Members of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and their guests paid honor to the memory of George Washington Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Cloyd L. Elias, first vice regent presided for Mrs. Walter T. Tremper, regent. The following program was presented by Mrs. Claude G. Palen, program chairman of Wiltwyck Chapter.

Mrs. Edward Flick accompanied by Miss Edna Merrihew gave a delightful rendition of two numbers by Wilford Sanderson, "Quiet" and "The Valley of Laughter."

Edward T. Green, supervising principal of the Rondout Valley Central School District, was the guest speaker. Mr. Green's topic was the timely one of "Education, the Corner Stone of Democracy." He traced the history of education and its trends from the earliest colonial period to our present day.

"Our forefathers considered education of great importance," he said. "As early as 1647 Massachusetts had elementary schools. In 1636 Harvard College was founded. In 1787 we entered the National Period. The Constitution had been adopted and the states made plans for educational facilities for public schools and academies. In 1837 there was a great educational awakening and the rise of public education as we know it today came into being. After the turn of the century, great changes were made in our educational system. Compulsory educational laws were passed and vocational programs were established in the schools.

"Sputnik has had a tremendous impact on education today. With it came a great awakening of the American people of the importance of education. We realize that our boys and girls are our greatest resource and that money spent on their educations is a valuable investment."

Fourteen Boy Scouts of Troop 19 were guests of the afternoon.

As part of historical observance, they were completing qualifications for their "Historic Trails Award." Last summer the boys made several trips over trails in the Catskills known to our ancestors. The boys, in a chorus, gave a rendition of "Washington's Farewell Address."

Mrs. G. Herbert DeKay, chairman of the DAR Good Citizen of the United States of America Committee, presented Good Citizenship Pins and certificates to the following students of area schools:

Madeline Mazzetti, Highland Central School; Bernice Paradies, New Paltz Central School; Doris Muhlich, Onteora Central School; Barbara Terwilliger, Wallkill Central School; and Penny Johnson, Kingston High School. The girls read their essays, the topic of which was, "Dignity of Man Under Our Republic." Those chosen for the Good Citizen Awards had shown four outstanding qualities; dependability, leadership, service and patriotism.

At th close of the afternoon, Mrs. R. R. Empringham, historian of Wiltwyck Chapter, made a presentation of a Book Shelf to School No. 4. The students representing their school were Sandra Parker and Carolyn Wolf. They were accompanied by their teacher, Miss Marion Schwenk. The Book Shelf contains 40 books of historical interest, adventure and stories of famous people. This is the fourth year that Wiltwyck Chapter has sponsored this project of presenting schools with books of interest and educational value to their students.

On display was a beautiful water color of the Old Senate House done by Ernest Bloomgren.

Hostesses for the afternoon were the entertainment committee.

Prolonged TV Addiction No Cure for Dull Marriage

Saw a little news item in the paper the other day about a man who told his TV repairman that he had a real emergency at his house.

The TV set and the radio had gone on the blink the same day and he had been forced to spend a whole evening in conversation with his wife.

Too bad he was in such a hurry to get the noisemakers back in working order. If he had let them stay silent for a few weeks he and his wife might have found a lot of interesting things to do.

They could have seen a few movies, visited friends, read some books, or could have found time to pursue a hobby together. They might have enjoyed a play, a concert, a lecture, an art exhibit, or enrolled in a course of study.

No telling what a few weeks of being forced to entertain themselves might have done for them. But instead they got the TV and radio repaired. Now they can go on looking to them for entertainment to keep them from facing the fact that they haven't anything to talk about.

If they had just stuck it out a little while and found some interests to take the place of TV watching, in no time at all they would have had plenty to talk about.

Night Teachers Take Compromise On Pay Formula

NEW YORK (AP) — Striking evening high school teachers have voted to accept a compromise pay increase formula and return to work.

The city's 16 evening high schools will reopen — perhaps as soon as Thursday night — for 33,000 adult and youthful pupils.

The teachers, members of the High School Teachers Assn., voted 795 to 5 at a meeting Tuesday night to accept the recommendation of the association's executive committee.

Most of the 800 evening high school teachers quit work Feb. 2 in a long-standing pay dispute with the Board of Education. The city was forced to close all 16 schools.

The teachers — most of whom teach daytime also — will receive an immediate increase to $18.38 for a 3½-hour session, two nights a week. When the strike started they were getting $12.25 for a three-hour session, two nights a week.

The compromise also includes promises by the Board of Education to give increases to $18 for a 2¾-hour session starting July 1 and to $21 for a three-hour session, effective July 1, 1960.

The compromise includes other benefits to the teachers.

TO THE DOCTORS OF KINGSTON, N. Y.

As a practising physician knowing about the newest medical developments, you no doubt have read about an entirely new concept in mattresses developed by Simmons in consultation with members of your profession. This new mattress is called the BACK-CARE and is the first and only mattress with a "built-in bedboard." It has been demonstrated and enthusiastically received at numerous conventions of the AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION and at the recent meeting of the AMERICAN ACADEMY OF GENERAL PRACTICE.

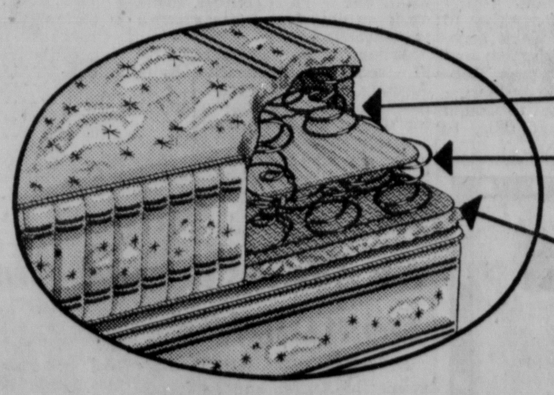

REQUESTED . . . SUPERVISED . . . APPROVED BY DOCTORS

From a survey of over 100,000 doctors, prior to the engineering of BACK-CARE, Simmons was asked to research and develop a new firm mattress for back sufferers. (It was obvious that there was not then on the market a satisfactory mattress answering medical needs!)

During the experimental period in which dozens and dozens of new and different constructions were tested, a panel of leading orthopedists consulted with Simmons engineers. Finally, when the new scientific BACK-CARE construction was perfected, these specialists tried the mattress for themselves and their patients. Their verdict . . . complete and unanimous approval.

We want you to know that this remarkable new mattress is now on our floor and that we would be most happy to actually demonstrate its corrective therapeutic benefits to you. We know you will agree with many others in your profession who have seen or are sleeping on BACK-CARE, and acclaim this new mattress as an answer to a long felt need for low back syndrone relief.

WHY BACK-CARE IS BEST FOR BACKS! . . .

1. This upper layer of 312 springs adjusts to body contours so that sleeping comfort is assured.
2. The Built-in Bedboard . . . made of plywood and placed in the center of the mattress . . . keeps the spine properly aligned and exerts corrective action close to the back where support is needed.
3. This lower layer of another 312 springs acts as a "floating" mechanism for the bedboard, equalizes weight and prevents "sag."

Prolonged TV Addiction No Cure for Dull Marriage

Saw a little news item in the paper the other day about a man who told his TV repairman that he had a real emergency at his house.

The TV set and the radio had gone on the blink the same day and he had been forced to spend a whole evening in conversation with his wife.

Too bad he was in such a hurry to get the noisemakers back in working order. If he had let them stay silent for a few weeks he and his wife might have found a lot of interesting things to do.

They could have seen a few movies, visited friends, read some books, or could have found time to pursue a hobby together. They might have enjoyed a play, a concert, a lecture, an art exhibit, or enrolled in a course of study.

No telling what a few weeks of being forced to entertain themselves might have done for them. But instead they got the TV and radio repaired. Now they can go on looking to them for entertainment to keep them from facing the fact that they haven't anything to talk about.

If they had just stuck it out a little while and found some interests to take the place of TV watching, in no time at all they would have had plenty to talk about.

Husbands and wives who are busy doing things together don't have trouble making conversation. It's the ones who sit hypnotized before a TV set night after night who have little of interest to say to each other.

A TV repairman once told me—after I assured him that he could fix our set whenever he got around to it—that I would be amazed at how many people would become frantic if they had to wait a day or two to get a TV set repaired.

Newburgh Clinches DUSO Title, Beats Monticello Five, 66-42

It's now official. Picked as the pre-season favorite to capture DUSO league honors, Newburgh Free Academy washed all hopes the other contenders had by trouncing Monticello, 66-42, last night at the Hilly City gym. The Goldbacks are 13-2 and can't be caught.

Though the Monties held LeRoy Riley to 19 points and Jack Coonan to only 11, Benny King joined the scoring act and swished 14 markers to aid the Goldbacks. Newburgh jumped to a 23-5 first quarter lead and wasn't in trouble.

The home side has won five straight contests after two losses to start the second round. The club has been in first place or had a share of the lead all season. There was very little doubt as to the eventual outcome of the race.

Knicks Nearing Cage Playoffs In NBA Race

The New York Knickerbockers, who were given about a 50-50 chance of gaining the National Basketball Assn. playoffs in preseason estimates, today were well on their way toward clinching second place in the Eastern Division.

The Knicks Tuesday night beat the Boston Celtics 134-122 in the windup of a Madison Square Garden doubleheader after the Syracuse Nats were upset by the Cincinnati Royals 113 - 109 in the opener.

Now, any combination of New York victories or Syracuse defeats totalling three will give the Knickerbockers second place.

Richie Guerin scored 37 points for the Knickerbockers. Bob Cousy was high for the Celtics with 33.

Syracuse made up a 17 point deficit, deadlocking the game at 88-all early in the fourth quarter after trailing by 40-23 in the first minute of the second period. Jack Twyman wound up with 29 points. George Yardley was the Nats' top man with 26.

Bothersome Goats

LANCASTER, Wis. (AP) — Three years ago four nanny goats got loose in Wyalusing State Park. A year later a billy goat joined them. Now the 10 goats living in the park have been declared a nuisance and Grant County Sheriff Mrs. Robert Seemeyer is considering sending out a posse to round them up, and if that fails, to hunt them down.

Foul Shooting Decides Contest At Kate Walton

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Iceman Mickey SaVino made seven straight clutch free throws in the final six minutes of play last night at the Kate Walton field house as Arlington High School nipped luckless Kingston, 66-65, in an ulcerated contest before one of the smallest crowds of the year.

The few spectators who came to the contest saw one of the best of the season at the spacious field house. SaVino, a 5-5 bundle of dynamite, and Jerry Anderson, one of the best all-around players seen in the area, led the visitors in a down to the wire finish. The pair of AHS stars offset a tremendous team performance by the five starting Kingston players.

Walt Harder, John Kelly, Hobie Armstrong, Harry Pratt and Charley Williams produced one of their finest efforts and they all reached double figures in scoring as the locals tried to snap the jinx which has seen them lose three games this season by one point, one by two points and a pair by six points.

Tied Five Times

Anderson had a phenominal first half and his clutch point-making and rebounding kept Arlington ahead most of the first two periods. The clubs were tied on five different occasions in the first quarter before a foul shot by Anderson sent Arlington ahead, 11-10.

Fritz Jordan's hustling cagers led by as many as ten points in the second period. However, just before the end of the stanza, the KHS team got hot hands and finally, a layup and foul shot by Armstrong made the scoreboard read, 32-29, in favor of Arlington at halftime.

Anderson and SaVino did everything for the visitors in the third quarter. They had all 16 of the points with Mickey getting 10 of them after a poor first half. Meanwhile, Kelly threw in four straight jump shots to put his teammates in the game. Kingston went ahead, 48-42 with 1:55 left to play in the quarter as Pratt cut under for a layup.

SaVino sliced it to four points with a basket. After Kelly hit for KHS Mighty Mickey made a long set shot and then he swished a pair of foul shots to make it a 50-48 contest at the buzzer.

Dramatic Finish

The final eight minutes will be long remembered. After Kelly made a driving layup for Kingston, Alex Credle sank two free throws for the visitors to keep them within two points. Kelly then hit with a jumper and SaVino made a foul to make the score, 54-51, in favor of the home side with six minutes to play.

Anderson then followed with a deuce and SaVino put his club ahead with a driving layup and a pair of foul shots. After Kelly made a foul for KHS, Harder followed with a jumper to knot the score, 57-57, with 2:30 left in the thriller.

Mr. SaVino, who made 11 straight free throws in the contest, calmly sank two more before Armstrong hit with a tap for Kingston to knot the count once again. That was the last time the locals were even.

Eddie Cavo made a long one hander for AHS and then Anderson dribbled the length of the court for a basket. After Williams hit with a layup for the losers, Mike Moyer sank a free throw to zoom Arlington ahead, 64-61, with 35 seconds to go.

However, the locals weren't through yet. Harder converted two free tosses with 16 seconds to play to keep Kingston one point behind, 64-63.

Plug Comes Out

At this point, the plug in the clock became loose and after a consultation by timekeeper Andrew Murphy and the officials, the official timepiece was moved to the seven second mark. SaVino had been fouled on the play and he calmly made both shots to all but win the contest. Pratt made an unmolested basket with two seconds left.

Arlington was outscored, 27-21, from the floor. But Fritz Jordan's boys converted 24 of 33 foul shots. Kingston made 11 for 15, but it wasn't enough.

Anderson played a brilliant game for the winners and tied Savino for high point honors with 25. Harder and Kelly had 15 each for the home side. Armstrong added 13, Williams 12 and Pratt 10. Hobie was a bearcat on both backboards and did his best job of the year.

The win closed the season for the Dutchess County team. Arlington won 13 of 18, losing once to Kingston and twice to Wappingers Falls and Pine Plains. Kingston is now 10-7 for the season with the finals scheduled Friday night against Liberty.

Top Detroit Team Set for Tourney

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The first of the nation's top-rated quintets will take a crack at the 56th American Bowling Congress team championship tonight.

The Pfeiffers of Detroit will be aiming at their fourth ABC title since 1952 when they take to the St. Louis Armory lanes in the 12th day of this 72-day show. The Pfeiffers recently finished third in the national team championship at Detroit behind the winning Budweisers and runnerup Falstaffs, both of St. Louis.

Another strong team on today's schedule is Bowlerama Lanes, also of Detroit. The only change in the standings of the tournament Tuesday came as Fraser Trophies of Kansas City, Mo., moved into ninth place in the open team division with 2931.

Town Ulster League To Honor Champions

Pastrano Bows To Joe Erskine In London Bout

LONDON (AP) — Welshman Joe Erskine may be considered no more than third best among Britain's heavyweights, but he's No. 1 to America's Willie Pastrano.

"Erskine is sadly underrated," Pastrano said today as the aftermath to his loss to the 25-year-old Welsh fighter in Tuesday night's 10-rounder at Wembley Stadium.

"He is undoubtedly the finest you have," said Willie. "He is a very difficult man to beat."

Pastrano hasn't fought Henry Cooper, the British champion, but he was stopped on cuts in five rounds by Brian London, the second-ranking Englishman, in his first fight here five months ago.

"There's hardly any comparison," said Willie, who now stands to lose his rating as the sixth contender to world champion Floyd Patterson's title.

Neither Pastrano nor trainer Angelo Dundee had any alibis over the loss to Erskine.

Knicks Nearing Cage Playoffs In NBA Race

The New York Knickerbockers, who were given about a 50-50 chance of gaining the National Basketball Assn. playoffs in preseason estimates, today were well on their way toward clinching second place in the Eastern Division.

The Knicks Tuesday night beat the Boston Celtics 134-122 in the windup of a Madison Square Garden doubleheader after the Syracuse Nats were upset by the Cincinnati Royals 113 - 109 in the opener.

Now, any combination of New York victories or Syracuse defeats totalling three will give the Knickerbockers second place.

Richie Guerin scored 37 points for the Knickerbockers. Bob Cousy was high for the Celtics with 33.

Syracuse made up a 17 point deficit, deadlocking the game at 88-all early in the fourth quarter after trailing by 40-23 in the first minute of the second period. Jack Twyman wound up with 29 points. George Yardley was the Nats' top man with 26.

Bothersome Goats

LANCASTER, Wis. (AP) — Three years ago four nanny goats got loose in Wyalusing State Park. A year later a billy goat joined them. Foul Shooting Decides Contest At Kate Walton

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Iceman Mickey SaVino made seven straight clutch free throws in the final six minutes of play last night at the Kate Walton field house as Arlington High School nipped luckless Kingston, 66-65, in an ulcerated contest before one of the smallest crowds of the year.

The few spectators who came to the contest saw one of the best of the season at the spacious field house. SaVino, a 5-5 bundle of dynamite, and Jerry Anderson, one of the best all-around players seen in the area, led the visitors in a down to the wire finish. The pair of AHS stars offset a tremendous team performance by the five starting Kingston players.

Walt Harder, John Kelly, Hobie Armstrong, Harry Pratt and Charley Williams produced one of their finest efforts and they all reached double figures in scoring as the locals tried to snap the jinx which has seen them lose three games this season by one point, one by two points and a pair by six points.

Tied Five Times

Anderson had a phenominal first half and his clutch pointmaking and rebounding kept Arlington ahead most of the first two periods. The clubs were tied on five different occasions in the first quarter before a foul shot by Anderson sent Arlington ahead, 11-10.

Fritz Jordan's hustling cagers led by as many as ten points in the second period. However, just before the end of the stanza, the KHS team got hot hands and finally, a layup and foul shot by Armstrong made the scoreboard read, 32-29, in favor of Arlington at halftime.

Anderson and SaVino did everything for the visitors in the third quarter. They had all 16 of the points with Mickey getting 10 of them after a poor first half. Meanwhile, Kelly threw in four straight jump shots to put his teammates in the game. Kingston went ahead, 48-42, with 1:55 left to play in the quarter as Pratt cut under for a layup.

SaVino sliced it to four points with a basket. After Kelly hit for KHS Mighty Mickey made a long set shot and then he swished a pair of foul shots to make it a 50-48 contest at the buzzer.

Dramatic Finish

The final eight minutes will be long remembered. After Kelly made a driving layup for Kingston, Alex Credle sank two free throws for the visitors to keep them within two points. Kelly then hit with a jumper and SaVino made a foul to make the score, 54-51, in favor of the home side with six minutes to play.

Anderson then followed with a deuce and SaVino put his club ahead with a driving layup and a pair of foul shots. After Kelly made a foul for KHS, Harder followed with a jumper to knot the score, 57-57, with 2:30 left in the thriller.

Mr. SaVino, who made 11 straight free throws in the contest, calmly sank two more before Armstrong hit with a tap for Kingston to knot the count once again. That was the last time the locals were even.

Eddie Cavo made a long one hander for AHS and then Anderson dribbled the length of the court for a basket. After Williams hit with a layup for the losers, Mike Moyer sank a free throw to zoom Arlington ahead, 64-61, with 35 seconds to go.

However, the locals weren't through yet. Harder converted two free tosses with 16 seconds to play to keep Kingston one point behind, 64-63.

Plug Comes Out

At this point, the plug in the clock became loose and after a consultation by timekeeper Andrew Murphy and the officials, the official timepiece was moved to the seven second mark. SaVino had been fouled on the play and he calmly made both shots to all but win the contest. Pratt made an unmolested basket with two seconds left.

Arlington was outscored, 27-21, from the floor. But Fritz Jordan's boys converted 24 of 33 foul shots. Kingston made 11 for 15, but it wasn't enough.

Anderson played a brilliant game for the winners and tied Savino for high point honors with 25. Harder and Kelly had 15 each for the home side. Armstrong added 13, Williams 12 and Pratt 10. Hobie was a bearcat on both backboards and did his best job of the year.

The win closed the season for the Dutchess County team. Arlington won 13 of 18, losing once to Kingston and twice to Wappingers Falls and Pine Plains. Kingston is now 10-7 for the season with the finale scheduled Friday night against Liberty.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The first of the nation's top-rated quintets will take a crack at the 56th American Bowling Congress team championship tonight.

The Pfeiffers of Detroit will be aiming at their fourth ABC title since 1952 when they take to the St. Louis Armory lanes in the 12th day of this 72-day show. The Pfeiffers recently finished third in the national team championship at Detroit behind the winning Budweisers and runnerup Falstaffs, both of St. Louis.

Another strong team on today's schedule is Bowlerama Lanes, also of Detroit. The only change in the standings of the tournament Tuesday came as Fraser Trophies of Kansas City, Mo., moved into ninth place in the open team division with 2931.

Pastrano Bows To Joe Erskine In London Bout

LONDON (AP) — Welshman Joe Erskine may be considered no more than third best among Britain's heavyweights, but he's No. 1 to America's Willie Pastrano.

"Erskine is sadly underrated," Pastrano said today as the aftermath to his loss to the 25-year-old Welsh fighter in Tuesday night's 10-rounder at Wembley Stadium.

"He is undoubtedly the finest you have," said Willie. "He is a very difficult man to beat."

Pastrano hasn't fought Henry Cooper, the British champion, but he was stopped on cuts in five rounds by Brian London, the second-ranking Englishman, in his first fight here five months ago.

"There's hardly any comparison," said Willie, who now stands to lose his rating as the sixth contender to world champion Floyd Patterson's title.

Neither Pastrano nor trainer Angelo Dundee had any alibis over the loss to Erskine.

Bob Wolven Gets 20 Points For Sawyers

Red Hook coach Lindy Northam had his cagers play a semi-possession at Saugerties yesterday but the Sawyers rose to the occasion and dumped the visitors, 46-41, for their 11th win in 16 starts.

The Hookers shot only when they were within a few feet of the basket. Saugerties, a running club all season, played the same way as Red Hook and shot a respectable 44 per cent from the floor. In fact ,the Sawyers took only a smattering of shots in the final period as they sat on a seven point lead. The Hookers did not get any closer than the final five points.

While Barry Wolven was hampered by personal fouls (he had four at halftime), Bob W. did some nifty shooting for the Sawyers and canned 19 points in a good show. Five other players hit the scoring column for Bud Smith's cagers. Tony Barano, the Red Hook ace, had 20 points for the losers.

Saugerties led at the quarters, 18-9, 26-24 and 40-33.

Accord Five Tightens Lead With 48-46 Win Over 35 Club

Accord boosted its YMCA "B" League lead to a game and a half with a 48-46 squeaker over second-place 35 Club on the Y hardwoods.

Fred Wustrau's deuce with five seconds remaining nailed down an Accord victory that seemed a cinch at the end of three quarters when they led 40-28.

In other games, the resurgent Texaco Chiefs shattered Royal Grills hopes, 56-49, for their fourth straight victory. Kerhonkson upset Minute Car Wash, 48-45.

Accord led the 35 Club, 45-42, with two minutes remaining. Bob Bondar hit with a one hander from the foul line and Jim Binney made a free throw to cut the Accord lead to 46-44 at the 26-second mark. Bondar hit again to create a 46-46 tie only to have Fred Wustrau can a hook shot to cinch the game in the last five seconds.

Werner Wustrau led Accord with 15 points, with Winsor and Fred Wustrau potting 11 each. Bob Bondar paced 35 Club with 20.

Grill Chances Dimmed

Tom Flemming and George Uhl shared a 34-point spree to spark the Texaco win. Pat Sangaline led the Grills with 13.

Kerhonkson held off a late thrust by Mintue Car Wash to hand the Washers their fourth loss of the season. Mel Williams scored 20 points for Car Wash. P. Anderson hit 15 and Van Rennselaer had 14 for the winners.

Bob Wolven Gets 20 Points For Sawyers

Red Hook coach Lindy Northam had his cagers play a semi-possession at Saugerties yesterday but the Sawyers rose to the occasion and dumped the visitors, 46-41, for their 11th win in 16 starts.

The Hookers shot only when they were within a few feet of the basket. Saugerties, a running club all season, played the same way as Red Hook and shot a respectable 44 per cent from the floor. In fact ,the Sawyers took only a smattering of shots in the final period as they sat on a seven point lead. The Hookers did not get any closer than the final five points.

While Barry Wolven was hampered by personal fouls (he had four at halftime), Bob W. did some nifty shooting for the Sawyers and canned 19 points in a good show. Five other players hit the scoring column for Bud Smith's cagers. Tony Barano, the Red Hook ace, had 20 points for the losers.

Saugerties led at the quarters, 18-9, 26-24 and 40-33.

At Roosevelt Today

The team travels to Roosevelt this afternoon for a crucial Dutchess County Scholastic league clash with the Presidents. Saugerties has two league contests left and has to win both of them to finish in a first place tie in the circuit.

Kingston JV's Beaten, 72-63

Arlington High School's jayvee team pushed back a late Kingston rally and beat the Maroon juniors, 72-63, in a high scoring fracas at the Kate Walton field house last night.

The visitors took the lead in the second quarter and held it until the end. However, midway in the fourth period, Kingston came within five points, 60-55. Then Arlington made six quick points and was home free.

Mike Ferraro played his best game of the season for Bill Hurley's depleted cagers as he scored 25 points. Al Brown had 13 and John Falvey 11. Bill McRitchie made 25 markers and John Luik [illegible] for the winners.

Accord Five Tightens Lead With 48-46 Win Over 35 Club

Accord boosted its YMCA "B" League lead to a game and a half with a 48-46 squeaker over second-place 35 Club on the Y hardwoods.

Fred Wustrau's deuce with five seconds remaining nailed down an Accord victory that seemed a cinch at the end of three quarters when they led 40-28.

In other games, the resurgent Texaco Chiefs shattered Royal Grills hopes, 56-49, for their fourth straight victory. Kerhonkson upset Minute Car Wash, 48-45.

Accord led the 35 Club, 45-42, with two minutes remaining. Bob Bondar hit with a one hander from the foul line and Jim Binney made a free throw to cut the Accord lead to 46-44 at the 26-second mark. Bondar hit again to create a 46-46 tie only to have Fred Wustrau can a hook shot to cinch the game in the last five seconds.

Werner Wustrau led Accord with 15 points, with Winsor and Fred Wustrau potting 11 each. Bob Bondar paced 35 Club with 20.

Grill Chances Dimmed

Texaco Chiefs have racked up four straight wins, following a 7-game losing skein and their 56-49 triumph put a large damper on Royal Grill pennant hopes.

Tom Flemming and George Uhl shared a 34-point spree to spark the Texaco win. Pat Sangaline led the Grills with 13.

Kerhonkson held off a late thrust by Mintue Car Wash to hand the Washers their fourth loss of the season. Mel Williams scored 20 points for Car Wash. P. Anderson hit 15 and Van Rennselaer had 14 for the winners.

Sixth Straight Win

MJM Junior Five Routs Rondout Valley, 71-38

Nobody is even coming close to the MJM School's Junior basketball squad these days.

Coach Ronnie Cole's Maroon greats-of-the-future overwhelmed Rondout Valley Juniors, 71-38, on the local hardwoods yesterday for their sixth straight victory.

Fourteen players crashed the boxscore for the MJM team and all but three entered the scoring column. Tom Fiore and Jack Lewis potted 12 each and Thomas hit 10.

Barnuh led Rondout with 15 markers and Johnen hit 13 in a contest that was never a contest. Not after the MJM cagers galloped to a 22-2 lead in the first quarter.

Lady of the Lourdes School of Poughkeepsie is the next opponent at the MJM gym Thursday.

Round About Way of Getting There

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

LAKE WORTH, Fla. — (NEA) — Herb Score is a big and handsome strawberry blonde with a crew cut and pale blue eyes. Three years ago he threw a baseball faster and with more on it than any other pitcher in the business.

But except for 1955 and '56, when Score established himself as the mapor leagues' strikeout king, hard luck has trailed the Cleveland left-hander like a faithful hound. In 1957 a line drive from Gil McDougald's bat caught him squarely in the eye. He was lucky to see again. It continued tailing him last year, when as early as April 30 in Washington, he tore a tendon in his pitching elbow. He was of little or no use the rest of the way, and finally Joe Gordon, the new manager, decided it was best he rest until this spring.

I watched Score, now only 25, warming up with Larry Brown, brother of Dick, the Indians' catcher who caught Herb on this same Lake Worth High School Field. This was just before the pitcher hopped a plane for the Tribe's training base in Tucson. Mayo Smith, the Reds' new manager, also lives here and dropped in to suggest that Score might be throwing too hard at this stage.

"The greater the pitcher the more delicate the mechanism," Smith warned.

WHILE HE SAYS THE ELBOW feels fine, there is no question about Score being worried. Yet, who wouldn't be with a live arm meaning so much?

"I've been throwing three weeks, since I came down from Cleveland," he explained. "Things seem all right but I haven't really poured it on yet."

Lines seemed to form in the young man's face as he recalled the nightmare of being hurt again last April. Sad experience has taught him to know what it means to himself and the club.

Score, the $60,000 bonus beauty who was sought by 15 major league clubs while still in high school, had been in organized ball only a little more than a year when in August of 1953 he suffered a shoulder separation on the precious pitching side. He fell while chasing a fungo in the outfield. He had struck out 100 in 99 innings for Reading of the Eastern League while trying to master control.

In 1954, Score established an all-time American Association record by fanning 330 in 250 innings while winning 22 for Indianapolis. Recalling this feat the next spring, Birdie Tebbetts, desperately in need of some of the same, threatened to assign Ted Kluszewski as a one-man wrecking crew to crack up the Cincinnati pitching shoulders.

SCORE HAD IT ALL NOW, was off and firing, winning 16 for the Indians in 1955, 20 in '56 and leading the league in strikeouts on both trips.

Only misfortune could beat Score now and it struck again savagely in Cleveland, May 7, 1957, when McDougald's liner struck the kid who was almost too good to be true squarely on the right eye. Score could not pitch again the rest of the season. Indeed, specialists fought to save his sight.

Now Score has a new grave problem—saving his remarkable arm, hurt last April.

"I had shut out the White Sox seven or eight days before in Cleveland," he says. "I had been inactive for that length of time because two games were rained out and there was an off day. The long time between starts might have had something to do with it.

"I could feel that something was wrong during the game, and there was a definite twinge in the seventh or eighth inning. We were tied with Washington, 2-2, in the ninth and a man was on first. I threw two pitches which didn't even reach the plate. I knew I had had it.

"I relieved five weeks later, again in Washington. I got the last guy to pop up, but the elbow hurt again. I went to Dr. George Bennett at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore. He advised me to rest a month. After that I relieved a few times, but it was not in shape and was wild. I was throwing hard but the ball wasn't going fast."

THAT IS WHAT IS on Score's mind. He was throwing hard but the ball wasn't going fast. Anything along that line is permanently disastrous if it continues.

Score could be the difference between success or failure for the Cleveland club.

Three managers have left the Indians since Herb started throwing fireballs for them in 1955—Al Lopez, Kirby Farrell and Bobby Bragan. A physically able Score easily might have saved the latter two, which is why Joe Gordon, the incumbent, is as concerned as Score.

I suggested that Herb had better get his arm in shape before Cleveland runs out of managers.

"Or I run out of contracts," he said. Dead serious, too.

Two Laboratory Men Killed In Explosion

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP)—Two employes of the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory were killed in an explosion Tuesday.

Laboratory officials said no radioactive material or radiation were involved.

Victims were Leo G. Guerin, 35, Santa Cruz, N.M., and Raymond A. Means, 31, Los Alamos.

A spokesman said the accident took place during normal machining of a chemical explosive used to study the phenomena of shock waves. He said the explosive had been handled here several years without accident.

Cases Are Heard In County Court

Seven criminal matters were disposed of in County Court Tuesday before County Judge Louis G. Bruhn, bringing the number of criminal cases disposed of at this term by District Attorney Raymond J. Mino to over 40.

Russell R. Mead, alias Russell Skeeles, Burgess Hamilton and Paul George Schillis, who was sentenced to Clinton Prison in February 1958 as a second offender for a term of from 3½ to 7 years under a grand larceny, second degree, and burglary, second degree charge, had his sentence reduced to 1 to 2 years. It developed a conflict with the law in Michigan, which had been considered a felony at the time of the prior sentence, should not have been considered and he was returned here from Clinton State Prison for re-sentence.

Mead was indicted for a burglary at the Randes Hotel, town of Wawarsing, on July 19, 1957, when $90 in cash was taken together with $150 worth of Ellenville Festival tickets. After being sentenced to prison, Mead sought a re-hearing on the grounds the Michigan conflict would not have constituted a felony in this state. Judge Bruhn allowed credit on the new sentence for the time already served in prison.

Clayton K. Oldenburg, hailed into court as a probation violator, had his probation continued on condition he continue to make restitution as previously directed. James Abernethy, his attorney, asked that another chance be given the defendant. It was granted.

John McCauley, also charged with violation of probation, had his probation continued on his promise to continue to make restitution. Francis J. Vogt appeared for McCauley. Probation Officer Charles E. Schultz recommended continuation of probation.

Duane Hastings Bellows, charged along with two others with possession of burglary tools, had the indictment dismissed, the same action taken in the other two cases. Bellows is now in Napanoch Institution.

Frederick Rich, under indictment for rape, also had the charge dismissed on motion of his counsel, Charles Koskie of Newburgh.

Francis C. Latvia, charged with grand larceny, second degree, for the alleged taking of a quantity of building material, was fined $100 which was paid and received a year in jail, the jail sentence being suspended. He was placed on probation for the maximum period. Charles Saccoman appeared for Latvia.

Charles Milora, charged with a firearm violation, paid a $50 fine. He was charged with violation of Section 1897, Sub. 4. Charles Saccoman appeared for defendant.

Hollander Urges State Ballot on Rocky's Spending

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A proposal that the people vote on Republican Gov. Rockefeller's spending program. . . fresh demands for higher social benefits. . .plans for boosts in teachers' pay.

All these started a trip to nowhere Tuesday.

They were advanced at a Democratic forum where they won the close attention of the Legislature's minority leaders, who have the sympathy but not the votes.

100 at Forum

Republicans control both houses by wide margins and all their committees. The GOP margin is 34-24 in the Senate and 92-58 in the Assembly.

About 40 speakers and 100 spectators were on hand for the forum sponsored by the Democratic lawmakers and State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast. Not a Republican set foot in the door.

Most of the proposals were well-played records.

But labor leader Louis Hollander came up with a fresh approach to the controversy over Rockefeller's $2,041,000,000 spending program and the 277 million in new taxes to finance it.

He suggested that the plan should be submitted to the voters. "Resistance is terrific" against Rockefeller's plan to raise income taxes, particularly through cuts in exemptions, Hollander said.

Would Use Reserves

Hollander, chairman of the state AFL-CIO's executive council, suggested taxing "the billions of dollars that banks hold in reserve," as an alternative.

While even Republican leaders are intent on cutting Rockefeller's record budget, they are not apt to push either of Hollander's ideas.

Other speakers advocated various changes in state policies or laws—on subjects ranging from day-care centers to disability benefits.

One expected off-key note was not sounded. Before the forum, two Democratic state committeemen from Manhattan charged that the state committee was run "strictly from the top down."

James Heilbrun and Mrs. Barbara Palmore maintained, in a prepared statement, that the rank-and-file should have more say on the committee.

But they did not advance such views at the forum. All was harmony.

Lenten Schedule Listed by Church Of Kerhonkson

The Federated Church of Kerhonkson will hold its first Lenten service Friday 8 p. m. The speaker will be the Rev. Harold Galloway, minister of the Napanoch Methodist Church.

Other Lenten services scheduled are:

March 6, 8 p. m., union services Kerhonkson Federated Church, the Rev. George Wood of Accord, speaker; March 13, 8 p. m. union service, Accord Methodist Church; March 20, 8 p. m. union service, Accord Reformed Church; March 27, 8 p. m., Kerhonkson Federated Church, Good Friday Communion service; March 22, Palm Sunday, Baptism and reception of members.

Gets Five Years

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A former M-G-M Studio commisary worker must serve five years in prison for trying to extort $100,000 from Sol Siegel, studio vice president.

Herbert Strauch, 34, pleaded guilty. He was arrested while talking to Siegel Jan. 16 from a telephone booth near the studio.

"It's just a joke; I wouldn't harm anybody," Strauch said at his arraignment.

FBI agents said Strauch threatened Siegel's life in a letter.

Round About Way of Getting There

LAKE WORTH, Fla. — (NEA) — Herb Score is a big and handsome strawberry blonde with a crew cut and pale blue eyes. Three years ago he threw a baseball faster and with more on it than any other pitcher in the business.

But except for 1955 and '56, when Score established himself as the mapor leagues' strikeout king, hard luck has trailed the Cleveland left-hander like a faithful hound. In 1957 a line drive from Gil McDougald's bat caught him squarely in the eye. He was lucky to see again. It continued tailing him last year, when as early as April 30 in Washington, he tore a tendon in his pitching elbow. He was of little or no use the rest of the way, and finally Joe Gordon, the new manager, decided it was best he rest until this spring.

I watched Score, now only 25, warming up with Larry Brown, brother of Dick, the Indians' catcher who caught Herb on this same Lake Worth High School Field. This was just before the pitcher hopped a plane for the Tribe's training base in Tucson. Mayo Smith, the Reds' new manager, also lives here and dropped in to suggest that Score might be throwing too hard at this stage.

"The greater the pitcher the more delicate the mechanism," Smith warned.

WHILE HE SAYS THE ELBOW feels fine, there is no question about Score being worried. Yet, who wouldn't be with a live arm meaning so much?

"I've been throwing three weeks, since I came down from Cleveland," he explained. "Things seem all right but I haven't really poured it on yet."

Lines seemed to form in the young man's face as he recalled the nightmare of being hurt again last April. Sad experience has taught him to know what it means to himself and the club.

Score, the $60,000 bonus beauty who was sought by 15 major league clubs while still in high school, had been in organized ball only a little more than a year when in August of 1953 he suffered a shoulder separation on the precious pitching side. He fell while chasing a fungo in the outfield. He had struck out 100 in 99 innings for Reading of the Eastern League while trying to master control.

In 1954, Score established an all-time American Association record by fanning 330 in 250 innings while winning 22 for Indianapolis. Recalling this feat the next spring, Birdie Tebbetts, desperately in need of some of the same, threatened to assign Ted Kluszewski as a one-man wrecking crew to crack up the Cincinnati pitching shoulders.

SCORE HAD IT ALL NOW, was off and firing, winning 16 for the Indians in 1955, 20 in '56 and leading the league in strikeouts on both trips.

Only misfortune could beat Score now and it struck again savagely in Cleveland, May 7, 1957, when McDougald's liner struck the kid who was almost too good to be true squarely on the right eye. Score could not pitch again the rest of the season. Indeed, specialists fought to save his sight.

Now Score has a new grave problem—saving his remarkable arm, hurt last April.

"I had shut out the White Sox seven or eight days before in Cleveland," he says. "I had been inactive for that length of time because two games were rained out and there was an off day. The long time between starts might have had something to do with it.

"I could feel that something was wrong during the game, and there was a definite twinge in the seventh or eighth inning. We were tied with Washington, 2-2, in the ninth and a man was on first. I threw two pitches which didn't even reach the plate. I knew I had had it.

"I relieved five weeks later, again in Washington. I got the last guy to pop up, but the elbow hurt again. I went to Dr. George Bennett at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore. He advised me to rest a month. After that I relieved a few times, but it was not in shape and was wild. I was throwing hard but the ball wasn't going fast."

THAT IS WHAT IS on Score's mind. He was throwing hard but the ball wasn't going fast. Anything along that line is permanently disastrous if it continues.

Score could be the difference between success or failure for the Cleveland club.

Three managers have left the Indians since Herb started throwing fireballs for them in 1955—Al Lopez, Kirby Farrell and Bobby Bragan. A physically able Score easily might have saved the latter two, which is why Joe Gordon, the incumbent, is as concerned as Score.

I suggested that Herb had better get his arm in shape before Cleveland runs out of managers.

"Or I run out of contracts," he said. Dead serious, too.

Two Laboratory Men Killed In Explosion

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP)—Two employes of the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory were killed in an explosion Tuesday.

Laboratory officials said no radioactive material or radiation were involved.

Victims were Leo G. Guerin, 35, Santa Cruz, N.M., and Raymond A. Means, 31, Los Alamos.

A spokesman said the accident took place during normal machining of a chemical explosive used to study the phenomena of shock waves. He said the explosive had been handled here several years without accident.

Cases Are Heard In County Court

Seven criminal matters were disposed of in County Court Tuesday before County Judge Louis G. Bruhn, bringing the number of criminal cases disposed of at this term by District Attorney Raymond J. Mino to over 40.

Russell R. Mead, alias Russell Skeeles, Burgess Hamilton and Paul George Schillis, who was sentenced to Clinton Prison in February 1958 as a second offender for a term of from 3½ to 7 years under a grand larceny, second degree, and burglary, second degree charge, had his sentence reduced to 1 to 2 years. It developed a conflict with the law in Michigan, which had been considered a felony at the time of the prior sentence, should not have been considered and he was returned here from Clinton State Prison for re-sentence.

Mead was indicted for a burglary at the Randes Hotel, town of Wawarsing, on July 19, 1957, when $90 in cash was taken together with $150 worth of Ellenville Festival tickets. After being sentenced to prison, Mead sought a re-hearing on the grounds the Michigan conflict would not have constituted a felony in this state. Judge Bruhn allowed credit on the new sentence for the time already served in prison.

Clayton K. Oldenburg, hailed into court as a probation violator, had his probation continued on condition he continue to make restitution as previously directed. James Abernethy, his attorney, asked that another chance be given the defendant. It was granted.

John McCauley, also charged with violation of probation, had his probation continued on his promise to continue to make restitution. Francis J. Vogt appeared for McCauley. Probation Officer Charles E. Schultz recommended continuation of probation.

Duane Hastings Bellows, charged along with two others with possession of burglary tools, had the indictment dismissed, the same action taken in the other two cases. Bellows is now in Napanoch Institution.

Frederick Rich, under indictment for rape, also had the charge dismissed on motion of his counsel, Charles Koskie of Newburgh.

Francis C. Latvia, charged with grand larceny, second degree, for the alleged taking of a quantity of building material, was fined $100 which was paid and received a year in jail, the jail sentence being suspended. He was placed on probation for the maximum period. Charles Saccoman appeared for Latvia.

Charles Milora, charged with a firearm violation, paid a $50 fine. He was charged with violation of Section 1897, Sub. 4. Charles Saccoman appeared for defendant.

Hollander Urges State Ballot on Rocky's Spending

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A proposal that the people vote on Republican Gov. Rockefeller's spending program. . . fresh demands for higher social benefits. . .plans for boosts in teachers' pay.

All these started a trip to nowhere Tuesday.

They were advanced at a Democratic forum where they won the close attention of the Legislature's minority leaders, who have the sympathy but not the votes.

100 at Forum

Republicans control both houses by wide margins and all their committees. The GOP margin is 34-24 in the Senate and 92-58 in the Assembly.

About 40 speakers and 100 spectators were on hand for the forum sponsored by the Democratic lawmakers and State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast. Not a Republican set foot in the door.

Most of the proposals were wellplayed records.

But labor leader Louis Hollander came up with a fresh approach to the controversy over Rockefeller's $2,041,000,000 spending program and the 277 million in new taxes to finance it.

He suggested that the plan should be submitted to the voters. "Resistance is terrific" against Rockefeller's plan to raise income taxes, particularly through cuts in exemptions, Hollander said.

Would Use Reserves

Hollander, chairman of the state AFL-CIO's executive council, suggested taxing "the billions of dollars that banks hold in reserve," as an alternative.

While even Republican leaders are intent on cutting Rockefeller's record budget, they are not apt to push either of Hollander's ideas.

Other speakers advocated various changes in state policies or laws—on subjects ranging from day-care centers to disability benefits.

One expected off-key note was not sounded. Before the forum, two Democratic state committeemen from Manhattan charged that the state committee was run "strictly from the top down."

James Heilbrun and Mrs. Barbara Palmore maintained, in a prepared statement, that the rank-and-file should have more say on the committee.

But they did not advance such views at the forum. All was harmony.

Lenten Schedule Listed by Church Of Kerhonkson

The Federated Church of Kerhonkson will hold its first Lenten service Friday 8 p. m. The speaker will be the Rev. Harold Galloway, minister of the Napanoch Methodist Church.

Other Lenten services scheduled are:

March 6, 8 p. m., union services Kerhonkson Federated Church, the Rev. George Wood of Accord, speaker; March 13, 8 p. m. union service, Accord Methodist Church; March 20, 8 p. m. union service, Accord Reformed Church; March 27, 8 p. m., Kerhonkson Federated Church, Good Friday Communion service; March 22, Palm Sunday, Baptism and reception of members.

Gets Five Years

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A former M-G-M Studio commisary worker must serve five years in prison for trying to extort $100,000 from Sol Siegel, studio vice president.

Herbert Strauch, 34, pleaded guilty. He was arrested while talking to Siegel Jan. 16 from a telephone booth near the studio.

"It's just a joke; I wouldn't harm anybody," Strauch said at his arraignment.

FBI agents said Strauch threatened Siegel's life in a letter.

Safety Is Theme Of Lions Speaker

Half the people in this audience will be injured in automobile accidents during their lifetime, Craig Thorn Jr., president of the Insurance Federation of New York State, told the Kingston Lions Club at its regular Tuesday luncheon meeting in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Korean War Safer

Thorn, who resides in Hudson where he heads his own insurance company, said that during the 20 minutes or so of his talk one person would be killed in vehicular accidents in the United States and 36 injured. The Korean Conflict was statistically safer than driving on the highway, he told the club.

In a typical year in the United States 38,000 people are killed, 1,500,000 injured, with property damage estimated at $4,500,000,000, he said.

In New York State in a typical year 2,000 will be killed, 200,000 injured, with property loss estimated at $200,000,000.

Economic Loss Heavy

He told the club that the national economic loss annually amounts to some 35 billion dollars.

Thorn said almost all accidents are unnecessary, could be avoided, and that each individual driver should examine his own personal driving habits.

Don't Rely on Others

You shouldn't rely on other drivers, he cautioned. They too have their driving faults. He pointed out that driving is a full-time job and no one should be indifferent, that it is important to know the laws and cooperate with law enforcement officials. This is particularly important with the ever-increasing number of automobiles on the highways. The number will increase some 20 million within the next decade, he stated.

He urged these four points:

1. Correct personal driving faults.
2. Seek improved traffic laws and enforcement.
3. Use and be guided by accident slogans.
4. Remember that driving is is privilege—not a right.

Maple Paddle Is Right Answer at Memphis School

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The abortive teen-age rebellion at Bartlett High will soon be history, put down by a polished maple paddle swung by Principal John Barnes.

Three more young pupils are on the waiting list for seven whacks. Fourteen have felt the sting thus far. Judge Willard Dixon heartily approves.

The judge, at a conference with seven angry parents in his office Tuesday, rejected demands for assault warrants against Barnes.

Two of the mothers came armed with photographs of their sons' smarting bottoms. The judge, after expert appraisal, said he had acquired worse bottoms himself for less.

The boys needed the whacking, he ruled. He cited a State Supreme Court ruling that teachers have, to a reasonable degree, the disciplinary rights of parents while the child is in their care.

Several of the boys, 15 to 17 and wearing injured expressions, stood in a corner during the conference.

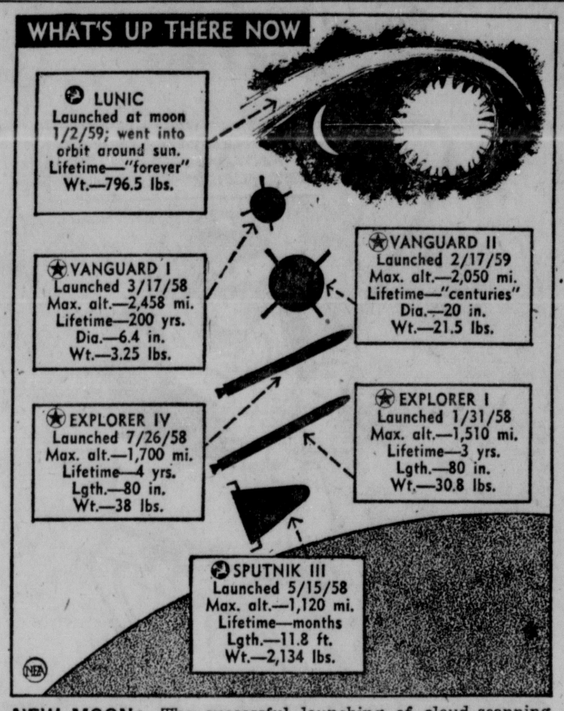

Barnes said it all started when he removed a soft drink machine from the school cafeteria because too many lead slugs were turning up in the coin box.

In retaliation, about 20 boys tried to organize a cafeteria boycott. Those caught had the choice of taking seven whacks from the paddle or taking the matter up with their parents.

Campanella Boy Saddens Father By Delinquency

NEW YORK (AP)—The 15-year-old son of Roy Campanella, former baseball great, has admitted breaking into a Queens drug store.

David Campanella was arrested a little more than an hour after he was found guilty Tuesday of another juvenile delinquency charge.

Campy Is Shocked

The father, partially paralyzed in an auto accident a year ago, was shocked by the arrest.

"The boy is my boy, he said. "I got to try to help him when he gets messed up. I tried to help as much as I could with juvenile delinquency and here's my boy that jumped off the track."

As David's mother, Mrs. Ruthe Campanella, took the boy home following the second arrest she said: "This is going to break his father's heart."

David, a 10th grader in a private school in Queens, told police he and a friend, George Delmos, 16, broke into the drug store 11 days ago.

Campanella, a Negro, and Delmos, who is white, are accused of looting the till and taking cigarettes and cosmetics.

Acting Little Crazy

The store's proprietor, Daniel Statesman, said $500 was taken. David told police he took $9 and some cigarettes.

"We were acting a little crazy," David said. "I just got mixed up with some crazy kids."

David was booked for juvenile delinquency — specification burglary.

Young Campanella faces arraignment before Domestic Relations Judge Wilfred A. Waltemade who already has found him guilty of juvenile delinquency.

Waltemade convicted the boy following police charges that David and Delmos took part with others in a street fight Monday.

Roy Campanella worked his way from a poor section of Philadelphia to a luxurious ranch house at Glen Cove, on Long Island.

There, sitting in a wheelchair, he said in an interview: "Everything else compared to this is nothing."

When David returned home last night, Campanella said, he told the boy:

Reprimands Boy

"Look, I've scrimped and worked hard for you. Now look at all the shame that you've brought to your mother and me and your brothers and your sister.

"It's a lucky thing for you that I'm in a wheelchair."

The former catcher said he had always been proud of David and that the boy had never given him any trouble before.

"Now I have to ask Dave why. Why? The boy has everything. I don't pick his friends — I leave them up to him — but I invite them here, for weekends, to use the beach, to sing. . . ."

Campanella said he knew the Delmos boy "and I think he's a good boy too. I'm just shocked."

Not Sure of Trip

The Los Angeles Dodgers have hired Campanella as a special coach and he is due to report to the team's spring training camp at Vero Beach, Fla., next week.

"I had planned to take all the kids with me," he said, "but now I don't know what I'm going to do. I don't know whether I'll ever go."

Payment Is Ordered For 50 Cars of Onions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has ruled that Jack H. Kelly of Chicago must pay for 50 cars of onions he contracted to buy in December 1955, from Vincent W. Kosuga of Pine Island, N. Y.

The high tribunal upheld a lower court decision that Kelly's contention the sales agreement violated the antitrust laws was not an adequate defense.

Kosuga sued Kelly in Federal court in Chicago for payment. In contending the sale agreement violated the Sherman Antitrust Act, Kelly alleged that under the agreement no onions were to be delivered on the futures market for the remainder of the season, thus creating a false market condition.

Federal courts in Chicago threw out Kelly's defense and ordered him to pay. The Supreme Court Tuesday affirmed the lower courts.

The amount due was not set out in the high court's ruling.

Stone Ridge Man Wins Jaycees Farmer Contest

Frank Coddington, of Stone Ridge, has been selected winner of the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce contest, "Outstanding Young Farmer for 1958," it was announced today.

Coddington holds a bachelor of science degree from Cornell University in the field of agriculture and operates a 165-acre farm in Stone Ridge.

John Shults, chairman of the Jaycee committee, said that Coddington won the award over eight other outstanding entrants. "Although there were other young farmers in Ulster County under 35 years of age, having larger and more successful farming operations, it was thought, by the judging committee, that Frank's perseverance and hard work in overcoming major obstacles on his way to success, were the outstanding factors in his favor in winning this award."

Frank has developed a herd of registered Holstein cattle with good records of production and stands in the top 15 per cent in Ulster County according to DHIC records.

He has constantly plowed back all earnings into herd and equipment and has increased his net worth many times in a few brief years.

Frank has been very active in the 4-H Dairy Club, and local Grange affairs and was instrumental in helping students in his 4-H group to win many prizes over the last three years in state and national competitions.

"This young man, through hard work and civic pride, will compete for top honors in the Junior Chamber of Commerce New York State competition in March as Ulster County's outstanding example of the new generation of young farmers," Shults said.

Uncle Slashed

Son Is Accused Of Hacking His Mother to Death.

BOSTON (AP)—A woman was hacked to death and her brother was seriously slashed early today.

Police accused the woman's son of cutting the throats of his mother and uncle.

The body of Gertrude McCarthy, 51, a widow, was found in her blood-spattered apartment on Nonquit street, Dorchester.

A witness said he saw Mrs. McCarthy's brother, Edmund P. Walsh, 49, stabbed in two separate attacks on the street outside the apartment.

Walsh's condition at City Hospital was described as critical.

Robert McCarthy, 30, was captured trying to enter the home of a relative in Roxbury.

Police said McCarthy had a blood-stained knife in his possession. They said McCarthy, a Navy veteran, is a former mental patient and for some time has been considered a recluse. He was booked on suspicion of murder.

4 Sites Nearly Ready

Bomarcs to Become Operational in 1959

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bomarc, the guided missile that killed Canada's Arrow jet interceptor program, will become operational this year, the Air Force says.

Four Bomarc sites in a 46-million-dollar construction project in the Northeast are nearing completion. Funds have been made available for three other sites among 10 additional that have been authorized in an additional 121-million-dollar program.

Plan Canadian Bases

Further bases will be built in Canada, to use Canadian-built Bomarcs. Under current planning, Canadian adoption of the Bomarc has resulted in the scrapping of that country's CF105 Arrow jet interceptor.

The Bomarc is a pilotless airplane 47 feet long and 35 inches in diameter, with a wing spread of 18 feet, capable of operating above 68,000 feet and of speeds of 2½ or 3 times the speed of sound.

It can carry a nuclear or conventional warhead.

It weighs about 15,000 pounds, has a range of 200 to 400 miles, and is controlled by the air force SAGE (Semi Automatic Ground Environment) detection and communication system.

SAGE, which maintains a constant alert and operates a coordinated defense against a potential air attack, guides the Bomarc to the area of an interception.

Fired From Kingston

At that point the missile takes over its own guidance, seeks and destroys the enemy target. Bomarcs have been fired and directed successfully from Cape Canaveral, Fla., by SAGE controllers at Kingston, N. Y., 1,500 miles away. In further tests of the missile's flexibility, Bomarcs have been diverted from one target to another in midflight.

The first Bomarc sites into operation will be McGuire Air Force Base, N. J.; Dow AFB, Maine; Otis AFB, Mass.; and Suffolk AFB, N. Y.

Funds have been made available for more sites at Langley AFB, Va., Kinross AFB, Mich., and Duluth Municipal Airport, Minn.

Missile Chief Is Sure Moon Trip To Be 3½ Hours

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — The Army missile program chief sees a spaceship of the future reaching the moon in 3½ hours.

Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris said Tuesday night he is positive the next 10 years will produce something other than the present chemical propulsion used in space exploration.

"The most fantastic of the conceivable propulsion systems, and the only one beyond presently known techniques, involves the production of thrust by the emission of photons, that is, by the emission of light energy," he explained.

Medaris told a Duke University engineering school audience that a photon-powered spaceship "should reach the moon in 3½ hours, the nearer planets in two days and would require only 3½ tons of fuel for the latter journey."

Safety Is Theme Of Lions Speaker

Korean War Safer

Thorn, who resides in Hudson where he heads his own insurance company, said that during the 20 minutes or so of his talk one person would be killed in vehicular accidents in the United States and 36 injured. The Korean Conflict was statistically safer than driving on the highway, he told the club.

In a typical year in the United States 38,000 people are killed, 1,500,000 injured, with property damage estimated at $4,500,000,000, he said.

In New York State in a typical year 2,000 will be killed, 200,000 injured, with property loss estimated at $200,000,000.

Economic Loss Heavy

He told the club that the national economic loss annually amounts to some 35 billion dollars.

Thorn said almost all accidents are unnecessary, could be avoided, and that each individual driver should examine his own personal driving habits.

Don't Rely on Others

You shouldn't rely on other drivers, he cautioned. They too have their driving faults. He pointed out that driving is a full-time job and no one should be indifferent, that it is important to know the laws and cooperate with law enforcement officials. This is particularly important with the ever-increasing number of automobiles on the highways. The number will increase some 20 million within the next decade, he stated.

He urged these four points:

1. Correct personal driving faults.
2. Seek improved traffic laws and enforcement.
3. Use and be guided by accident slogans.
4. Remember that driving is privilege—not a right.

Maple Paddle Is Right Answer at Memphis School

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The abortive teen-age rebellion at Bartlett High will soon be history, put down by a polished maple paddle swung by Principal John Barnes.

Three more young pupils are on the waiting list for seven whacks. Fourteen have felt the sting thus far. Judge Willard Dixon heartily approves.

The judge, at a conference with seven angry parents in his office Tuesday, rejected demands for assault warrants against Barnes.

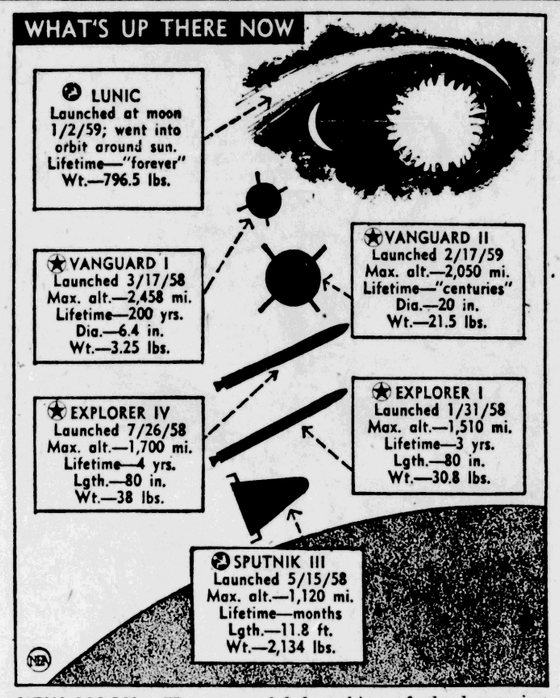

Two of the motners came armed with photographs of their sons' smarting bottoms. The judge, after expert appraisal, said he had acquired worse bottoms himself for less.

The boys needed the whacking, he ruled. He cited a State Supreme Court ruling that teachers have, to a reasonable degree, the disciplinary rights of parents while the child is in their care.

Several of the boys, 15 to 17 and wearing injured expressions, stood in a corner during the conference.

Barnes said it all started when he removed a soft drink machine from the school cafeteria because too many lead slugs were turning up in the coin box.

In retaliation, about 20 boys tried to organize a cafeteria boycott. Those caught had the choice of taking seven whacks from the paddle or taking the matter up with their parents.
